WILSON SUMMONS BOTH HOUSES TO HEAR PROBLEM OF PEACE OR WAR; QUICK VOTE FOR LARGE ARMY AND RESERVES

FUNSTON MAY GO TO MEXICO TO LEAD HUNT

Call Wood to Washington—Will Succeed to San Antonio Post?

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding the department of the east, tonight was summoned to Washington for a conference at the war department. He is expected to arrive from Governor's island some time tomorrow.

For public consumption the department states that Gen. Wood's presence is wanted for his advice on the management of the summer training camps for civilians, in which he has taken an active interest. Washington believes this statement is intended for the calming of any Mexican suspicions which may arise, and Washington has its own suspicions.

FUNSTON WANTS TO LEAD.

Maj. Gen. Funston has long been asking for permission to head the expeditionary forces in Mexico. He wanted to at the start, but his request was denied, partly because it was thought only a brigade would be sent across the border, and partly because there was at the time no major general who could be put in charge of the southern department of the army if Funston left to take the Mexican command.

Latterly Funston's demands have been growing more and more insistent, and his telegrams of today are said to have declared it absolutely necessary to throw many more troops across the Rio Grande and to seize the railoads without further waste of time over "policy" discussions with Carranza.

AMBUSH STIRS FUNSTON.

The ambushing of the American cavalry men by the "coöperating Carrancistas" at Parral has resulted in the most stringent recommendations which Funston has made to Washington.

Maj. Gen. Wood is reputed the best of the major generals at organization work. If Funston is sent over the border there will be needed at the American base a man of consummate ability at organization if the small body of American regulars is to perfect its most efficient service. The fact is significant to most army men.

NEW FORCE SENT PERSHING.

San Antonio, Tex., April 18.—Gen. Funston is sending to Gen. Pershing more than 2,000 additional troops, and there is reason to believe that even more will be placed at the disposal of Gen. Pershing if the campaign against Francisco Villa is continued.

The troops which have been ordered to Pershing's base at Columbus are now on duty along the border. What troops will relieve them and where they

LATEST BULLETINS

LONDON, April 19, 3 a. m.—The parliamentary correspondent of the Chronicle writes of the cabinet crisis over the question of conscription in Great Britain:

"The crisis assumed even a graver character on Tuesday, and last night there were only faint hopes of a settlement being arranged. It is no exaggeration to say that the life of the coalition cabinet is hanging by a thread which may be snapped today (Wednesday).

PARIS, April 19, 6 a. m.—The Verdun operations have resulted in a demand on the American hospital in Paris to form another ambulance section for use on that part of the front. This new section will be composed of twenty-two automopiles fully equipped for Red Cross work, and will be the sixth section thus far organized.

LONDON, April 19, 4:55 a. m.—The appointment of Senator Garin and Gen. Froloff, formerly commander of the Petrograd military district, as Russian undersecretaries for war, is taken here to indicate an acceleration in the campaign against graft in the Russian army, which may have a far reaching influence upon Russia's whole future.

Mexico City, April 18.—Senor Amador, subsecretary of foreign relations, today declared that Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate of the de facto government at Washington, had been instructed to demand the withdrawal of the American troops in Mexico. The belief prevails here that the demands will be granted by President Wilson.

Helped Bury Villa, Aged Couple Tells Obregon, He Says

San Antonio, Tex., April 18.—Evidence that Francisco Villa is dead has been obtained from an aged couple who nursed him and helped bury him, according to a statement issued today by Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Mexican minister of war, who said that he hoped to have "good news" as soon as the searching party, consisting of two Mexicans and one American officer, return from examining the reputed grave of the bandit.

ENLISTED ON WEDDING DAY.

This, Judge Kersten Holds, Is Adequate Grounds for Divorce.

"Ma," said Miss May Redd, 3311 Lowe avenue, three weeks ago to Mrs. Rose Redd, "when I married John J. Fahrner on Nov. 18, 1912, he joined the navy and left town the day after we were married. I didn't want him to go, but he promised to be back in six months. And I've never heard from him again!"

"Yes?" said Mrs. Redd. "I didn't know you ever were married."

"Well, I kept it secret from you. I didn't know how to tell it," said Mrs. Fahrner.

1,000,000 MEN VIEW OF SENATE FOR DEFENSE

Bill Amended to Increase Regular Forces, Also Provide Reserve.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—An army reorganization bill that would produce regular army and reserve military forces in the United States aggregating a million men was passed by the senate tonight without a record vote. It is a substitute for the Hay bill passed by the house, and the differences will be worked out in conference.

On the eve of a joint session of both houses of congress to hear a message from the president on grave international issues the senate hastened completion of the bill amid scenes of excitement, repeatedly rejecting all amendments pending to reduce the proposed strengthening of the army.

MAKEUP OF THE ARMY.

In the closing hours of debate the senate made provision for a regular standing army with a peace strength of 250,000 men, as compared with 140,000 in the Hay bill, which passed the house; retained the plan for a federal volunteer army reserve force calculated at 261,000 men, and federalized the national guard forces at an estimated strength of 280,000 men.

In addition to this combined regular and reserve force of 790,000 men an amendment was passed to create a school and college youths' reserve corps in time of war or threatened war which would recruit a force of trained young men, schooled by officers of the regular army, estimated anywhere from 200,000 to 400,000.

REGULAR ARMY OF 250,000.

"We are creating here tonight a peace army of 1,000,000 men," Senator Myers declared, in supporting an amendment of Senator Reed to make the regular army 200,000. The senate had agreed previously by a vote of 43 to 37 to an amendment by Senator Brandegee increasing it from the proposed strength of 180,000 to 250,000. The Reed reduction proposal was rejected, 42 to 31, after a brief speech by Senator Williams in which he referred to the solemnity of the occasion which would confront congress tomorrow.

"Are we or are we not threatened with war with Mexico?" Senator Williams asked. "Are we or are we not threatened with war over the submarine controversy? Have not we been called to assemble in joint session tomorrow, the

Trebizond Falls; Russ Fleet Aid in Capture of Port

PETROGRAD, April 18.—Trebizond, the most important Turkish city on the Black sea, has been captured by the Russians.

Aided by the Russian fleet, the invaders pushed past the last series of natural obstacles along the coast when on Sunday they occupied a strongly fortified Turkish position on the left bank of the Kara Dere, twelve miles outside the fortress.

Russian Official Statement.

The official statement reads:

Trebizond has been taken. The united energetic efforts of our Caucasian army and Black sea fleet have been crowned by the conquest of this fortified town, the most important position on the Anatolian coast.

Our valiant troops, after the sanguinary battle of the 14th on the Kara Dere river, pressed the Turks without respite, and surmounted incredible obstacles, everywhere breaking the fierce resistance of the enemy. The well combined action of the fleet permitted the execution of most hazardous landing operations and lent the support of its artillery to the troops operating in the coastal region.

Credit for this fresh victory also is partly due the assistance given the Caucasian army by the troops operating in other directions in Asia Minor. By their desperate fighting and heroic exploits, they did everything in their power to facilitate the task of the detachments on the coast.

British War Report.

LONDON, April 18.—British lines on the south bank of the Tigris, in Mesopotamia, have been forced back by the Turks for a distance in some places of from 500 yards to 800 yards, says an official statement given out today by the official press bureau. The text of the statement says:

Lieut. Gen. Sir Percy Lake reports that on the night of April 17-18 a series of heavy counter attacks were delivered on the right (south) bank of the Tigris. Our lines in places were forced back some 500 to 800 yards.

Turkish War Report.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 18.—An official statement issued today by the Turkish war department says:

Caucasian front—In the valley of Tchoruk and on our left wing there was local fighting. In the other sectors of this front the situation was unchanged.

In the neighborhood of the Suez canal one of our reconnaissance parties attacked an enemy detachment and put it to flight after killing five men.

Blood Test Shows Spouse of Accused Dentist Is Infected—Used Spray Given by Husband.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 18.—According to announcement made here tonight typhus germs have been found in the blood of Mrs. Arthur Waite, wife of the dentist awaiting trial in New York for the murder of his father-in-law, John E. Peck of Grand Rapids.

The blood test, it was stated, was made at Ann Arbor, and as a result of the alleged finding of the bacilli Mrs. Waite has gone to a sanitarium for treatment. Her condition, however, is not considered serious.

During the illness of Mrs. Waite's parents in New York, according to a story credited to Mrs. Waite, her husband furnished, not only for her, but also for her parents, an atomizer containing a solution with which she sprayed her throat. This treatment, Dr. Waite said, was to render her immune from colds. Mr. and Mrs. Peck also used the same solution, it was said. It is believed this solution was the vehicle for the administration of deadly germs.

BREAK WITH BERLIN NOW IS IMMINENT

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The United States tonight is perilously near to war with Germany over the submarine warfare controversy.

President Wilson will submit to congress at a joint session of the two houses tomorrow the grave state of the relations between the two countries produced by the continued torpedoing of enemy and neutral merchantmen on which Americans have been killed, injured, and placed in jeopardy.

The president also is addressing to Germany a final note, tantamount to an ultimatum, demanding that Germany reform its conduct of submarine warfare on commerce or suffer a rupture of diplomatic relations with the United States.

Note May Go Today.

It was stated at the White House that the note has not been dispatched but that it probably will be on the cable to Berlin before tomorrow. It was being coded early tonight.

A high administration official, however, expressed doubt on leaving the White House at a late hour as to whether the note would be actually dispatched until after the president submits the entire matter to congress and states the course he has decided to pursue.

Break Is Imminent.

Late tonight it was reported in official circles that a break between the two nations was imminent. It was stated that the dispatch of the ultimatum to Germany had been held up because the president was considering the advisability of handing Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, his passports and recalling Ambassador Gerard from Berlin.

Although the president might take this step before he appears in the joint session of the senate and house at 1 o'clock tomorrow, there is no tangible evidence tonight that he has ordered a severance of diplomatic relations.

May Threaten Berlin.

In fact, there are indications the president will not decide definitely until tomorrow morning whether he will move for an immediate rupture of diplomatic relations or will confine his action to a threat of adopting that course.

Mr. Wilson this evening invited Senator Stone, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and Representative Flood, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, to confer with him at the White House at 10 a. m. tomorrow. He also invited Senator Lodge and Representative Cooper, the ranking Republican members of the two committees.

The president's proposed policy will be discussed at this conference with the heads of the committees of congress to which are committed all matters pertaining to foreign affairs. If it turns out that the president is bent upon a severance of diplomatic relations an effort will be made by some of these legislators to dissuade him from the adoption of that course.

Bernstorff Is Worried.

Count von Bernstorff, though patently anxious over the situation, says not only that he has not received his passports but that he has been given no hint that a rupture is at hand. Secretary of State Lansing says that Ambassador Gerard has not been recalled.

President Wilson is carefully concealing the precise character of the message he will deliver to congress tomorrow. He was engaged tonight in writing the message. Although some administration officials are hinting that the president intends to seek the sanction of congress, the sole war making power, for a severance of diplomatic relations, a step recognized as likely to lead to war, the prevailing opinion in official circles is that Mr. Wilson's purpose is to inform the legislative branch of his reasons for sending the ultimatum.

Inasmuch as it is expected that congress will back up the president, the adoption of this course, according to the administration view, would be tantamount to obtaining sanction inferentially for a severance of diplomatic relations in the event that Germany refuses to comply.

Austria Is Involved.

It also became known tonight that Austria-Hungary may become involved in the crisis. At the direction of the president Secretary Lansing dispatched to Ambassador Penfield at Vienna instructions to obtain the Austrian government's explanation of the attack on the Russian bark Imperator by an Austrian submarine which resulted in the serious wounding of an American citizen.

New York Seizure Factor.

The day also developed the fact that the differences between the United States and Germany do not rest wholly upon the submarine issue. Germany has a grievance against the United States as a result of the forcible arrest in New York today of Wolfe von Igel, a German embassy clerk, who was private secretary to Military Attache von Papen. Prince Hatzfeld, the counselor of the German embassy, lodged a protest with the state department on the ground that Von Igel, as a member of the embassy staff, is exempt from the process of the American law.

Note Most Drastic.

While the exact contents of the note are unknown, it may be said that it is the most uncompromising in tone of all the communications President Wilson has addressed to the central powers throughout the submarine controversy during the last year.

In portions it is so severe that the reading of the document in the cabinet meeting today evoked a sharp difference of opinion between the war faction, headed by Secretary of State Lansing, and the peace faction, led by Secretary of Agriculture Houston.

Practiced Deception.

In the note the president strongly intimates that Count von Bernstorff has been kept in ignorance of the German government's true submarine policy and of his own volition has made promises and representations to the United States government which were not authorized by Germany or else that Germany has caused its ambassador to practice a policy of deception, inasmuch as the German government's acts have not been in conformity with its promises made to the United States by its ambassador.

With respect to the Sussex disaster, which resulted in the serious injury to several Americans, the note is understood to say that the United States will accept Germany's denial of responsibility, in view of the conflicting evidence, and also as an evidence that this nation desires to maintain friendly relations with Germany.

Limit of Patience.

Another incident of this character, however, will be regarded by the United States, the note says, as an assertion by the German government of its intention to disregard the agreements entered into with the United States, and the American government will regard such an act as sufficient proof in itself that "further friendly diplomatic relations" between the two countries for the time being are impossible.

The note reviews at length the submarine controversy and cites approximately sixty-five instances of the torpedoing of enemy and neutral merchantmen without warning or without adequate provision for the safety of persons aboard the vessels.

Upon these instances the president bases his contention that Germany has not lived up to its pledges to the United States regarding the conduct of submarine warfare on commerce.

SPLIT IN CABINET.

The cabinet was in session two hours, all of which time was devoted to a discussion of the crisis and the president's note. It was the first time that the text of the completed communication had been laid before Mr. Wilson's advisers.

The uncompromising tone of the note met with the entire approval of Secretary Lansing and the majority of the members of the cabinet.

It was assailed from the start, however, by Secretary Houston, who was supported by Secretary Lane. These two cabinet ministers argued that the severity of the note is not warranted by the evidence in regard to the latest series of disasters, attributed to German submarines, which has brought about the crisis.

HOLD PROOF LACKING.

They argued that the whole submarine controversy is clouded with disputation not only as to the evidence in concrete cases but also as to the promises which Germany has and has not given.

It was pointed out that Germany contends no promises have been given the United States not to sink freight steamers in Atlantic waters without warning, alleging that the only pledge refers to passenger liners only.

Outside of the Sussex case the grievances of the United States are based on the torpedoing of freighters. If it be established that Germany did not promise not to sink freighters, it will turn out that the United States has no just ground for charging Germany with breach of faith.

HOLD U. S. IS PASSIVE.

The peace faction of the cabinet, moreover, contended that the country does not appear to be greatly wrought up over the submarine controversy or disposed to approve the adoption of extreme measures which might lead to war over an issue representing a sharply divided public opinion.

Secretaries Houston and Lane were supported to some extent by two other members of the cabinet, but they found themselves in the minority. The faction known as the war party clearly had the upper hand, and the president appeared to have swung completely into line with the radical element.

URGE CONGRESS ACTION.

As a final plea the moderates urged the president to take no action before submitting the entire submarine controversy to congress.

It was contended that although the president possesses the sole prerogative of severing diplomatic relations or taking any step in that direction, he should regard it his duty under the circumstances to take no action of such vital consequence without taking the sole war making power into his confidence.

The moderates advanced the opinion that the executive should not send an ultimatum to Germany unless it should appear that congress clearly approves the step.

REALIZES HIS DUTY.

President Wilson replied to these representations that he long had been convinced that his duty under the circumstances required him to adopt no aggressive policy in dealing with Germany without the full knowledge of congress concerning his reasons for the action.

Before the cabinet meeting adjourned the president announced that he would go before congress tomorrow and make a full statement of the situation as he views it and of the policy which he deems advisable to pursue.

The president, however, did not indicate clearly to his advisers whether he would make the action he intends to take entirely dependent upon the attitude of congress or would merely state for the information of congress the action he has taken and the further steps he intends to take.

ORDERS CONGRESS CALL.

Mr. Wilson and his advisers closely guarded their prospectie acvtion until late in the afternoon. Shortly after 4 o'clock the president called in Private Secrtary Tumultc and snt him with a message to Senator Kern, majority leader of the senate, and Representative Kitchin, majority leader of the house, requested them to arrange a joint session of the two branches of conyress at 1 o'clock tomorrow.

The nly reason the president conveyed to the leaders was that he wished to deliver a message to congress.

The president's move startled the members of the house and senate. They rushed pell mell to the Democratic leaders to discover the meaning of the request for a joint session.

The leaders replied that they had not the slightest idea whether the president uished to address congress on the German crisis, the Mexican situation, the tariff or some other question of governmental policy. They confessed they had not been taken into the confidence of the president in any respect as to his intentions.

It was nearly 6 o'clock when the resolution providing for the joint meeting of the two houses tomorrow was rushed through the house and senate.

LEARN REASON FOR CALL.

It was not until the middle of the evening that senators and representatives received information that the joint session of congress had been requested by the president for the purpose of laying before it the crisis in the relations of the United States and Germany.

Count von Bernstorff was startled by the news of the president's contemplated action. He called on Secretary Lansing at 4 o'clock in pursuance of an engagement which the ambassador requested yesterday. He asked the secretary whether he could be of any service in the mutual endeavor of averting serious trouble between the two nations.

Secretary Lansing informed the ambassador that he was not ready to discuss the matters at issue in any definite way and after some casual conversation Count von Bernstorff departed.

The impression prevailing at the state department was that Mr. Lansing was carrying out the intention of the administration to enter into no further negotiations with either the German government or its ambassador.

The theory of the administration is that the writing of notes is definitely ended with the dispatch of the communication containing the ultimatum and that the future relations of the United States and Germany rest not upon any settlement of the disputes of the past or upon reiterated assurances, but upon the actual conduct of submarine warfare by the Berlin government.

The German ambassador left the state department feeling that no effort to smooth over the difficulties that have arisen could be made until the attitude of the president is made known in the ultimatum note to Germany. He, therefore, had settled down to awaiting this disclosure when he learned of the president's intention to lay the matter before congress.

BERNSTORFF IS OPTIMISTIC.

Although Count von Bernstorff realized at once the grave possibilities of the situation, he expressed the optimistic view that a rupture of diplomatic relations would be averted. He said that Germany desires above all things to retain the friendship of the United States and would make great sacrifices to avoid a break.

At the same time the ambassador is of the opinion that the Berlin government never will consent to a complete abandonment of the submarine warfare on the commerce of the allies.

The destruction of merchantmen carrying war supplies to the allies has been going forward on a wholesale scale of late and the German people are enthusiastic over the new submarine campaign.

GERMANY MAKES HEADWAY.

It is beginning to be felt in Germany that real headway in destroying enemy commerce is being made, that Great Britain sooner or later will be compelled to abandon the starvation blockade in order to call off the submarine warfare of reprisal, and that it would be folly to relinquish use of the new weapon at the behest of the United States just when it is becoming effective.

The assertions of President Wilson that he was interested chiefly in fighting in the interest of humanity have caused the ambassador to hope that the executive would throw the weight of his influence against the British starvation blockade.

SEEKS WILSON SYMPATHY.

Bernstorff believes that the effort of the allies to starve the noncombatant population of Germany ought to awaken the interest of the president, whose championship of humanity is so well recognized.

The contention that the British have not actually starved German women and children, while Germany has killed noncombatants on the high seas, the ambassador meets with the argument that if the allies have not succeeded in their aim it is because their blockade is a failure, in which event it ought to be abandoned. The moment it is abandoned, says the ambassador, the submarine warfare of reprisal will be called off.

LAWMAKERS HOLD TONGUES.

How congress will take the president's aggressive policy remains to be seen.

Senators and representatives were wary of committing themselves tonight in advance of knowledge of the statement that the president will make tomorrow. Some of them pointed out that the president has kept congress in ignorance of the details of the submarine controversy and that the legislators have had no means of knowing whether the circumstances warranted the adoption of the policy leading in the direction of war.

GERMAN SHIPS WORTH OVER $100,000,000 IN U. S. PORTS

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—It has been strongly hinted many times that on the event of serious trouble between the United States and the Teutonic powers this country would be in a fortunate position for quick action in the field of confiscation. The activities of the British navy have been responsible for the scudding to cover in American harbors of sixty-eight German and Austrian vessels valued at more than $100,000,000. These ships, with gross tonnage of 527,298 and net of 303,299 tons, are interned mainly in New York, Boston, and Baltimore, but there are several in Hilo and Honolulu harbors as well as the less important ports of both continental coasts.

The largest is, of course, the huge Vaterland, 54,282 tons, which has long been moored in upper New York harbor, where also are the 25,000 ton George Washington and the Kaiser Wilhelm II., President Lincoln, and President Grant, each of more than 18,000 tons.

Sixteen of the vessels are of more than 10,000 gross tons, all these belonging to the Hamburg-American and the North German Lloyd lines, in each of which the Hohenzollern royal family is said to be heavily interested financially.

The names of interned vessels—10,000 tons and over—and their location follow:

BERNSTORFF GIVES A NEW PLEDGE FOR GERMANY

[By Associated Press.]

Washington, April 18.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, presented to Secretary Lansing today a memorandum said to be similar to the one delivered following the sinking of the liner Arabic, reiterating assurances that Germany would conduct submarine warfare according to international law, and was ready to give satisfaction for any unauthorized or unintentional violation of neutral rights.

The ambassador added, however, that Germany under no circumstances would agree to give up submarine warfare, which, he reiterated, was in retaliation for the British food blockade of Germany.

Mr. Lansing said later that the ambassador's visit would have no effect on the course already determined upon by the American government. He is understood to have informed the ambassador that he could not discuss the subject with him at this time.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS DUMFOUNDED AT PRESIDENT'S SUMMONS

LEADERS TAKEN BY SURPRISE AT SUDDEN ACTION

Senator Stone and Representative Kitchin Admit They Were Not Consulted.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—Congress was dumfounded late today when it received word from President Wilson that he desired the privilege of addressing it tomorrow.

The president merely sent up word that he wished to appear tomorrow without saying what he desired to discuss.

Joseph P. Tumulty, private secretary to the president, appeared in the senate lobby shortly before 5 p. m. and called for Senator Kern of Indiana, the majority leader. He told Senator Kern the president wanted a resolution passed inviting him to address a joint session of the house and senate tomorrow.

"What does he want to talk about?" asked Senator Kern.

"You know as much about that as I," replied Tumulty. "I was merely asked to have the resolution introduced and passed."

Senator Stone in the Dark.

Senator Kern introduced the resolution and senators rushed over to Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the foreign relations committee, to see what it was about. He had to confess the president had not consulted him. Senator Kern made a brief statement explaining the president wanted to consult with congress and the senate passed the resolution.

Majority Leader Kitchin promptly brought it up in the house when asked to do so by the president's secretary. Like Senator Kern, he was unable to go into details, and it was not until several hours after the house adjourned that the members learned the president intended to speak on Germany. Minority Leader Mann was not present when the resolution was brought up. He had left the floor several minutes earlier.

Will Have to Make Good Case.

Just what sort of a reception the president gets depends entirely upon what he says. Members tonight were speculating as to whether he would content himself with laying the correspondence before them, or whether he would ask specific powers.

With regard to the issues involved, the opinion was expressed by several that Mr. Wilson will have to make out a strong case for war if he gets enthusiastic support in congress for a break with Germany.

Sentiment among senators and congressmen is about the same today as it was when Mr. Wilson forced votes on the motions to table the McLemore and Gore resolutions warning Americans off armed merchantmen.

Gore Vote a Good Test.

A skilled observer among the senators who are naturally prominent gave a careful summary of the situation in the senate as it appears to him.

"The Gore resolution vote was not a fair test, but the speeches which followed the vote can be considered a fair guide to sentiment," he said. "I do not believe there has been much change since then. That means that the east is pretty well with the president in favoring a breaking off of relations with Germany. But it also means that a great many in the middle and west are not in favor of such plan. They are not enthusiastic about anything approaching war on such an issue as now presents itself. I can go further. The president will find that many of his own party, from the south, are not with him, for they feel that rather than break with Germany we should first come to a settlement with Great Britain on the matters which have caused the south particular worry, the south being concerned in the cotton market, for example."

As Republican Viewpoint.

"I do not know what the president plans to tell us," said a leading Republican. "It is difficult to believe that he will devote his entire time to telling us how we have been injured by Germany without telling us also how British ships have taken American mails 100 miles at sea and interefered in many ways with our neutral trade. I do not even know that he will feel we can come to conclusions with Germany while the Mexican situation is so serious. Everything indicates that we have enough going on there to attract our attention for a few minutes."

Says People Are with Wilson.

"I think there has been a change since then," he remarked. "All the change has been toward the president's stand. I have had just one letter reproving me for voting with the president and that was from a boy. I have had thousands of letters indorsing our stand for American rights, and if the president wishes a test vote of any sort I am sure he will find that others have been hearing from home and that there will be a stronger defense of American rights, whatever and wherever they are in jeopardy, than ever before."

Plenty of others in both house and senate agree with this view. None of the leading members of either house would consent to the use of his name. The uniform statement was that direct comment would have to be reserved until the president had made it clear exactly what he wanted to tell the nation through its representatives.

PRESS COMMENT ON CRISIS

Comment of some of the newspapers on the crisis made apparent by President Wilson's summoning of congress today in joint session—as well as some of the German comment—is given herewith:

ST. LOUIS REPUBLIC—In the present crisis arising out of the submarine warfare of the central European powers the American nation stands solidly back of the president. If civilization is to continue it can only continue on the basis of the sacredness of international good faith, the reality of international law. In contending for this the United States stands for that without which progress is a byword and culture a demon's legacy.

NEW YORK WORLD—The very fact that the president personally presents the matter to congress can not fail to deepen the impression that his action must make upon the official and popular mind of Germany. Whether it is still possible to maintain diplomatic relations between the two countries depends wholly upon Berlin. The graver the crisis the more important it is that the president make a full and frank statement of the case to congress, and through congress to the American people themselves, who are the final arbiters of their rights and their honor.

NEW YORK TIMES—The president's announced purpose of addressing congress in person today upon the subject of the note he is about to send to Germany proclaims the unusual and grave character of that communication. It is evident that this note differs from those preceding it in which we have protested against unlawful acts committed by German submarines, and it is a warrantable conclusion that it will bring us within measurable distance of rupture with the imperial government.

NEW YORK AMERICAN—Senators and representatives, do not plunge your people into this cruel and wicked war. Instead of adding to the agony and slaughter of Europe's unhappy peoples the agony and slaughter of our own people, find for us the right way to maintain peace ourselves and to hasten the coming of peace to the world.

COMMENT IN BERLIN.

BERLIN, April 18.—The newspapers have been preparing the people for the early reception of the American note by commenting on Washington dispatches announcing the completion of the document. Disappointment is expressed that Foreign Minister von Jagow's answers to the American inquiries have had so little effect in satisfying Washington. Some of the newspapers note what they term President Wilson's apparent anxiety to withdraw from the Mexican undertaking and interpret it as a bad omen for the future relations between the United States and Germany.

The Frankfurter Zeitung, which is eager to see the matter amicably settled, says:

"If President Wilson wants a breach no answer which Germany can give under the existing circumstances can satisfy him. If he seriously wants peace he must choose the ways and means for bringing the imperative demands of Germany's submarine warfare into harmony with the justifiable interests of neutral countries.

FEELING IN REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, April 18.—Reichstag leaders who recently led the fight for a more vigorous prosecution of the submarine war are preparing to take a hand in the new German-American crisis, it was learned today.

They will oppose to the utmost any further concessions to the United States. If necessary they will break the truce agreed upon a short time ago and direct open criticism against the government if there are any signs that Germany intends to alter its submarine policies again to conform to President Wilson's wishes.

The situation has suddenly grown more tense with the arrival of reports that President Wilson already has framed his new note to Germany and is about to forward it to Berlin.

Caustic comment is heard in some quarters over his failure to await the arrival of the exhibits forwarded by the German foreign office before making his decision. This fact is accepted as partly corroborating English reports that the new note is to be more drastic than any of the previous communications from the United States.

Though Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg is supported by the kaiser in his desire to maintain friendly relations with the United States, officials are under the pressure of a public opinion which is again growing more hostile to the United States.

WILSON WANTS TO GIVE WORLD MORAL LESSON

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—President Wilson does not regard that severance of diplomatic relations with Germany would result in involving the United States in war. On the contrary, he believes it might be an object lesson to the Berlin government which would impress it with the seriousness of the situation and thereby bring about an abrupt halt in present methods of Germany's submarine warfare.

The president's cabinet is divided on this subject and opinion in official and diplomatic circles is not altogether with the president.

The important feature of a severance of diplomatic relations over the submaine issue, it is explained, is that it leaves Germany the choice of either pressing the issue to the point of possible war or preserving peace with the United States by allowing the issue to remain dormant. The severance of diplomatic relations in itself carries no other direct material consequences than the closing of the German embassy here and the return of the American diplomatic representatives from Berlin. Business through consular representatives would probably go on as usual.

Point to Italy and Germany.

In support of the theory that Germany might not care to press the issue farther after a diplomatic break it is pointed out that Germany and Italy are not at war although diplomatic relations have been broken. Under the triple alliance treaty Germany is practically pledged to support Austria in its war with Italy, but "practical considerations" have caused the Berlin government to refrain from becoming involved with Italy despite treaty obligations.

From a practical point of view it is generally held here that Germany has every reason for wishing to avoid war with the United States. It is therefore presumed in certain quarters that a diplomatic break with the United States will be the signal for a hauling in of the more aggressive features of the submarine campaign.

War Act, Says Bernstorff.

Count Von Bernstorff believes, however, that a severance of diplomatic relations will lead to war. The attitude of the United States, he says, has furnished the only restraint upon the prosecution of the submarine warfare of reprisal. If a break occurs between the two nations this restraint will be removed, ships will be torpedoed right and left without warning, Americans probably will be killed, and war eventually will be the result.

There is no doubt, according to officials, that Germany's action subsequent to a diplomatic break would determine whether or not the president would feel constrained to ask for armed forces to make good his demands. There is likely no doubt that a continuance of wholesale attacks on passenger ships and merchantmen by Germany would necessitate the president's making good his demands, according to officials here. To sever diplomatic relations and then permit Germany to violate the rights for which the president is contending would lead to humiliation of the United States, it is explained.

Wants to Be Moral Leader.

The president regards the moral lesson to Germany as an all-important feature of the severance of diplomatic relations. He is understood to take the position that this would not only keep the record of the United States clear but serve notice to the whole world that the rights of humanity and the dictates of international law must be obeyed. He believes the effect on neutral nations would be enormous.

Two "Breaks" Without War.

There have been two signal circumstances in American history of diplomatic relations being severed without war resulting.

Curiously, the first had to do with neutral navigation rights and alleged independent practices of commanders not sustained by their government. This was the difference with the old empire of Brazil, of which John Quincy Adams wrote to congress in his annual message of 1827.

Some of the naval officers of the Brazilian empire had practiced principles in relation to blockade and neutral navigation which American commanders found it necessary to resist, and the United States chargé d'affaires, finding his representations disregarded, terminated his official functions, demanded his passports, and returned to the United States. President Adams wrote that "this movement has not been disproved by me." But the Brazilian government decided not to sustain the action of its naval officers, promised that full amends would be made, and another chargé was sent by the United States.

Row Over "Forced Loan."

The second case was reported by President Buchanan in his message of 1858. The American representative in Mexico, Mr. Forsyth, had formally protested against the application to Americans of a "forced loan" by the government which was prevailing at the moment in Mexico, and advised his countrymen not to pay. An American citizen acted on this advice and his property was seized. When he protested, the Mexican government showed its further regard for the United States by banishing him.

Mr. Forsyth, after duly warning the Mexican government, announced the suspension of the political relations of his legation with the Mexicans "until the pleasure of his own government should be ascertained."

No War After Declarations.

It is significant that although in each case the initiative was taken by the American minister or chargé d'affaires, the government backed him up without equivocation. It is also interesting to note that not only were diplomatic relations ended without a declaration of war, but also no declaration followed, the implied threat being sufficient to produce results.

Secretary of State Cass also wrote to Mr. Dana in 1860 that a "refusal to accept an ultimatum as to a claim for damages due a citizen of the United States may be followed by a withdrawal of our diplomatic representative at the country by which the demand is refused." Here again no action was precipitated.

WILSON SHIRKS DUTY, DECLARES COL. ROOSEVELT

Oyster Bay, April 18.—[Special.]—Col. Roosevelt believes that President Wilson is failing to perform his duties of leadership in calling a joint session of congress to lay before them the issues of the submarine controversy with Germany. He feels that the president is shirking his responsibilities and that, furthermore, he has only himself to blame for the position in which the nation now finds itself.

Word reached Sagamore Hill of President Wilson's action in this newest phase of the submarine issue early this evening. Col. Roosevelt was greatly interested in it, and, while he refused to make any comment for publication, his opinion can be definitely set forth.

Blames Foreign Policy.

It is known that Roosevelt blames the present troubles of the United States, as well as all those of an internal nature which have come to pass since 1912, on President Wilson's foreign policy. A strong foreign policy would have prevented the sinking of the Lusitania, Roosevelt believes; it would have prevented other incidents humiliating and disastrous to this country.

Roosevelt condemns Mr. Wilson's action in now summoning a joint session of congress to put the U-boat issues up to them, because he believes it is the duty of a leader to lead, and because he holds the affairs of a nation cannot be conduct- by town meeting. Further than that, the colonel's opinion was that congress cannot wisely determine the issues wholly created by the executive arm of the government.

Leader by Constitution.

It is the ex-president's belief that under the constitution the president is directed to conduct negotiations with foreign powers, and by that token he is the one who should assume the leadership.

The colonel has indicated before that a weak foreign policy causes more wars than it prevents, and the word "cowardice" has appeared in more than one of Roosevelt's recent statements dealing with President Wilson's handling of Mexican and European affairs.

The colonel views Mr. Wilson's proposed action of tomorrow as in keeping with the Wilsonian florid style, whether written, spoken, or acted, as it has been manifested during the last year or more, and he feels that Mr. Wilson's policy has been one of diluted milk and mush, and his failure to put the country in a state of preparedness at such a critical period in its history has been one of the evil byproducts of this policy. Col. Roosevelt intends to motor into New York tomorrow morning.

"Tribune" Expert Predicts Immediate Hostilities — No Declaration Necessary.

BY CAPT. HENRY J. REILLY.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The present crisis makes the consideration of the question of war with Germany of primary importance from a military point of view. There are certain points immediately evident. They are:

1. Once diplomatic relations are broken off no declaration of war is necessary. Therefore, Germany at any time she saw fit could begin the use of armed force against us.

2. Germany never in her military history has permitted a condition of affairs which was neither peace nor war. In other words, should we break diplomatic relations, the slightest action favoring the entente allies will mean military reprisals on the part of Germany. For instance, the sending of our naval vessels as escorts to our merchant ones would lead to their prompt torpedoing by the first German submarine which could get at them.

Maximum Damage, Teuton Theory.

3. Germany has only one conception of war, and that is to apply the maximum violence to the enemy wherever he can be gotten at. Therefore, we could immediately expect German submarine and commerce raiders to attack our shipping wherever found. Since the trip of the German submarine from a German port to Constantinople there has been no doubt of the ability of the vessels to cross the Atlantic and return in safety. Therefore, we could expect both deep sea and coastal shipping to be sunk not far from our own ports.

We are decidedly weak in submarines and in the destroyers which would be necessary to patrol our coast against raiders and submarine attacks.

The allies undoubtedly would expect us to protect our own merchant ships carrying supplies to them. This would mean that our cruisers would have to be risked in European waters.

Would Call on U. S. Fleet.

As it is the standard policy in war to concentrate as large a force as possible against an enemy in order to increase the chances of victory, the allies undoubtedly would demand that our battle fleet join that of Great Britain in the Irish sea in order to be present in case the German high sea fleet should come out and should have one or more surprises of great tactical value.

From the beginning of the war the entent allies have been troubled by a lack of troops. The retreat from the Marne, the attempted flanking movement of the allies after the battle of the Aisne, the failure throughout 1915 to assume a real general offensive in the western theater of war, the failure to save Serbia, the failure in the Dardanelles campaign, and the present inability of the British to take a general offensive now that the Germans are making a supreme effort at Verdun, all are examples of this.

Allies Might Ask Troops.

Therefore, undoubtedly one of the allies' first demands would be that we send troops to the continent of Europe to aid them. We only have 32,000 regulars of the mobile army in the United States. At the present time they are all on the border or with Gen. Pershing in Mexico. Even should Pershing be withdrawn, this number of troops will be needed along the border to keep the Mexicans from making further raids, similar to the Columbus one, which such withdrawal undoubtedly would encourage.

Due to the possibility of attacks by submarines and raiders, the coast artillery must be kept in the coast fortifications. A recent raid, in which a German submarine entered the harbor of Havre, France, and sunk a ship just docking is the best proof that such attacks can be made. The only other troops available are the national guard of the various states, who number only 129,000 men.

Furthermore, the national guard cannot be ordered outside the continental lines of the United States. Therefore, to make them available, they would have to be replaced as volunteers, which means that the individuals concerned would have the choice of going or not. Undoubtedly, a good many would not feel that they could sacrifice their families and businesses to fight in Europe. While these individuals would probably be replaced by others, these others would be entirely untrained, and, therefore, unfit to take the field.

The best of the national guard troops in the country have nothing like the training necessary to successfully withstand such attacks as are now being made by the Germans at Verdun.

Would Need 1,000,000 Men.

The inevitable conclusion is that we would have to call for at least 1,000,000 volunteers. Should we get them we have not the trained officers and noncommissioned officers to train them; we have not sufficient arms, ammunition, artillery, clothing, equipment, and all the many other articles needed to make them into an army.

There is considerable doubt if we could get the men. The number of volunteers who respond for any call depends largely on the popularity of the war. If we have war with Germany it will be on the grounds of Americans having lost their lives because of German activities. For five years Americans have been losing their lives because of Mexican activities without the slightest shadow of excuse on the ground of military necessity, yet after more than a month's effort to get 20,000 men voluntarily to come forward less than 4,000 have responded.

Recruiting Slow in U. S.

The middle west has responded far better than New England and the other eastern states. Yet these states are the ones in which at the present time there is the most desire for war with Germany. Great Britain is vitally concerned in this war, yet after a year and a half and every possible effort she not only has never been able to put the armies in the field which the allies consider she should, but has not even been able to raise enough men to keep those she has organized filled up.

Nothing but conscription will do it, nothing but conscription would do it in this country. The facts are simply that the allies need military help and they would expect us to furnish it and really furnish it.

2,000 ILLINOIS STUDENTS SHOW "PREPAREDNESS."

Urbana, Ill., April 18.—More than 2,000 students of the University of Illinois took part today in the annual presidential review of the university cadet brigade, the largest cadet force in the United States, held in honor of Edmund J. James, the president.

There were two full regiments of infantry in line, four auxiliary companies—signal, hospital, engineers, and foot artillery—and battery F of the First regiment of field artillery, Illinois national guard, composed of students and professors at the university.

President James in his address said that while we are a peace loving nation, we cannot neglect being prepared for war, no matter what the pacifists say.

"If we would sacrifice our all and be content to be a nation like the Chinese, then there is no need for us to prepare," President James said. "With malice toward none, with charity toward all, we should prepare ourselves to maintain our independence, by peace if we can, by force if we cannot."

SUSSEX SINKING IS DESCRIBED BY U. S. SURVIVOR

Francis Drake Writes How Passengers Fell Into Ocean After Torpedo Blast.

Clyde I. Drake of the firm of Drake & Drake, at 72 West Adams street, had his anxiety relieved yesterday by a long letter from his brother, Francis E. Drake, now in London. He is one of the survivors of the Sussex and had many thrilling adventures to relate of his escape and rescue.

In a company of 100 persons he was picked up by a British destroyer and taken back to England.

Description of Disaster.

"The weather was clear and bright with practically no sea," Mr. Drake wrote in describing the Sussex disaster.

"Upon leaving Folktone we ran in a line parallel to the British coast, passing many merchant ships. The vessels flew every neutral flag. After an hour and a half at sea there was a terrific explosion. I personally have no knowledge whether this was caused by a mine or a submarine.

"The wreckage thrown up by the force of the explosion was accompanied by tons of water. All this mass of debris came crashing down on the forward end of the ship. The roar of escaping steam, the agonized cries of the people, were more than terrifying.

Tried to Help Victims.

"Two men and myself threw overboard deck chairs, heavy gratings, and anything that would float to those struggling in the water. But few of the overturned lot ever reached the floating debris, and we saw only five people clinging to the capsized boat. The greatest loss of life, except that caused by the actual explosion, occurred in the launching of this boat.

"Although the wireless had been blown away, together with the foremast, I mounted to the top deck to use some of my knowledge as a telegraph operator. If the operator was not at his post, I thought, I myself might send out the 'S. O. S.'

French Woman Heroine.

"But I found him the most cool headed of Frenchmen, who had never left his key and who was sending his signals without being able to determine whether he was being heard or not.

"Mlle. Brier, a young Frenchwoman, had robbed her limited wardrobe of all useful articles of clothing in caring for the wounded. She refused to leave the sinking ship either by lifeboat or trawler as long as there was a man left aboard.

"The chief engineer of the British destroyer proved to be a former engineer for the United States battleship Olympic, which was Admiral Dewey's flagship in the battle of Manila bay. He presented Mlle. Brier with a painting from his cabin of the battle done b a Chinese cook, showing the ships in action, as a memento of her courage on the Sussex."

SENATE FAVORS 1,000,000 ARMY

PASSED WITH A RUSH.

solemn purpose of which we do not ourselves definitely understand?

"If the army cannot exceed a certain number except in a state of threatened war we are now in a state of threatened war if the president of the United States thinks so. For myself, I think we are pretty seriously threatened with international difficulties, both from the east and the south."

The apparently grave developments of the few hours preceding the passage of the bill also probably served to save the volunteer army provision. Champions of the national guard fought it bitterly in the committee of the whole, and it was retained by a vote of 34 to 32. Tonight Senator Lewis again moved to strike out the section. It was saved this time by a vote of 40 to 37.

Other Important Items.

Other important provisions of the senate bill not in the house measure include the following:

Appropriation of $15,000,000 for construction of government plants for production of nitrates to be used in manufacture of ammunition.

Provision for vocational education of enlisted men of the regular army, compelling instruction either in agriculture or the mechanical arts.

Creation of a national guard section in the general staff of the army, and requiring all officers and enlisted men of the national guard to subscribe to an oath to support the United States, as well as the respective states.

Joint Conference Expected.

Because of the radical differences it is expected that the house will at once ask for a conference and that work of perfecting the final form of a new army measure will begin within a few days.

One feature of the senate bill that even its most ardent champions fear may be sacrificed in the legislative compromise is the volunteer army reserve force, but in that event they confidently expect that the school reserve will be retained as a substitute.

Auto Flames Quenched.

Before the arrival of the fire engines the flames from a burning automobile at State and Washington streets were extinguished with a bucket of water by Crossing Policeman John Poot. The loss to the automobile, which belonged to the Franklin Automobile company, was slight.

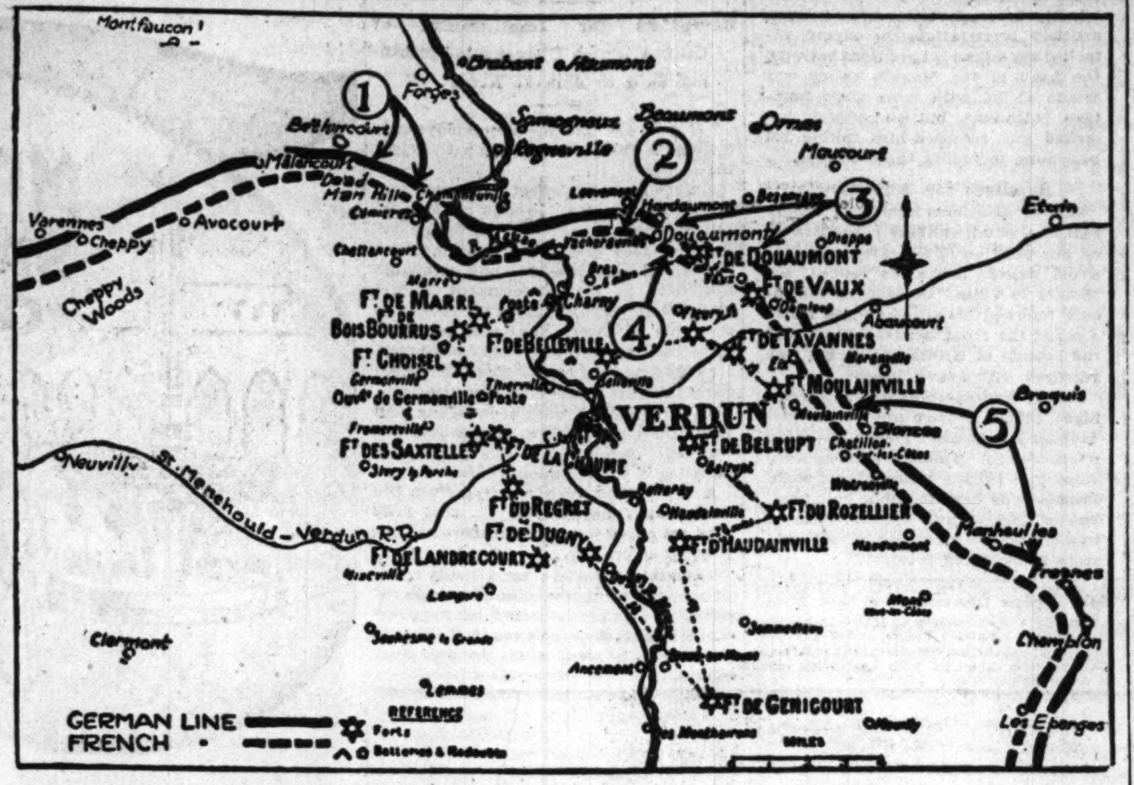
The Battle Lines Around Verdun.



1—Paris reports intermittent bombardment west of Meuse river in the sector of Hill 304.

2—Berlin reports capture of French positions on Steinbruch 700 yards south of Haudremont farm, in which 1,638 unwounded prisoners were taken.

3—East of Meuse, Paris reports, bombardment in region south of Haudremont wood and in sector between Douaumont and Vaux.

4—Berlin reports repulse of French attacks in and near Caillette woods.

5—Berlin reports French artillery was extremely active against German position on Woevre plain and on the hills southeast of Verdun.

VERDUN GERMANS DRIVE ON; TAKE 1,600 PRISONERS

BERLIN, April 18.—French positions on Steinbruch, 700 yards south of Haudremont farm, in the Verdun region, were captured by the Germans in their attack of yesterday, the war office announced today. The Germans took prisoner 1,646 unwounded men.

The text of the statement follows:

Our artillery extensively bombarded British positions in the region of St. Eloi. We easily repulsed a weak hand grenade attack directed during the night against one of the mine craters we had occupied. On both sides of La Bassee canal and northwest of Loos spirited hand grenade fighting developed. In the region of Neuville and near Beauvraignes we exploded several mines with good results.

Big Victory for Germans.

On the battlefield on both sides of the Meuse (Verdun region) there were violent artillery duels. On the right bank of the river our troops from lower Saxony wrested from the French by storm positions on Steinbruch (stone quarry) 700 yards south of Haudremont farm and on the ridge of hills to the northwest of Phiomont farm. Forty-two officers, including three staff officers, and 1,646 men were captured unwounded, in addition to fifty wounded men. Their names will be published in the Gazette des Ardennes in the same manner as the names of all Frenchmen who have been made prisoners in this war. The names of 711 officers and 38,155 men whom we have taken prisoner since Feb. 21 in the battles in the Meuse district also will be published. The reason is the semi-official French attempt to cast doubt on our reports.

Attacks of the enemy in and near Caillette forest were frustrated by our fire. French artillery was extremely active against our positions on the Woevre plain and against those positions on the hills southeast of Verdun and as far as the neighborhood of St. Mihiel.

Praise War Office Move.

The German press triumphantly hailed the war office announcement that the name of every prisoner in the Verdun fighting will be published so as to convince the French people that the German claims are based upon absolute facts.

The newspapers point out sarcastically how a month ago the French military observers solemnly declared the crown prince's effort against Verdun as already then doomed to sure failure. Broken morale, owing to "terrific losses," necessity to spare the reserves, and, finally, a decisive letup in the German "impulsive power" were cited as the reasons for the temporary lulls.

Meanwhile, it is pointed out, the entente press has undergone a great psychological change with regard to the much heralded "spring offensive of the allies." Spring, so it was formerly asserted, would behold a definite expulsion of the Teuton invaders.

French reports concerning the "terrific German losses" continue to be ridiculed. Still, there is sincere praise in all the military and editorial articles of the French bravery, and the exaggerations of German casualties are almost excused by German critics by pointing to the necessity of the French staff to prevent the morale of the troops and the spirits of the public from being broken.

French War Report.

PARIS, April 18.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads as follows:

In the Argonne our artillery was active in the region of Four de Paris and against the roads and communications of the enemy.

In the Verdun region bad weather impeded the operations during the course of the day. There was an intermittent bombardment west of the Meuse in the sector of hill 304 and to the east in the region south of the Haudremont wood and against our positions between Dauaumont and Vaux. No infantry action took place

East of St. Mihile our batteries shelled enemy concentrations near Joinville.

British War Report.

LONDON, April 18.—The British official statement on the campaign in France and Belgium reads:

Twice in the last thirty hours our troops have penetrated at different points into the German trenches—once in daylight yesterday and once during the night. On each occasion the enterprise met with complete success. A machine gun emplacement was destroyed and several dugouts were bombarded. Our casualties were one wounded and one missing. Two German officers and at least twenty men are reported killed.

During the night two small German efforts against our positions at St. Eloi, preceded in the evening by a heavy bombardment, were successfully repulsed.

Today there were isolated artillery duels at various points. There has been further activity eastward of Vermelles without altering the general situation there.

HEAVY AUSTRIAN ASSAULTS REPELLED BY THE RUSSIANS.

PETROGRAD, April 18.—The official communication from general headquarters issued today reads:

In the region of Ikskull and the sector west of Jacobstadt an artillery duel took place. Attempts of the enemy to advance in the sector near Nieverischki farm at Krevo were repulsed by our scouts.

In Galicia the enemy on Sunday with strong forces made desperate attacks on Popovamoghila. One of these attacks extended over a front exceeding a mile and a third. All the attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy.

According to additional particulars our captures in the course of the conquest of Popovamoghila on April 13 included an enormous quantity of rifles, arms, cartridges, telephonic material, periscopes, bombs, bomb throwers, and caissons.

German Official Statement.

BERLIN, April 18.—The German war office today issued the following official statement:

Russian attacks early this morning at the Dvinsk bridgehead on the narrow front south of Garbumovka broke down in front of our positions with heavy losses for the enemy.

BLAST IN GERMAN PLANT.

LONDON, April 18.—A Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen says:

"A dispatch to the Kieler Zeitung from Wilhelmshaven says there was a great explosion last Fridty in the new torpedo works there, a number of persons being killed and others wounded. The works were recently finished and were inspected by Emperor William on Feb. 25."

Twenty-two Aeroplanes Attack Bulgar Staff at Doiran—Drive Off German Foes.

SALONIKI, April 17.—Twenty-two French aeroplanes bombarded the headquarters of the Bulgarian staff at Doiran at 3 o'clock this morning. The raid was an entire success, the French officers say. A German squadrilla which attempted to engage the bombarding French aeroplanes was attacked by special French rapid firing machines, which forced them to abandon the attack.

RUSSIAN DUMA PROROGUED AS RESULT OF PEACE TALK

Agitation by Some Members for Separate Pact with Teutonic Powers Leads Czar to Act.

PARIS, April 18.—One of the reasons which led to the prorogation yesterday of the Russian duma by a special imperial ukase was the increasing agitation on the part of some of the members of the Russian parliament for a separate peace with the central empires. Authentic information to this effect was obtained in official quarters here today, though no details are made public.

PORTUGAL EXPELS GERMANS

Orders All Over Military Age to Leave Country and Interns All Others—Seizes Property.

LISBON, April 18.—The Portuguese government has ordered the expulsion of all Germans over military age and the internment in concentration camps of the others, according to the Seculo. The sequestration of all property belonging to Germans has also been ordered.

BRITISH CABINET AT CRISIS OVER CONSCRIPTION

Asquith's Promised Statement May Not Be Made Even on Thursday, Hint.

LONDON, April 18.—That a grave cabinet crisis over compulsory military service exists is undeniable, but according to an authoritative statement tonight, no resignations, either ministerial or military, have yet been tendered, and it will probably be several days before the crisis is ended.

The Marquis of Crewe, lord president of the council, in his statement to the house of lords today, which was the first official admission of the gravity and complexity of the problems dividing the ministers, intimated the possibility that Premier Asquith might not be prepared even on Thursday to make his promised statement relative to recruiting, in which case the house would sit the following Monday.

Line Is Being Drawn.

Both sides in this momentous conflict are marshaling all their available forces for the parliamentary struggle over Sir Edward Carson's motion for universal military service. Strong whips are out.

Political gossip tonight centers mainly around Minister of Munitions David Lloyd George and Winston Spencer Churchill and the possibility of Mr. Lloyd George succeeding Mr. Asquith as the head of the government.

Present Ministry Strong.

While the conscriptionist attack on the ministry is undoubtedly powerful and threatening there also are strong forces making for the retention of the present coalition ministry—first, Mr. Asquith's known skill in surmounting political difficulties and holding his team together, and, second, the problem of finding an alternative government to the present coalition, and the repugnance felt in large sections of the country to a change in the government at a critical stage of the nation's fate.

In the event of the disappearance of Mr. Asquith as a result of his refusal to remain a member of a government resorting to universal service, Mr. Lloyd George is regarded in many quarters as his natural successor. But against this solution is the fact that a very strong section of the Unionist party is entirely opposed to Mr. Lloyd George, as it is to Mr. Asquith.

American Train Brings Wounded.

Interesting Booklet on Investments

THE desire of people to make the most out of their invested funds is universal. Many people, however, do not get the most out of their funds because of a lack of knowledge regarding safe investments. We are trying to meet this situation through a series of educational booklets on investment bonds.

Among our booklets we especially recommend for those who are not familiar with bonds one entitled "The Most Satisfactory Bonds." This booklet goes at length into the investigations we conduct into the bonds we sell before we put our own funds into them and gives in effect an inside view of the buying end of a large bond house.

In addition to this it gives numerous charts showing the growth of various companies and comparing the prices of different classes of bonds over a period of years. To any one who is interested in the safe investment of either large or small funds this booklet will be of interest.

You will incur no obligation by asking for this booklet. We shall be pleased to send it upon request with circular C-30 regardless of the size of your funds or your present intention to invest. Telephone Wabash 3980.

The Oxygen does it!

Tooth Pastes Are 50 Per Cent Soft Soap

Scouring or friction is the basic principle of cleaning. To properly clean your teeth you must use some substance which provides the necessary base for scouring.

Your teeth are naturally white, and if they are not pure white at present it is because you are not cleaning them in the proper way.

How to Clean Your Teeth

You should use a SOFT, SMALL tooth brush so that you can get free action in cleaning the back teeth. The bristles should be soft in order that they be flexible, thereby brushing between the teeth and dislodging food particles.

Why CALOX Is a Different Dentifrice

The base of CALOX Tooth Powder is precipitated chalk of the very finest quality. Precipitated chalk is an ideal scouring substance. By a formula which bear the approval of the entire dental profession in this country and in Europe, CALOX releases free oxygen in the mouth. Oxygen, you know, is nature's purifier—nature's germicide. Physicians and scientists tell us that without oxygen in the air we would die in less than two minutes. Nothing can be used that will surpass oxygen—CALOX—as a purifier for the mouth. Oxygen also whitens.

Clean Teeth Do Not Decay

EXPERTS BEGIN WAR RESOURCES SURVEY IN STATE

Canvass of Illinois Plants Will Cover Output, Labor, and Transportation.

A sixty day survey of the industrial resources of Illinois was launched yesterday by the state committee of the naval consulting board. Within two months' time the most comprehensive inventory of the state's industrial war strength ever taken will be forwarded to Chairman Thomas A. Edison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels. It will describe in expert detail just what supplies and ammunition Illinois can supply in event of hostilities, how quick they can be furnished, by whom, and at what cost.

The scope of the work was outlined by Chairman Frederick K. Copeland, president of the Sullivan Machinery company, representing the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

Other State Directors.

The other state directors are William Hoskins of Mariner & Hoskins, representing the American Chemical society; P. Junkersfeld, assistant vice president of the Commonwealth Edison company, representing the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; Capt. R. W. Hunt of R. W. Hunt & Co., representing the American Society of Civil Engineers, and Dr. W. F. M. Goss of Urbana, dean of the college of engineering at the University of Illinois, representing the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

The survey will cost $25,000, which will be raised by subscriptions by patriotic citizens and concerns. Chairman Copeland said the investigators would proceed on the theory that the country already is at war and that both employers and employés will be questioned regarding their views and willingness to become members of an industrial reserve.

Details of Plants.

Under the details to be shown as to the plants made subject to the survey, the statistics will show the location of each important factory by city map attached the population of city, ground area of plant, and that available for expansion, character of construction of buildings, floor space, carrying capacity of floors, number of stories, fire protection, power developed in plant, elevators, possibilities of operating at night, whether facilities permit housing and feeding employés, whether telegraph office in plant, telephone facilities, and number of American citizens employed.

As to the manufacture and production statistics, the inquiry will cover the normal yearly slack season, the percentage o equipment idle in slack time, with details as to raw materials purchased, principal products manufactured, and methods of shipping same.

Statistics on Labor.

Complete statistics about the labor market for each plant will be secured. Among the questions asked will be: Is labor easy to obtain? Union shop? Any labor trouble recently? How settled? Number clerical and office help? Number of men in shop? Approximate number of skilled men? Women employed? In which departments, if absolutely necessary, can women replace men? Is overtime work done willingly? Approximate percentage of employés not American citizens?

RIOTS IN GREECE STIR UP STRIFE

MEETINGS TO CONTINUE.

ATHENS, April 17, via Paris, April 18.—The Liberal morning papers comment bitterly today on the action of the police during the rioting yesterday while the government organs throw the blame on the Liberals. It is announced Liberal meetings will be resumed after Easter.

"The present government represents in no sense the majority of the Hellenic people," said former Premier Venizelos today to the Associated Press. "We Liberal twice within a year received the vote of the majority.

Sees Blow at Free Speech.

"At the last election, which was nothing more than burlesque of the free exercise of the right of suffrage, we were not willing to participate in a farcical formality where, owing to the mobilization, it would have been possible, as, indeed, it was the government's intention, to keep the Liberal voters with the colors and not allow them to cast their ballots, while their opponents would be given every facility to crush the Liberal party by a vote which could not have represented more than a small minority of the Greek people.

"We Liberals have left us only our right of free speech and free assemblage, guaranteed by the constitution. Now it is even sought to deny us this.

Demand King Be Curbed.

"The meetings organized by the Liberal party were not even those free and open ones to which we have every right.

"The moment has come when the position of the highest functionary, which every king of the Hellenes ought to occupy, must so strictly be defined that it will forever be impossible for any government hiding behind the person of the sovereign to arrogate to itself rights which reside only in the whole people. I am not talking in any sense of the possibility of a republic in Greece. I insist only on our constitutional rights."

We have our various departments arranged for rapid filling of mail (or written) orders as well as for counter customers. Very many of our patrons have book accounts with us and all of their orders coming in to us by mail or messenger, or phone, are quickly handled through our mailing department.

Besides this—for those customers who prefer to take home personally packages of modest bulk we have a "WILL CALL" Department, where an order left in the forenoon will be found ready to take without waiting when called for. Another convenience is the provision which allows a customer to select a few packets for himself.

Orders for Trees and Shrubs packed at our Nursery require four or five days for careful execution.

Austrians Drive Off Invaders; Big Infantry Battle Near Col di Lana.

BERLIN, April 18.—[By Wireless to Sayville.]—The Austrian official communication covering operations on the Italian front today says:

The Italians have been active at several places on the Isonzo front. Two enemy fliers dropped bombs on Trieste, two civilians being killed and five wounded. Austro-Hungarian aviators drove the invaders away, chasing them to Grado.

Heavy Losses for Italians.

There have been artillery duels in the southern district of the Doberdo plateau and near the Goritz bridgehead. Near Zagora an Italian attack was repulsed. The Italians suffered heavy losses. The Tolmein bridgehead has been heavily shelled. There have been artillery combats with varying force on the Carinthian and Tyrol fronts.

Near the Col di Lana the fire increased to drum fire toward night. After midnight the Italians started a general attack, which was repulsed. Later the Italians succeeded in blasting the western top of the Col di Lana at several places and entered the completely destroyed position. The combat here is going on.

In the Sugana valley, where the Italians had lately molested our field guards by repeated attacks, the Austro-Hungarians in counter attacks drove the Italians from advanced positions. The Austro-Hungarians captured 11 officers and 600 unwounded men and four machine guns.

Italian War Report.

ROME, April 18.—The following official communication, covering operations on the Austrian front, from general headquarters was issued today:

Our methodical advance continues along the steep slopes of Monte Sperone, in the Ledro valley. On Sunday we captured several of the enemy's intrenchments.

In the Lugano valley, after intense artillery preparation, the enemy attacked our advanced positions between the head of the Maggio valley and Monte Collo, with more than fourteen battalions, but we counter attacked and repulsed him, taking 206 prisoners, including three officers.

Repulses for Austrians.

Sunday afternoon numerous enemy batteries of all calibers concentrated on our position of Sanosvaldo, and to avoid useless losses we retired 500 meters to Volto. On Monday the enemy renewed his attacks three times against the front between Volto and the bottom of Brinta valley, but was repulsed with heavy losses.

Enemy hydroaeroplanes on Sunday night raided Treviso and Motta del Ivenza, and smaller places, dropping thirty bombs. Nineteen persons were killed and twenty wounded and some damage was done to public buildings. One of the enemy's hydroaeroplanes was brought down at Grado, both aviators being taken prisoner.

Girl Drops Charges Against Man.

Miss Clara Mecklenberg of 1520 North Crawford avenue appeared before Judge Fry yesterday and asked that her charges that Edward Wallace took liberties with her in his office be dismissed.

AMERICANS WARNED NOT TO SEEK WORK IN CANADA.

Campaign for Immigration of United States Citizens to Dominion Said to Aim at Army.

"If you are looking for employment, don't go to Canada unless you wish to join the army."

A warning to this effect was issued yesterday by Dr. P. L. Prentis of the local bureau of immigration. Information has been received from American consuls in Canada of what is said to be a campaign conducted by that government to lure prospective recruits across the border on promises of work. It is said contracts have been entered into with 5,000 American newspapers to advertise for 30,000 farm laborers. Canadian recruiting officers, it is alleged, have been telling men from the United States they would not lose their citizenship in this country by enlisting in the dominion troops.

A report has been received from the consul at Vancouver, B. C., that 1,000 men are out of employment there and dependent on charity.

"Special efforts are being made to induce every foreigner of military age residing in this province to enlist for oversea service," the report reads, "and it is practically impossible for an American citizen to secure employment here."

Don't try to pass the buck for responsibility—

This is one case where it is strictly up to you. There's no sense trying to put it up to your stenographer or office manager, just because your correspondence is all at sixes and sevens, thanks to the wasteful extravagance of shorthand. Your office manager does his share. You are responsible for the system he's working with.

Your stenographer does her share—likely a bit more. But she can't help herself if you won't let her earn her salary—it is your fault if you make her write your letters twice—once in shorthand and once on the typewriter. It is your fault if you make her leave her typewriter and sit at your desk taking shorthand dictation and waiting to take it, while her typewriter stands idle instead of clicking along turning out finished typewiting. Which is what you are paying for.

It is your fault if you keep on trying to adapt your dictation to the limitations of shorthand, with its personal inconveniences and exasperations; it is your fault if every letter costs a third more than it should. It is all your fault, and down in your heart you know it is. And it will go along being your fault until you dictate to the Dictaphone.

FIFTEEN NATIONS REPRESENTED IN "FIGHTING 7TH"

Col. Moriarty's National Guard Regiment Leads in Armory Facilities.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

Down at Thirty-fourth and Wentworth—near enough to the stockyards to be in the "Yards" telephone exchange—stands the big brick armory of the Seventh regiment, I.N.G. Its C. O., Col. Daniel Moriarty, ranks next to Col. Sanborn of the First in seniority among the national guard officers of the state, though the regiment was not mustered into service until the year of the world's fair. Its own members would be the last to refer to the organization as the "fighting Seventh," though that is its traditional nickname. They are more inclined to be proud of the armory, which was built under the eagle eye of the colonel, and of the fact that through fair weather and foul, from the national guard standpoint, the regiment has kept enough men on its roll to comply with the requirements of the war department.

Fifteen Nationalities.

A variant of the regimental nickname is the "fighting Irish." It is true that the present regiment is an outgrowth of the Hibernian Rifles, which, without official recognition or public support, kept the military spirit alive for more than a dozen years. It is also true that on March 17th of the present year, when the regimental medals were awarded, more than 8,000 people gathered in the armory. But the officers declare that at present the Seventh is the most cosmopolitan regiment in the service. At least fifteen different nationalities serve in its ranks.

When the present armory was built—some eight years ago—the state authorities insisted that a free site must be provided before any of the public money was spent. The colonel and the other officers persuaded the friends of the regiment to raise a fund with which a piece of ground fronting 225 feet on Wentworth avenue, running through to La Salle street, was purchased. Every cent of the $150,000 appropriated by the legislature went into the building. The main drill floor is quite as large as any in the city, and the twelve company clubrooms are a trifle larger.

Pictures of Gettysburg.

Through the kind offices of friends Col Moriarty got hold of the big oil paintings which used to make the panorama of the "Battle of Gettysburg" one of the sights of the city. They are now mounted on the walls of the officers' quarters and at either end of the big drill hall, and they gain in artistic and historic value as the years go by.

Another historic note is struck by the original of French's great statue of "The Republic," which first stood at one end of the Court of Honor at the World's fair. It now occupies the post of honor at the far right hand of the big drill floor, and still holds its historic fish ball in one hand and the spear in the other. The surviving directors of the World's fair recently voted to expend the remainder of their funds in a marble and permanent reproduction of "The Republic." They may—or may not—know where the original is now located.

Add to Holdings.

Some time after the main armory of the Seventh was built its officers persuaded the city to condemn for its use the alley lying to the south. They also raised enough money to buy an additional lot and to build on it a big swimming pool for the use of the members of the regiment. It remains the only regiment in the state which has such a luxury.

The last return of the regiment showed about 875 men on its rolls, including more than fifty in the newly organized machine gun company. It is now enlisting a few more in preparation for the annual encampment, which will be held at Fort Sheridan from July 23 to Aug. 1.

F company of the Seventh was originally the famous Chicago Zouaves, which won almost a national fame for their fancy uniforms and dazzling drill. Though distinctive uniforms are now forbidden in the national guard, the men of Company F still, quite unofficially, keep their baggy red trousers, their short blue jackets, and their fezes, and, under the command of Capt. John J. Bulger, they are still competent to dazzle the natives with a display of fancy foot work.

Wall Scaling.

One of the more or less regular stunts of the Seventh is wall scaling. Every few weeks a sixteen foot wall is set up at one end of the drill floor and the men of the different companies are drilled in getting themselves and their equipment over it in the quickest possible time. With no desire to boast, the Seventh is confident that it can turn out a team at any time which can scale the wall more rapidly than the champions of any other regiment in the state service.

In common with the other regiments of the national guard the officers and "noncoms." of the Seventh have been regularly going to school for the last year, with officers and noncommissioned officers of the regular army as schoolmasters. Taking advantage of what they have learned, the officers, under the direction of the regimental adjutant, Capt. Octigan, have been going on week end mapmaking hikes about Chicago during the last few weeks. They will keep it up until encampment.

Some time before the last of July Col. Moriarty is planning to call out the whole regiment to practice in digging trenches and building bombproofs on some of the vacant lots near the armory. He is anxious to secure in some way closer coöperation among the various branches of the national guard.

NIGHTIES IN BLACK

Mourning Hued Women's Garments, the Vogue in Paris, Make Debut Here.

Miss Stephanie Borthwick

"The vogue of black in one's intimate possessions is just beginning its run in Paris," says the fashion expert, which, interpreted, means that it is decreed that because all muslins, cambrics, and linens in France are being converted into bandages, milady of fashion the world over must adopt black nighties.

One Parisian modiste has brought the new style to Chicago. It is described as "a night robe in black Chantilly lace, worn unlined, with rose ribbons arranging the fullness in Empire style." Nothing is said regarding mourning shades for night wear for Friend Husband.

PAPER BOX MEN ALARMED.

Western Manufacturers Will Attempt to Improve Demoralized Market Conditions.

A special meeting to consider plans for remedying the demoralized condition of the paper market will be held today at the Hotel Sherman by the Western Paper Box Manufacturers' association.

"Neither buying nor selling can be done with any degree of safety," reads the appeal of Secretary James L. Kalleen. "If the future can not be even approximated, the members of the industry must be brought to a realization of the true conditions or some one will suffer disastrous results.

BERLIN ENVOYS ASK VON PAPEN AID BE FREED

Also Demand Return of Papers Seized in New York—U. S. Will Comply?

Washington, D. C., April 18.—The Germany embassy today demanded of the state department the immediate return of papers and documents seized by agents of the department of justice in New York from the office formerly occupied by Franz von Papen, the recalled military attaché of the embassy.

At the same time the embassy requested the release of Wolfe von Igel, Von Papen's former secretary, arrested by the authorities in New York on an indictment charging conspiracy to blow up the Welland canal.

Counselor Polk of the state department, to whom the representations were made, at once advised the department of justice to return the papers and to free Von Igel unless the offense alleged against him was committed before he became a member of the embassy staff.

Will Release Him Today?

Assistant Attorney General Warren, in charge of neutrality prosecutions, said tonight the matter had not been brought to his attention. It was understood that the state department's request would be acted upon tomorrow.

Prince von Hatzfeldt, counselor of the embassy, who made the representations, demanded that the papers and documents be sealed and restored without being photographed or copied. The action was based upon the ground that the office in which the seizures occurred in reality is a branch of the embassy.

It was said at the embassy that the contents of the papers was unknown there and that the demand for their restoration was made after Von Igel had communicated with the embassy over the long distance telephone from New York.

Long Von Papen Aid.

State department records show that formal notifications of the appointment of Von Igel was received during last September, after Von Papen had been declared persona non grata. Von Igel had been in the office of Von Papen for several months prior to that.

Teutonic officials appeared to be surprised on being informed that the release of Von Igel had been conditionally ordered. They indicated they had been informed that the instructions for release of the prisoner would be unconditional. A lengthy report on the affair was understood to have been forwarded tonight to the Berlin foreign office.

New York, April 18.—A municipal movement to provide pensions for widowed mothers with children was begun today with the adoption by the board of aldermen of a resolution under which would be appropriated $300,000 to be placed at the disposal of the child welfare board. If the resolution is acted on favorably next week by the board of estimates the proposed allowances will be granted.

SPRINGING TO ARMS—CHAPTER I.

In "The Fundamentals of Military Service," written by Capt. Lincoln C. Andrews, U. S. A., under the supervision of Gen. Wood, are the following comments on the revolution against England.

"In no measure detracting from the luster of those patriotic leaders of the revolution, whose wonderful patience and self-sacrifice held together a few constantly shifting thousands of so-called soldiers, until by the aid of Jehovah, France, and the favorable sentiment in England herself, they won our independence—but rather adding to the luster of their accomplishment in the face of such discouragements, let us realize the truth that:

"Instead of our patriot fathers flocking to the standard, it was only with the greatest pains that Washington's pathetically small army was kept recruited at all.

"That desertions were wholesale, and discipline often practically nil.

"That bounties, greater and greater, had to be paid to get the men to enlist.

"That short term enlistments kept the personnel constantly changing and the ranks made up of untrained soldiers, and not infrequently resulted on the very eve of battle in the disintegration of large parts of the army through expiration of their terms of enlistment.

"That the revolutionary armies were mostly inefficient, and often incapable of sustained aggressive campaign, just when the opportunities therefor offered themselves.

"That while nearly 400,000 enlisted men passed through the ranks, Washington never had at one time 30,000 effectives.

"And that in the end, the decisive victory of Yorktown was made possible only by the timely presence of the French fleet."

SPRINGING TO ARMS—CHAPTER II.

Continuing the account of how Americans have sprung to arms in the past, we quote from "Fundamentals of Military Service":

"While these conditions (of inefficiency and shirking) could be excused in the revolution, due to the jealousies of the colonies and the lack of a strong central government—not so in the war of 1812. We were then a nation, going to war on our own motion. But our conduct of that war was even more unintelligent, was, in fact, pathetic, with no victories (on land) during the war to remove the sting of repeated disasters.

"We brought to the colors for that war the astounding number of over 527,000 men—to oppose an English force of less than 17,000—and were beaten and humiliated at every turn. Lack of organisation, of discipline, and of trained leadership made our armies pathetic objects, and ended by allowing a small raiding force of British to penetrate to Washington and raze our capitol—'while the fleeing president and his cabinet looked back from the hills of Maryland and Virginia upon the ruin their incompetence had wrought.'"

England was also at that time fighting Napoleon.

SPRINGING TO ARMS—CHAPTER III.

Continuing from Capt. L. C. Andrews' summary of our wars:

"In the Mexican war success attended our arms against an inferior foe. There were two conditions strongly in our favor: the commanding officers were trained soldiers, and the scene of the conflict was so far removed that the weaknesses of our volunteer system could not operate. By the time the battlefield could be reached, long continued training had put something of discipline into the armies, while to desert back home was physically out of the question."

It may be remarked that the war was much prolonged by the fact that the enlistments ran out and troops had to be shipped home, the generals waiting until others arrived from the states.

SPRINGING TO ARMS—CHAPTER IV.

From Capt. Andrews' summary of our civil war in "Fundamentals of Military Service":

"Finally there stands our great civil war, the glaring example of the inefficiency of our system and of its extravagant waste of life and money. When a small trained force in the hands of the nation could have suppressed this rebellion, by continuously underestimating the amount of force necessary to put it down, it was allowed to grow, until millions were involved.

"The same civilian control of military matters quite beyond their comprehension, the same short term enlistments, the national government again in the position of a supplicant to its citizens begging them to enlist, offering them bounties as an inducement, and in the end having to resort to conscription in order to get them; the same state control of raising and officering regiments; desertions by the hundreds and hundreds of thousands, to return to their homes, or to reënlist and thus get a duplication of the bounty—all the weaknesses of our previous military experiences were here repeated over and over again. While in the end, the sure aftermath of such a system, the nation is paying annually the astounding sum of one hundred and seventy millions in pensions. Fifty years after the close of the war an annual payment that would build a Panama canal every three years."

History books in the schools teach us that we are patriotic enough to sacrifice when there is any real need. The history books in the schools do not tell the truth.

THE DOC. KNOWS.

Dr. J. W. Coon, superintendent of the municipal tuberculosis hospital, a witness in the civil service commission investigation, testified that Dr. John Dill Robertson, health commissioner, told him that his honor, Bill the Immense, in attacking Dr. Sachs had "made a damn fool of himself."

Big Bill's doc. is a wise man, a shrewd man—a judge of character. He knows a thing or two. He has opportunities for knowing. If any one is in the know in the city hall, it is the doc.

We'll concede that Big Bill had magnificent material to work with. It would not require a genius to obtain prodigious results with it. Big Bill would be very, very stupid if he could not do something splendid with what he had at hand.

But the important question is whether, now that Bill's doc. has got the diagnosis so satisfactorily, he can or will prescribe? Is a cure possible?

OUR MEXICAN "POLICY."

The American government's reward for its consideration of "Mexican susceptibilities" is admirably illustrated in the article from the Carrancista organ, Accion Mundial, of Mexico City.

We are told that our "famous punitive expedition" was sent forth with "laughable disorder" and "has made plain the complete ineptitude of the American war department and of the leaders who have tried to pursue Villa." The hope is expressed that we may be better advised hereafter in both a diplomatic and military sense, and it is pointed out that "the columns which were sent to pursue the bands of outlaws were divided up all along the frontier, their cohesion and attacking power so diminished from day to day that in the event of a rupture between Mexico and the United States the American columns would have been annihilated within a few hours."

The ironic force of these remarks by an organ of Mr. Wilson's beneficiary, Carranza, is doubled by the fact that its criticism is essentially sound, from the military point of view. Its error, and it is a dangerous error for the Mexican mind to be drawn into, is that it assumes the weaknesses of our campaign in pursuit of Villa are the fault of our war department and of our army officers. It is not realized they were forced by the Wilson-Bryan diplomacy, which, we hope presently will be repudiated by the American people.

The pursuit of Villa has been, in truth, a shameful exhibition of incompetence and irresolution. But the incompetence and irresolution have not been of the army. They are a part of the conduct of our Mexican relations for three years.

We demanded a salute from Huerta. We never got it.

We went into Vera Crus to stop a shipment of arms to Huerta. He got it.

We sacrificed the lives of our men, concentrated our fleet and took Vera Cruz, cleaned it, and left it after melodramatic threats by the man we have since set up in power.

All Mexico sees our policy in terms of these outstanding simple facts, and takes us for bunglers, weak would-be despots and poltroons.

Diplomacy made Villa's raid possible. Throughout three years of disorder our 1,200 miles of border has been left insufficiently protected, because our official theory was and is that if we exercise our right of self-defense we may offend Mexican susceptibilities and precipitate intervention. So there were not men enough on the border to provide adequate patrols and adequate troops at strategic concentration points to meet raids swiftly.

When Villa struck Columbus this lack cost several days' delay in pursuit. Diplomatic etiquette with Carranza added two or three days more. By that time Villa was far in the interior.

There was but one way to catch him "dead or alive" after that. It was to turn the whole problem over to Funston and tell him to do the work.

But the Wilson-Bryan policy had bred dangerous contempt and suspicion in Mexico and now it could not face the consequences with energy and decision.

The way to catch Villa was to seize the railroads, if necessary, put troops at once at the strategic points, towns, passes, and water holes. Then Villa might have been overtaken and compelled to disband and disappear, if possible, or fight for food and water.

Instead, diplomacy refused the railroads, bowed to the decree as to keeping out of towns, and compelled our men to begin a long chase over desert and mountains, after a mounted force with one week's start in a friendly country. It compelled the ridiculous train of wagon and motor supply, and a lengthening line of communications, which, as the Carrancista critic points out, a resolute attack could endanger or break almost at any point.

The military and diplomatic situation thus developed is incredible. Villa has not been taken "dead or alive." If his bands have been dispersed, dispersion is their natural state, and they can reunite again. The pursuit seems to have gone as far as it can, and it is reported at this writing that our troops are being withdrawn before the threat of attack. No wonder the Carrancista organ holds us up to ridicule. We are ridiculous.

When the state department ordered Americans to leave their property and livelihood in Mexico and let it be known that their government had no respect for their legitimate interests; when it ordered an American cruiser out of the harbor of Tampico, leaving German and British ships to rescue imperiled refugees; when it demanded a salute from Huerta and did not back the demand; when it permitted insult and injury along the border and let the Santa Ysabel massacre go virtually unpunished; when it played politics alternately and futilely with Villa and Carranza and bandied diplomatic concessions with a government existing chiefly by our moral and material support, it made the present fiasco almost inevitable.

The result has been the prolonged misery of the Mexican people, suffering and heavy loss to our own countrymen, and the establishment of a sentiment toward us in Mexico which promises continued friction and peril to good relations between Mexico and the United States.

It was fallacious humanitarianism to allow such evils to persist. It is incompetent statecraft to allow such results to be brought about after years of meddling. The Wilson policy has been a monument of how not to deal with foreign relations. It is another illustration of how doctrinaire pacifism makes for war.

Editorial of the Day.

TIME'S HEALING POWER.

[From the Montreal Journal of Commerce.]

In the midst of war national hostilities and hatreds find full scope. Each of the belligerents feels very angry at the other, and is disposed to declare undying enmity. But time is a wonderful healer. A few years pass and those who were so intensely hostile to each other find themselves engaged in friendly relations. The relations between Russia and Japan are an illustration of this. It is but a few years since the two nations were at war. Now their relations are so friendly that Japan has been supplying enormous quantities of munitions of war to the Russian government. To some extent the connection of Japan with Great Britain accounts for the change. Japan is by treaty an ally of Great Britain, and now that Russia and Great Britain have become allies Japan doubtless is willing to do a good turn for Russia for Britain's sake. But the new and friendly relations between Japan and Russia go beyond that. The two nations are disposed to cultivate closer relations for their mutual gain.

What Surprised the Secretary of War.

(Fred C. Kelly in Harper's Weekly.)

I asked Newton D. Baker: "Of all the things you have learned since taking hold of the war department, what has surprised you the most?"

Without even pausing to bat an eye, Baker replied:

"The most surprising thing is that the high-up army officers are just as anxious to keep out of war as you and I are.

"I came here with the idea," he went on, "that the professional soldier would like to follow his profession, and rather welcomed war talk as a thing to enhance his prestige. At the end of a week I became convinced that our army chiefs are not spoiling for war at all. Their point of view, as I get it, is that they want to be prepared for war, first in order to avoid it, and because of a professional horror of seeing the army humiliated, owing to a lack of preparedness, if war should come."

It has often been said in Washington that a secretary of war entering office with an anti-military viewpoint will absorb the army point of view—within six months. "Just let him alone," army officers are said to have said about one war secretary after another, "and he will get 'right.'"

Why He Reformed.

[From the New York Sun.]

. . . I can see only one explanation of it. That is that the whole world has gone mad about reading. Very few people care particularly what they read, but everybody reads. So there is a great demand for printed matter, regardless of any merit in the stuff that is printed, and there you are. Somebody has to write the stuff, so multitudes of writers make a living who have no further qualification than stationery and a flow of words. How else can we account for the enormous sales of some of the publications of the day? My own reformation began with an uneasy feeling that I might better be of some use in the world, even if it were only in a small way, so I set up a bootblacking stand. By working faithfully at that I can make more than the average pay of a professional writer, and I can at least improve the appearance of my customers' understanding.

CROUP.

THE most important point to get about croup is that it is likely to be confused with diphtheria. Therefore the most important thing to do when a child gets sick with croup is to look in the throat for a membrane. If there is a membrane, or any suspicion of one, a culture should be made at once. If, instead of being croup, the disease is diphtheria, the parent should know it as soon as possible.

Ordinary croup is a common cold affecting the bronchial tubes and larynx, plus an element of spasm. The germs which cause it are the ordinary germs which cause cold. The spasm feature is due to the makeup of the child.

A common history of croup is as follows: A child catches cold. For a day or more there is a mild fever. The nose runs. There is a little cough. Toward night it is noticed that the cough tightens up. It sounds croupy. Probably the child is put to bed at night feeling fairly well. An hour or two later he awakens with a developed attack of croup. The cough is croupy. The child breathes with difficulty. Inspiration produces a crowing sound. As day comes the croup loosens up. Toward night the cough again becomes more croupy and a second attack of difficult breathing develops during the night.

The young mother witnessing the first attack of croup will be very much alarmed unless some one has told her that the disease is not so dangerous as it seems. There is no danger of death in an ordinary croup. A dose of ipecac will bring relief in most cases.

Some children never have croup. Others have it frequently. It depends on the child. Children with large thymus glands are subject to croup. The children who are especially liable to it are those with what is called the spasmophilic diathesis. This means that they are liable to develop spasms of one sort or another whenever anything goes wrong. When they get ordinary colds they develop a spasm of the upper part of the breathing apparatus. Many of them are recognizable as nervous children.

Furthermore, croup runs in families. Some mothers know nothing of it. Their children never have it.

These facts mean that when a child is subject to croup the time to work against the disease is between attacks. Something can be done by training. More can be done by regulating the diet. If the children are old enough for a mixed diet they should live largely on cereals, bread, fruits, and vegetables. The cereals and breads should be made from whole wheat grains, else some bran as a cereal should be used from time to time. Eggs are particularly objectionable. Some meat may be given, but not much. Some of these children do very much better if they are given no milk.

DON'T REDUCE.

N. W. writes: "A reply to the following will be appreciated: What can a nursing mother safely take to reduce flesh? I would like to reduce about fifteen pounds."

REPLY.

Don't. Wait until you have weaned your baby.

THE BEDBUG PEST.

L. R. writes: "I write of the general prevalence of the ugly pest—the 'bedbug'—in many, I fear, of our charitable institutions where the sick and helpless children are subject to them. To my certain knowledge, one of our large and well known institutions controlled by an efficient board of managers is literally overrun the year around with these disgusting creatures.

"Now, is there any practicable way of getting rid of these in an occupied building such as a home? [By fumigation the inmates would necessarily be turned out of their rooms for one or more nights, would they not?] What public measures could be adopted to secure the riddance of boarding houses, tenements, etc., and to what public authority should one apply for this?

"Are these 'bugs' likely to be disease carriers, or otherwise unhygienic? I shall be grateful for information or suggestions that will open the way to the rescue of suffering humanity from this rather ignored evil."

REPLY.

Probably bedbugs do not spread any disease in this part of the country. There is no public authority to which you can appeal except the governing boards of the homes or hospitals you have in mind, or the health department, if these institutions are under them.

The best method of killing bedbugs is by fumigation with hydrocyanic acid gas, but you say that in these institutions that method is not applicable. Wherever possible, pour scalding water on the infested furniture.

The latest report is that the best method is to squirt kerosene, gasoline, or benzine into the cracks. Herrick says that a mixture consisting of one ounce corrosive sublimate, one pint alcohol, and one-quarter pint spirits of turpentine squirted into cracks is efficacious.

NIGHT SWEATS.

Mrs. L. E. B. writes: "What is the cause of night sweats? I am very weak, can hardly stay up all day. My age is 23. Baby is 7 months old, nursing. I give plenty of milk and she is thriving. [2] Also would it be advisable to feed her? And what? She wants to eat. We give her some gravy, and sometimes I soak cracker with hot water, sweeten it a little and give that to her. She is constipated most of the time and has no teeth. Will scraped apple hurt her?"

REPLY.

1. Night sweats may result from any of several conditions—consumption, malaria, nervousness, weakness. Probably you sweat at night because you are overtired and weak.

2. Probably you should wean your baby. She is old enough to wean with safety, and probably you are too run down to nurse her with justice to yourself. Give her cow's milk diluted with water. Send to the children's bureau, department of labor, Washington, D. C., for their pamphlet, "Infant Care." This will tell you how to prepare the baby's milk. Give her orange juice and prune juice, and probably a little of the pulp of a well baked apple. Scrapings from an uncooked apple contain raw starch, and babies 7 months old do not digest raw starch well.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1916: By the Brentwood Company.]

SCOTCHMEN on this side of the Atlantic, and, indeed, all lovers of the picturesque, will regret to learn that the kilt is doomed; at any rate so far as the British army is concerned.

Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, the secretary of state for war, has always been opposed to it, ever since the South African campaign of sixteen years ago. When in command there he found that the colors of the kilts showed up so vividly in the sun that the soldiers of the Highland regiments were forced to adopt khaki aprons to render themselves less conspicuous. Moreover, while the kilt is all very well in Scotland, even in the hardest of weather, it afforded no protection to the knees when campaigning in countries such as South Africa, where the vegetation consists mainly of mimosa scrub, with thorns like small marlinspikes, grasses which cut like razors, and other similar menaces, not to mention rocks, sharp stones, and ant heaps.

Kitchener endeavored on his return to England to bring about the abolition of the kilt in the army, save for show purposes. But he was unable to carry through his reform, owing to his assignment to the supreme military command in India, where he spent the next seven or eight years.

In the present war the same objection has been found to the intensely vivid colors of the kilt, that they serve to attract the fire of the enemy to such an extent that it has, as in the Boer campaign of sixteen years ago, been found necessary to either cover them with khaki aprons, or to supplant them altogether with kilts made of khaki. Khaki does not, however, lend itself to the making of kilts. Those manufactured thereof proved a lamentable failure, suggested loin-cloths rather than Scottish filibegs, and created such an outcry of indignation among the Highlanders as to render necessary their withdrawal.

Now, from the moment that the color of the tartan cannot be shown, it loses its value as a distinguishing mark of the various Scottish clans. As soon as ever it has to be concealed by a khaki apron all its Highland associations and its appeals to Scottish popular sentiment disappear. Moreover, while the kilt may even be bravely worn in a snow blizzard, it is the most horrible and uncomfortable garment that it is possible to conceive when one is obliged to stand for long hours in trenches more than half full of ice cold, muddy water, against which trousers and long boots, at any rate, offer some sort of a protection. There is nothing more disagreeable, and I may add more painful than a wet kilt, the edges of which are apt to cut, almost as with a knife, the back of the knee and the calf of the leg when marching.

So even the most perfervid of Highlanders who have been at the front in the present war in Flanders, in France, recently on the peninsula of Gallipoli, and now at Saloniki have abandoned their insistence on the retention of the kilt, and in the contest between nationalist sentiment on the one hand and common sense, comfort, health, and economy, on the other, the kilt is having to give way.

This is not the first time that efforts have been made to do away with the kilt. During the Jacobite insurrections of the old and young Stuart pretenders, the British government proscribed for a number of years the wearing of the kilt in Scotland, and imposed heavy penalties for any disobedience to its edicts about the matter. In 1881 the late Right Hon. Hugh Childers, when secretary of state for war, presented a proposal in parliament to abolish not only the individual regimental tartans, but also the kilt. But so great was the indignation excited by this project, that a Scottish meeting was summoned by the late Lord Archibald Campbell at Stafford house, the London home of the dukes of Sutherland, to protest against the reform, and the government was forced to withdraw the bill.

Lord Archibald Campbell, who was a brother of the late duke of Argyll, was so wild in his denunciation of the attempt to do away with the kilt that at the close of a most impassioned speech at the Scottish meeting at Sutherland house, above mentioned, he wound up his remarks by kissing the hilt of his dirk, in a solemn pledge to resist the contemplated anti-kilt law, and then took steps to have, as in ancient times, the "fiery cross" sent out throughout the length and breadth of the northern kingdom, in order to rally all the Scottish nobles and chieftains to his support. The fiery cross was a signal which swift-footed messengers in olden days bore from one clan to another, calling upon their chieftains to rise in arms in defense of some common weal or interest.

I may add that Queen Victoria gave her unqualified support to Lord Archie Campbell in the matter. For she held the kilt in high favor, and when she was at Balmoral, used to insist on all the members of the royal household—I mean the male members, of course—donning the kilt, no matter whether they were English, German, or French by birth; no matter, too, how physically unsuited they might have been for that extremely trying garb.

One has to have a pair of uncommonly brawny and well shaped legs in order to set the kilt off to advantage, and good legs were woefully scarce among the late queen's entourage, save among her Scottish gillies. Her German son-in-law, Prince Henry of Battenberg, for instance, used to suffer frightfully from rheumatism each time he was in Scotland, due to the wearing of the kilt, and Prince Henry of Prussia, now at the head of the German navy, was compelled to submit to similar discomfort, whenever he stayed with his grandmother at her Scottish home.

Shortly before Victoria's death King George, then known as the duke of York, went with his consort to pay a visit to Balmoral, and the train on which the royal party was traveling was suddenly stopped at the station on the border line between the two countries. As the stop was not provided for in the time table, considerable speculation prevailed among the passengers as to what might be the cause of the halt. Much amusement was created when it was announced that the express, with its hundreds of passengers, and the mails, had been stopped for some twenty minutes to permit the then duke of York to remove his breeks and to array himself in full Highland costume.

Nor was Prince Henry of Prussia the only German relative of the English royal family who used to attire himself in kilts. Even Emperor William was fond of displaying himself therein at court functions at Berlin, proudly donning there the royal Stuart tartan, by virtue of his claims to descent through the female line from the early Stuart kings of Scotland.

WILL STOP BLOCKADING.

Chicago, April 11.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have a gasoline service station on Twenty-first street, just west of Michigan boulevard, located opposite the entrance to the service department of the Studebaker corporation. In order to take care of my customers they must drive up to the pumps in front of the station, but at times it is impossible for them to get there because of the numerous autos coming back for repair and adjustment, which they allow to stand in the street until they can give them attention. They have been blockading the thoroughfare to such an extent lately that it has been impossible for any one to drive up to my station. What can I do about it? Have they a right to occupy the street for inspecting and adjusting automobiles?

WILL CLEAN VACANT LOT.

Chicago, April 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I wish you would take it up with the proper authorities to have the west side of Sheffield avenue, inside of sidewalk, between Belden and Fullerton avenues, cleaned of papers. Also there is a vacant lot within this block that is very much littered up and not very pleasing to look at.

D. DUFFIELD.

The rubbish complained of will be cleaned from the vacant lot just as soon as we start that class of work in the spring.

W. J. GALLIGAN,
Assistant Superintendent of Streets.

WOULD BE REFUSED ILLINOIS LICENSE.

Chicago, April 16.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A man is given a divorce from his wife in North Dakota on statutory grounds, decree reading that the husband might marry in six months but that the wife cannot marry for three years. Can the woman marry in any other state inside of three years, and is a decision of that kind legal? J. H. B.

A marriage in any other state would be legal in such other state if there is no uniform marriage evasion act in force. We assume you intend to make a residence in this state. The uniform marriage evasion act is in force in this state and a license would be refused under a statement of the facts, such as is required.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHILDREN SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, April 15.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died without leaving a will. Her estate consisted of real estate and personal property. Have the children any claim in estate?

L. W. G.

If the mother died without leaving a will the children take all of the real estate subject to the father's life interest in one-third, and two-thirds of the personal estate.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

MORE DREAMS, NOT EFFICIENCY

Chicago, April 18.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There you go again, as Münsterberg put it, seeing the small things great and the great things small. Latin and Greek won't do because they do not contribute to the speeding up of efficiency, seemingly. Heart, soul, dreams, imagery, idealism, lofty impulses—all are in the discard. Why? Because they do not speed up Mr. Rockefeller's idea of eliminating "useless" movements of the arm in filling oil barrels. That is, if the worker can fill ten barrels instead of eight barrels an hour he is doing something worth while in his development as an efficiency machine.

Our state universities are now trying to teach engineering students how to turn out a completed gasoline engine in less time by making every move of the muscle count. What does that get the worker in this great big life snarl? Nothing worth mentioning. That sort of efficiency, to mean anything, should be reflected in decreased hours of labor and increased salaries. That's not the case. The kind of efficiency that cuts out Latin, Greek, and grammar merely means a training to produce more income for the employer without concern as to decreased hours of labor. Such a "practical" proposition may increase tonnage in the steel mills, but it doesn't contribute to the genuine happiness of the race.

We are getting too much of this "practical" stuff. What this old world needs right now is more dreams, more idealism, more star gazing. That's the glory of Homer and Virgil and Cicero. It takes one out into the crystal sea after losing hope of rising above the common mold. It's to the tired but still cheerful soul what religion is to the oppressed and heartbroken. What we want is a little waste, not conservation of every finger nail. We want waste of time so we will have time to lift our eyes to the stars now and then instead of looking down all day and night on some balance sheet or lathe.

It's brutal to propose denying to the children yet to come the inspiration of the classics. It's a phase of this brutal efficiency stuff, because dreamers won't work twelve hours a day and then join the organized charity wards just before Christmas.

If the Flexners want "practical" efficiency substitute Webster's dictionary for Homer and Virgil and have the children memorize a certain number of pages each day. That would be worth while. For then they would come to know, and, knowing, they could visit with themselves and find great joy with their book friends. Knowing a language so completely would create a thirst to know more of everything. And seeking to know is the most God blessed impulse of a human soul. It keeps about one-third of the race from jumping into the lake. Flexner may keep his cubist curriculum. For us we demand violet, indigo blue, green, yellow, orange, and red, and the dreams of Homer and Virgil and their imitators. C. W.

WHAT GOES ON IN WASHINGTON.

Des Moines, Ia., April 16.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Is it really true that we are about to mortgage our possible future need of the submarine defense? Is it proposed to burden us with a great debt and waste the lives of our men for the sake of an academic theory? Can a few men in this so-called land of liberty usurp monarchical powers and commit 100,000,000 people against their wills to the insanity that fills Europe?

Tell us, what goes on behind the scenes in Washington? Is the protection of the English fleet held over our president as a whip hand? Can Britain sick on Japan or call her off, at her pleasure? If so, what of our vaunted liberty and independence?

Or, are the lives and dollars of the common people to be made a guarantee for the dollars of a pro-ally syndicate?

If our administration loves justice so well and is so concerned in the safety of American citizens, how could it, long ago, refrain from interference in Mexico?

If it is true that our administration is about to engage in "The Idiotic War," so ably described by Mr. Goldbeck, what's to be done about it? Are the people helpless? If there is a preponderance of sentiment among our people against war over the submarine question, how can the people express themselves forcefully and quickly, so our administration will hear, and heed?

This is a republic, and the land of liberty, you know—a government of and by the people G. E. L.

TOO COMMON AN OCCURRENCE.

LORIMER HOPES AGAIN TO TAKE SEAT IN SENATE

Tells Jury He Never Has Been Out of Politics and Seeks the Goal He Lost.

It is better to be a has-been than a never-was, but William Lorimer is neither when it comes to politics, according to testimony he gave yesterday in his defense against charges of conspiracy and embezzlement in connection with the failure of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank. Lorimer not only declared he is still in politics, but he also asserted he has never given up the idea of running again for the United States senate.

Assistant State's Attorney Hayden N. Bell, who was cross examining the former senator, was responsible for the deviation of Lorimer's testimony into politics. Bell read articles from the Inter Ocean of March and May, 1913, concerning the Duket tuberculosis cure, which Lorimer was investigating at the time.

Denies Paper's Support.

"Don't you recall that in 1913 the Inter Ocean supported you in your plan to return to the senate?"

"No, sir."

In an effort to support his position that the Inter Ocean was friendly to Lorimer in 1913, when H. H. Kohlsaat, rated by Lorimer as one of his bitterest enemies, was its editor and publisher, Bell read an article from an issue of May 21, 1913. It stated that Lorimer was planning to run against L. Y. Sherman for a seat in the United States senate.

"Doesn't that recall to you the fact that you were planning to reënter politics?" the prosecutor asked.

"I've never been out of politics," Lorimer replied. "That article is hardly correct; but as a matter of fact I've never quite gotten out of my head the idea of going back to the senate."

Lorimer Springs Surprise.

Lorimer sprang a surprise when he was questioned regarding the $20,000 indebtedness of William Lorimer Jr., trustee, which was secured by a mortgage on the Lorimer property at Pistakee bay. He said that the note and interest totaling $22,500 had just been paid in cash to the city treasurer, who held it as security for municipal deposits in the La Salle.

By taking up this note for $20,000 Lorimer obtained possession of the Pistakee bay mortgage. This mortgge, he said, now will be put up as collateral to secure a $25,000 note of William Lorimer Jr. & Co. and two $5,000 notes of Grace hospital held by the defunct outlying banks of the Lorimer-Munday chain.

His Story of the Crash.

Under questioning by Attorney Albert Fink before he was turned over to Bell for cross examination Lorimer told his story of his vain efforts to avert the collapse of the La Salle on June 12, 1914. He contradicted the story told by Daniel V. Harkin.

"On the night before the failure," Lorimer said, "I went to see Edward Hines, the lumberman. He was out of town. Early the next morning I called at the home of Christian F. Wiehe, Mr. Hines' brother-in-law, and told him we needed money. He said he would let us have all the cash the Edward Hines Lumber company had on hand, $60,000.

"With the money furnished by Mr. Wiehe and other sums we had obtained, we had $330,000 more in cash on the morning of June 12 than we had at the close of business the preceding day. I arrived at the bank at 9:30 that morning and saw Munday and Harkin talking together. Munday told me Harkin was there to close the bank. I asked him what for and he said he didn't know.

Ordered Not to Open by Harkin.

"Then we called a meeting of the directors. Harkin announced that he had taken possession of the bank in the name of the auditor of the state of Illinois. He ordered us not to open. I asked him if he knew anything about the bank's condition. I don't recall his anwser, but I told him we had $250,000 or $350,000 in cash. He said we would need $1,000,000 before noon.

"I protested. Mr. Wiehe came in with the $60,000. I told him what had happened. He went away, but came back and said, 'Lorimer, for God's sake, don't close the doors. It will ruin you. I can get you $250,000.' I told him it was not a question of money. The bank, I said, was already closed. He went away with his $60,000."

"Did you ever think the bank insolvent?" Fink asked.

"No, sir. I didn't believe then that the bank was insolvent, and I know now it was not insolvent. If it had been allowed to run we would have paid off all the demands made upon us."

Bound and Gagged by Burglar Trio.

Grace Blair

GIRL PRISONER OF 2 BURGLARS

Held Three Hours, Bound and Gagged, After She Surprises Them.

SOUGHT SAFE LOOT.

Thirteen year old Grace Blair walked into the adventure of her life yesterday when she left school at noon for her home at 5224 West Washington boulevard.

Her father and mother were away, and Grace entered the house alone. As she ran down the basement stairs, looking for kindling wood, two men sprang from the shadows by the furnace and she felt herself seized and a hand clapped over her mouth.

Weapon at Stomach.

"For a while they walked me up and down, and one of the men held a revolver to my stomach," she said afterward. "They asked me when my father went to work and when he came home and when my mother was away, and everything they could think of. Then one of them hit me over the head, jammed his suspenders in my mouth so I couldn't talk, and tied me to a post."

The men had gone when Mrs. Blair returned, three hours later, and released the shaken hysterical child.

Sought $10,000 Loot.

According to the Austin police the would-be burglars were after jewelry and money to the amount of about $10,000 which the child's father, William Blair, is said to keep in a safe on an upper floor.

The house was entered Feb. 22 and jewelry and clothing valued at $300 taken. Nathan Herman is in the county jail on a charge of having committed the robbery and the police believe that friends of Herman had told other housebreakers of the safe.

Evidently the men either were waiting for Mrs. Blair, thinking she would know the combination, or were planning a future robbery.

Men Held Under Mann Act.

Frank Marsala and Frank Morando have been arrested in Gary, Ind., upon the complaint of special agents of the department of justice here charging them with the transportation of Mabel Fuscho from Chicago to Gary in violation of the Mann act.

WEST VIRGINIA ASKS RELEASE OF GUY BIDDINGER

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Announcement was made today that the state of West Virginia will request Gov. Whitman to revoke his warrant of extradition for the return to Illinois of Guy Biddinger, former Chicago detective sergent, against whom fifty-one charges are now pending before a Municipal court justice in Chicago.

The contention on which the third state injects itself into the case at this time is that the return of the man to Illinois at this time may prevent him from appearing as the principal witness for the state, if the United States Supreme court decides that A. Leo Weil, Pittsburgh lawyer and reformer, must stand trial in West Virginia on a charge of attempting to bribe public officials.

District Attorney on Hand.

T. C. Townsend, district attorney of Kanawha county, is already in the city. The United States Supreme court is expected to hand down its decision in a habeas corpus petition this week. Mr. Townsend, who is at Hotel McAlpin tonight, issued a statement, saying in part:

"Biddinger is an important witness in the bribery case in West Virginia. Weil has been preparing his defense in advance.

"For sixteen months he has availed himself of every possible technicality known to the law to prevent being tried by a jury of West Virginia, the only tribunal that can try him and determine his guilt or his innocence and now, after his legal remedies are about exhausted and he realizes that he must go to trial, he goes down among the apaches of Chicago and resurrects charges against Biddinger, none of which is less than five years old."

Mr. Weil issued a statement saying in part:

"Guy Biddinger was sent to me by the W. J. Burns National Detective agency to rig up a detectaphone to overhear certain stories that had been previously told to Gen. Elliott of West Virginia by two of the public service commissioners, as to the governor and which I wanted corroborated so as to introduce the same in a case pending in the United States court."

Attorney Robert E. Cantwell left Chicago for New York yesterday to confer with Biddinger's attorneys. It is said the result of the conference will determine whether Biddinger will continue his fight for extradition from New York state or not.

VICE FAR IN LEAD IN FIRST WARD

MOVIES UNDER FIRE.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The vice and virtue of the First ward were tabulated last evening at the Wabash Avenue Methodist Episcopal church as follows:

Vice, 1,093 institutions.

Result of Survey.

The tabulation was the result of a survey of the ward which was conducted by R. N. Miller of the University of Chicago and thirty assistants, who presented the results of their investigation in charts and maps studied by Bishop W. F. McDowell, the Rev. John Thompson, superintendent of city missions, and other officials of the Methodist church. The survey is a part of the work of the commission on social service of the Rock river conference, of which the Rev. D. D. Vaughan of Aurora is chairman. Dr. Vaughan was one of the speakers.

In his report Mr. Miller denounced the political conditions which made the vice conditions possible and charged that the reasons why things were so bad was because the men who scooped up the money were the men who made the laws.

Nonvoters to Blame.

"Of the 40,077 voters only 17,002 were registered, and all these did not vote," he said.

"It is because of this a notorious crook has kept his place in the council for twenty years.

"The vicious thing about the movies is not the movies themselves, but the vaudeville acts between the pictures. Don't say, 'Let them alone and they will clean up.' All they want is to be let alone. They will not clean up, and the only way is to close them up. The cabaret in the Boston oyster house does the same evil as the vaudeville in the cheaper places, the difference is the performance in the Boston oyster house is called art and the performers are better dressed."

BILLINGS BEFRIENDS BOY.

Richmond, Va., April 18.—[Special.]—C. K. G. Billings, the New York-Cleveland millionaire horseman, has taken Frank Strang, a 14 year old Richmond boy, under his care and will give the boy an education.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Strang and gained prominence as a boy scout last June when during the confederate reunion he saved a veteran from being injured when a powder box became ignited.

The boy's right arm was badly burned when the explosion occured.

"No," Mrs. Strang said today, "Frank has not been adopted by Mr. Billings. When Frank left we told Mr. Billings he could keep him until winter. Then we will take up the matter again and determine what is best."

Frank left for New York last Sunday night in company with Mr. Billings.

FUNSTON MAY GO TO MEXICO TO LEAD HUNT

Wood Called to Washington; San Antonio for Him? Pershing Reinforced.

will come from remained unannounced.

It may be that the war department will have to authorize the sending of the few remaining troops in the United States into this department, or it may be that the filling of the vacant points along the border may be left to the government of Texas, which may send the militia.

THESE MEN GET CALL.

The troops selected for Gen. Pershing are the Sixth cavalry from the Brownsville district, the Seventeenth infantry from Eagle Pass, troop L of the Tenth cavalry from Fort Apache, Ariz., and one battalion of the Twenty-fourth infantry, one company of which is at El Paso, one at Marfa, and another at Fabens.

In addition to these troops, totaling 2,300, Gen. Pershing now has in his base guard at Columbus 800 men, but the necessity of maintaining at least that many there is recognized.

Gen. Pershing requested more troops some time ago, but Gen. Funston hesitated to order them because, faced with the danger of weakening garrisoned and patrolled points along the border. He has authority to move such troops in his department as he wishes, but the strengthening of any point from another department rests with the war department.

WHY TROOPS ARE NEEDED.

Staff officers here were convinced some days ago that unless Villa was taken before he got beyond points within a short distance south of Satevo, the chances of getting him were remote. That point has been reached and Villa remains at large—or dead—and to that situation is added an undisguised hostility of various Carranza organizations that, army men here declare, makes doubly necessary the strengthening of Gen. Pershing's force.

But even with more troops the pursuit of Villa will be a slow and tedious job if his trail is extended south of the state of Chihuahua, in the opinion of army officers, who say that the trails beyond Satevo make increasingly difficult the operation of military supply trucks.

Additional troops are being sent to Gen. Pershing as much for the protection of those already in Mexico along the line of communications as to strengthen the mobile forces whipping the region south of Satevo.

Little actual work in the chase of Villa has been done since the American troops were forced into a fight in the environs of Parral. The forces of Gen. Pershing have occupied points from which concentration can be made rapidly and Gen. Pershing has established his field headquarters at Namiquipa, some distance north of Satevo.

AFFIRMS VILLA'S DEATH.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—The reports of Villa's death were indirectly confirmed here today by an American mining man who controls large interests in the Guerrero district. This man is in close touch with the American military authorities and has forwarded his information to Washington, he said.

"I know beyond any question that Villa was wounded at Guerrero. I have received my account of the affair from one in whom I have the fullest confidence. He tells me that Villa was shot through the right knee, the bullet killing his horse, which fell, pinning the bandit under it, and injuring his left leg. This was on March 20. After that I received daily reports about Villa's movements up to April 5, when he was at Satevo. Since then I have heard nothing about him. Knowing his condition and the certainty of his being wounded, I consider it highly probable that he is dead, as he assuredly could not have got any proper medical treatment."

Additional weight was given to this statement in view of the fact that the man who made it is frankly in favor of intervention and regards the death of Villa as a blow to his hopes, as it would mean the withdrawal of the American troops.

Invalids Back to Border.

Columbus, N. M., April 18.—Thirty-one sick and injured men were brought from the front today. Many of them had been treated in the field hospital in Colonia Dublan and were suffering from minor diseases. None was in a dangerous condition and none had been injured in action as was first reported, medical officers said.

Villa Chase at Standstill.

Camp of Gen. J. J. Pershing at the Front, April 17, by motor and wireless to Columbus, N. M., April 18.—The American pursuit of Villa is at a standstill because of the unprovoked attack upon American cavalrymen by the insubordinate soldiers of the Carranza garrison at Parral.

There seemed no prospect of the resumption of the chase, while there were numerous indications that a continuance of the pursuit would meet with armed resistance.

A small party of American officers was fired upon near here last night, none of the Americans being injured. This coming on the heels of other reports of sniping is responsible for the belief that the expeditionary command is confronted with a serious problem.

CLAIMS $93,000 ESTATE LEFT BY WOMAN RECLUSE.

Mrs. Marie Osborn of Indiana Village Asserts She Is Niece of Mrs Taagtge Schluetter.

When Mrs. Taagtge Schluetter died in her secluded home in Blue Island last week, leaving a fortune of $93,000, it was thought that her only relative was a niece in Germany. Yesterday Mrs. Marie Osborn of Lakeville, Ind., a village twelve miles from South Bend, began steps to acquire the money.

Mrs. Osborn said she is a niece of Mrs. Schluetter and that the latter disappeared from the family's knowledge a quarter of a century ago. As other close relatives of the Blue Island woman are dead, Mrs. Osborn believes the fortune should go to her.

It will not be scorned if it comes, she stated. Two months ago her husband William Osborn, went bankrupt and his store was placed in the hands of a receiver. That meant that Mrs. Osborn had to go to work.

Mrs. Schluetter was 83 years old.

Aged Manufacturer Hurt by Fall. Hiram Palmer, 85 years old, of 6830 Lowe avenue, manufacturer of metal polish, was severely injured yesterday when he fell down a flight of stairs in the rear of a building at 1433 East Marquette road.

Pre-eminent Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA is pre-eminent among the progressive commercial cities of the world. She produces and sells more articles of world-wide reputation, on the basis of quality rather than price, than any other city. Baldwin's, Stetson's, Cramps' and other enduring names contribute to her international commercial fame. Her huge textile factories and machine shops give her first place in American industry. And today she is more vigorously progressive—financially, industrially, commercially—than at any period of her history.

CONSIDER Philadelphia's commercial progress! She has more than 9000 manufacturing plants which produce 211 of the 264 articles made in the United States. Her skilled workers earn a monthly pay-roll of $45,000,000. They constitute almost the richest community in the whole world, and have given Philadelphia's 105 national banks, trust companies and saving societies deposits of $600,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA offers the national advertiser a rich and ever-widening market. The massive earnings and savings of its people, the 30,000 increase of population each year, the steady growth of its multitudinous commercial activities—all these are factors worthy of the advertiser's consideration. And the Public Ledger-Evening Ledger reach the concentrated purchasing power of this progressive pre-eminent Philadelphia.

CITY HALL JOBS PRICE OF PEACE FOR COOK G. O. P.

"Bill Will Have to Come Across," Edict of Opposition Committeemen.

"Bill will have to come across."

"Bill" is Mayor William Hale Thompson. Republican harmony in the new country committee depends largely on the mayor's ability and willingness to deliver to new committeemen their proportionate share of the city hall patronage. The "Bill will have to come across" ultimatum comes from ward committeemen who have tissue paper attachments either to the Deneen or the Brundage factions.

No county chairman was elected yesterday in the deadlocked Republican county convention. The session lasted for two minutes—just long enough for Roy O. West to move a recess until this afternoon. It was carried by unanimous vote.

Some Wobbly Committeemen.

The Deneen crowd has some wabbly committeemen, it is claimed. Each wabbly Deneen committeeman is offset by a trembler in the Brundage camp, so the Brundage managers believe. Meantime the city hall is exerting all its power to grab votes from the two opposing factions to assure control of the county committee.

Deneen and Brundage men went into a final conference late last night. It is understood there was a mutual understanding that nothing would be proposed that would eliminate the city hall. There was some trouble about agreeing on the scope of the conference. The difficulty seemed to lie in the probability that Frank O. Lowden and his managers hold the balance of power in the organization of the new state committee.

Col. Lowden and his cabinet, as late as 6 o'clock, had not determined whom they should support for state chairman. Deneen forces will insist upon the reëlection of Garrett Kinney of Peoria. They claim thirteen votes out of twenty-five. The combined opposition is split between Fred E. Sterling of Rockford and Charles P. Hitch of Paris.

Doubt Over Today's Results.

Opinions differed as to what may happen this afternoon. The committee of nine, three from each faction, will meet at 1 o'clock in the Otis building. The Deneen and the Brundage leaders will have reached an agreement or a disagreement. If it is an agreement, the city hall will have a chance to participate without prejudice, and a county chairman would be elected at the recessed county convention at 3 o'clock. If a disagreement, a recess likely will be taken until after the Peoria convention Friday.

NEBRASKA JOLTS SLATE OF BRYAN

Election of "Commoner" as a Delegate at Large to Convention in Doubt.

CANDIDATES DEFEATED

Omaha, Neb., April 18.—[Special.]—Nebraska's state primaries today, according to early returns, ended in the "turndown" of William J. Bryan's slate with the exception of Mr. Bryan himself, who may have been elected delegate at large to the St. Louis convention, although this is in doubt.

Henry Ford of Detroit is leading in the Republican presidential primary, with Senator Cummins a close second, and Justice Hughes third in the race. Hughes' name was not on the ballot, but was written in by his admirers. Henry D. Estabrook is low man on the Republican ballot, and is not expected to improve his position. The returns are meager in number, but are from widely different portions of the state.

Mr. Wilson had no opposition in the Democratic primaries. Returns already received give Senator Hitchcock for senator five to one over I. J. Dunn, Mr. Bryan's preferred candidate. Neville for governor is running three to one over Charles W. Bryan, William J.'s brother.

Cowboy Mayor Jim Dahlman of Omaha, Bryan's "dry" candidate for national committeeman, probably will go to defeat in the anti-Bryan landslide.

John L. Kennedy, Republican candidate for United States senator, is leading C. A. Aldrich, his chief opponent, two to one, but the returns are all from Kennedy's conceded district.

DUNNE SEEKS INDORSEMENT BY THE STATE CONVENTION.

Governor's Friends Rebel Over Plan of Sullivan Clan to Give All the Praise to Wilson.

Gov. Dunne's friend are preparing to react against an alleged understanding that the state administration is to be passed up in resolutions to be adopted at the Democratic state convention at Springfield on Friday.

From state administration sources it was learned last night that the governor is quite ready to seek a resolution giving a clean bill of health to his administration as well as to all Democrats who went into state office with him in 1913.

The scope of resolutions to be adopted on Friday has not been determined, according to reports from Sullivan managers, who will control the convention. The original purpose had been to give a definite indorsement to President Wilson and to postpone action on state matters until after a governor and other state officers are nominated at the September primaries.

SANITARY RULE EXTENDED.

No Lots in Cities or Sanitary Districts Can Be Sold Without Approval.

No lots within the boundaries of a municipality or a sanitary district can be sold until the water supply, sewerage, and drainage arrangements have the approval of the state board of health, it was announced yesterday in a bulletin issued by the department. Unless the source of supply of natural ice has the approval of the board it cannot be sold in the state, the board also rules. No sewerage system or water supply serving more than twenty-five people can be installed without the approval of the board.

DEMOCRATS WIN LOUISIANA.

R. G. Pleasant, Regular Candidate for Governor, Running Well Ahead of Opponent.

New Orleans, La., April 18.—Scattering returns from today's state election indicated Ruffin G. Pleasant, "regular" Democrat candidate for governor, was leading John M. Parker, Progressive-Independent Democrat, by about three votes to one. Fernand Mouton, Democrat, for lieutenant governor, was running close to the head of the ticket, while his opponent, Edwin S. Broussard, was polling about the same vote as Parker. The rest of the Democratic state ticket was unopposed.

Santa Fé, N. Fifteen delegates to the national convention in Chicago were pledged to vote only for Roosevelt. Sixteen counties were represented.

Conflicting Theories of Truck Design Versus Truck PERFORMANCE

THERE are four different types of final drive in motor trucks being advocated by their makers. Each has its merits—and demerits. It is impossible for the purchaser to determine their comparative values on a theoretical basis. He cannot reconcile the conflicting claims of rival engineers.

The wise buyer brushes aside mere theories of construction and selects the make which holds the record for performance. That is the only value he can know and the only value he can use. The White Truck record is reflected in its predominant annual sales—2 to 1 of any other make.

DANVILLE DRYS CLAIM VICTORY ON "RUSE" VOTE

New City Council Wet by 8 to 6—Option Elections in 21 Illinois Towns.

Danville drys claimed last night that they had turned the city dry and had banished its eighty saloons. The basis of their contention is that a dozen voters wrote in an anti-saloon vote in the face of a decision from the local board of election commissioners that had thrown out the original dry petition asking for a vote.

At the city election two wet aldermen were elected in place of two retiring drys, converting the new city council into an 8 to 6 lineup in favor of the wets, reversing the situation that has existed for a year. At last night's session of the city council a saloon license ordinance was introduced that will have final action by the new city council. The saloon question in "Uncle Joe's" town has been in a legal tangle for two years.

Vote in 21 Illinois Towns.

Local option elections were held in twenty-one Illinois municipalities yesterday, coincident with the annual city and village elections.

Momence, after a spectacular fight, remains in the dry column by a majority of thirty-nine, due to the women's votes.

Arenzville, Cass county, dry for two years, went wet by a majority of twenty-four.

Percy, Randolph county, with four saloons, voted dry by sixty-two majority.

Steeleville, in the same county, remained wet by thirty-two.

Atkinson, Henry county, remained dry by sixteen, keeping the county in the list of entirely dry counties.

Ashkum, Iroquois county, remained dry by thirty majority.

Chebanse, in the same county, stays in the dry column by more than 200 majority.

Deerfield is dry by ninety-two majority. It has been dry.

Worden, Madison county, remained wet by a vote of 255 to 134. The women voted 105 wet and 80 dry.

Nashville, county seat of Washington county, one of the important cities voting yesterday, remained wet by 146 majority. The dry women outvoted the wet women by nineteen votes.

Altamont voted dry by a majority of 80 votes. Mound township, in which Altamont is located, went into the dry column April 4 by a majority of 20 votes.

South Dakota Drys Win.

Mitchell, S. D., April 18.—Announcement tonight from the state headquarters of the Anti-Saloon league said saloons had been voted out of fourteen towns in today's elections on the license question, and eighteen of the larger towns had voted to remain dry. None of the towns voted to change from no license to license.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS WETS WIN.

Arlington Heights, which has always been "wet" territory, at the village election yesterday by a heavy vote decided to retain and support its five saloons. A total of 537 votes were cast for saloons and 338 ballots were counted in favor of closing the bars. Six years ago a vote was taken to make the village "dry," but it lost heavily.

Elections for a clerk and trustees, and in some instances members of the library board and police magistrate were held in villages throughout the county.

The "drys" won a victory at La Grange, the only other village to vote on the saloon question, when the voters decided in favor of remaining anti-saloon territory by a vote of 737 to 68.

Drops Dead at Father's Feet.

LILLIAN KJELLSTROM.

Rockford, Ill., April 18.—City Chemist Norris reported today the discovery of sufficient poison in the stomach of Lillian Kjellstrom to cause death. The girl dropped dead Sunday at the feet of her father in their home here. Believing that possibly Miss Kjellstrom swallowed poison while despondent over the alleged refusal of Ross Wagner to marry her, Coroner McAllister has ordered the city chemist to continue his investigation to the girl's throat and tongue, to learn whether additional traces of poison can be found.

EVANSTON SHUTS FOUR BLIND PIGS BY ANNEXATION

Votes to Take Over 300 Adjoining Acres—Suburban Elections.

Elections were held in Cook county villages yesterday.

By annexing 300 acres north and west of the former Evanston limits the voters of the suburb made relics of four blind pigs. Walter Schuett defeated Christ Witt for alderman from the Fifth ward in the only contest. Samuel Topliss, Robert F. Pettibone, David G. Robertson, Wirt E. Humphrey, C. Ernest Guyton, and Malcom B. Sterrett were elected in the other wards.

Wheaton adopted the commission form of government, largely through the work of the women, it was announced by Mrs. W. G. Coffey, secretary of the Wheaton Civic club. Seven hundred and seventy-two votes were recorded favoring the change and 582 against it, the largest vote ever polled in the community.

Voliva Carries Zion City.

Zion City will be dominated by the church again, through the complete victory of Voliva's Theocratic party. The aldermen elected are George Bright, Percy Robinson, Grover Leech, E. J. Klammer, and H. J. Peterson.

Glen Ellyn was carried by the union, the so-called rich man's party, by a vote of nearly five to one over the independents. The following were elected: E. Stanley Wagner, clerk; Jesse R. Wagner, Oscar O. Mertz, and Lawrence V. Calhoun, trustees, and Mrs. Francis Hopper and Mrs. Clyde F. Burns, library directors. About 750 votes were cast, 300 of them by women. Women supporters of the unionists provided a free lunch "emporium" near the polling place.

Other Suburban Elections.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS—Clerk, Edward Greenburg; trustees, John C. Sigwald, C. H. Meyer, and George Kleim Sr.

Why We Changed to Red Tires—And Why You Should, Too

Four years ago we tried red rubber as a tougher tire material than gray rubber. Empires are the first and only all red tires.

Empire Reds simply put it all over gray tires—even our own—in service and satisfaction. So we switched altogether to Reds, knowing that we can give you a tire of greater mileage. But Empire prices are practically the same as last year.

Empire Tires RED WEAR LONGEST

Other makers have caught the red idea, too, and you can get all sorts of combinations. But don't let color blind you to service. We make Empire Reds for wear—that is the significance of the color. They dress up your car, too, but that is incidental.

Adjustments are made on the 5,000-mile basis.

AUTO DEALERS WANT CHANCE TO RACE CARS

BY J. C. BURTON.

"How much am I bid for the winning mount, gentlemen?"

This is the cry, revived from the golden day when "Boots and Saddles" was not censored music, that may be heard at the Chicago speedway late in the afternoon of May 20, the date of the Western Interclub race for amateur drivers.

For the suggestion has been made by C. H. Foster, manager of the local Cadillac branch, and heartily approved by several other Chicago automobile agents, that a selling race be made an added feature of the opening meet of the local season, the event to be open to motor car dealers, and the entries to be sold at the track as soon as the checkered flag drops on the victor.

Dealers May Not Compete.

According to the rules for the amateur race, dealers are barred from competing for the Western Interclub trophy. There is considerable rivalry among the agents along automobile row, however, and to afford them an opportunity to settle their much moted questions of supremacy, the contest board of the Chicago Automobile club and the officials of the Speedway Park association are seriously considering the promotion of a speed feud for tradesmen.

In order to stage this event the sanction for the amateur race will have to be amended by the contest board of the American Automobile association. To obtain this amendment a petition now is being circulated among the dealers and the following have agreed to enter one or more cars:

C. H. Foster, Cadillac; P. J. Ford Jr., Haynes; Emil J. Krimsky, Buick; Al and Ed Schillo, Mercer; P. T. Hinman, Lexington; Eugene Silver, Cole, and J. C. Erbst, Apperson.

Others Take Up Project.

In addition to those who have signed the petition the agents for other makes of cars now have the matter under consideration and the following have promised a definite answer this week: Velie, National, Winton, Mitchell, Simplex, Davis, and Standard.

The proposed dealers' race will consist of preliminary heats, each thirty miles in distance, and a fifty mile final. The contest for the trade should be the ultimate syllable in spirited competition as the rivalry between the agents is intense and each driver would be out for blood.

To Invade South America.

Ray Harroun, winner of the first 500 mile race at Indianapolis, inventor of the kerosene carburetor, and former engineer of the Maxwell company, may invade South America this spring with Ernie Moross, impresario of dirt track meets, who will take a flock of drivers and cars to the Latin republics to interrupt the afternoon siestas of the natives with speed thrills.

Moross has a tentative agreement with Harroun whereby the latter is to accompany him south of the equator in June and consider the possibilities of manufacturing and assembling automobiles and motor tractors in Brazil and the Argentine republic.

Before he sails Moross hopes to dispose of the Blitzen Benz II., a twin brother of the famous car in which Barney Oldfield and Bob Burman established world's straightaway records on the Daytona-Ormond beach.

NAVY LEAGUERS SEE SPORT SHOW

Three hundred and forty persons, members of the Navy League of America, journeyed to the Naval Training station at Lake Bluff to see the athletic show staged by Commandant Moffet and the jackies.

Moffet delivered an address thanking the Navy League of America for its coöperation in making the station a feeding institution for our fleets.

William Mather Lewis, mayor of Lake Forest and secretary of the Navy league, urged further preparedness, and referred to the jackies as an example of the men the United States will have to rely upon in case of trouble.

The visitors were entertained by a drill in the armory and swimming events, of which Instructor Cox of the C. A. A. had charge. Boxing and wrestling contests followed.

Among those making the trip were Chief Justice Harry Olson, J. O. Heyworth, John T. Stone, Charles Postl, Harry A. Gross, R. Dean, C. A. Cairns, Dr. Paul C. Grabo, Dr. Walter Mack, L. M. Campbell, H. B. Loucks, and Stanley Milter. Summaries:

NO NEED FOR CADDY; GET CADDYLESS BAG, INVENTION BY CADY

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Coincident with the report of a possible increase in the price of golf clubs comes the announcement of a caddyless bag, the invention of John D. Cady, millionaire sportsman of Moline, president of the Western Golf association in 1912 and 1913, and winner of the trans-Mississippi championship in 1914.

Cady is an all-the-year golfer, and plays during those periods of the season in which fear of the probation officers keeps most of the caddies at school. Having to bear the burden of his own clubs caused Cady to crank up the machinery of his inventive genius. The result is a golfing perambulator.

The principle is similar to that of a two wheeled truck, but the construction is more ornate and fits well with the latest golfing toggery and the landscape. At the base are two metal wheels and at the top is a handle.

Player Drags Machine.

When following his ball the player drags the machine on which his bag reclines over the course. When he arrives at the spot for his next shot a device at the top releases two metal legs which rest on the ground, leaving the caddy bag inclined at an angle of 45 degrees, from which position the player has easy access to any club he may want without having to stoop over. This feature will appeal to veteran golfers whose vertebral columns no longer possess the elasticity of youth.

When the shot is completed the player again grabs the handle, the legs fold under the bag, and he again goes on his way for "wheel or woe."

Here's Club for Wild Man.

From Newark, N. J., comes another report of an invention by John L. Hudson, who probably inherited his genius from some of his famous forebears. It is a nonpullable and nonsliceable club, with which the wildest driver can make the unruly sphere eat out of his hand.

This result is arrived at by putting a biconcave face on the club, which permits more of the surface of the ball to be covered when the stroke is made. This recalls the fact that many years ago a famous eastern player invented a club for which he claimed similar virtues. He sold the rights to the unsuspecting head of an eastern house.

Press Golfers Play Today.

The first monthly tournament of the Chicago Press Golf association will be held today at the Calumet Country club.

The event will be an eighteen hole medal play handicap for a cup presented by Paul D. Hammett of the Drovers Journal. A medal will be given for low gross score and ten other prizes will be given for other net scores.

BEGIN A. A. F. INDOOR MEET.

Play in the Amateur Athletic federation indoor baseball championship tournament started last night. The semifinals will be played tomorrow night and the final game Saturday night in the Central Y. M. Armour Sqs...0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 2 1

The Polish-American A. C. swamped the Central Park Methodists at Hamlin park, winning, 10 to 2, by bunching hits in the last two innings. Klonoski fanned twenty-two. Score:

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER

"THAT REMINDS ME—"

CHARLES E. VAN LOAN stopped in Chicago on Monday en route from New York City to Los Angeles, Cal. He denied that there was any political significance in his visit.

Mr. Van Loan was met at the La Salle street station by the Parmelees and escorted to Hotel La Salle on Madison Street. His baggage, consisting of a typewriter, was taken to his room by a bellhop, whom Charles tipped with the story of the two Irishmen and the Swede. As soon as he had washed his hands, Mr. Van Loan went to the general store on State street and bought $34 worth of hosiery, a commodity not yet procurable in Los Angeles. After telling the salesman the story of the two Negroes, he returned to his hotel and called up numerous friends to tell them the story of the Canadian and the two Belgians.

* *

At 12:30 he took lunch on some friends and told them the story about the three Lithuanians and the prairie dog, the one about the king of Samoa and the five Scotchmen, the one about the Italian and the eight Boers, and the one about the two Americans visiting in Gary.

After luncheon he stopped at a typewriter supply store on Clark Street and bought some gas and oil, pausing after the purchase to tell the clerk the story of the two Southerners in Georgia.

It was then suggested that the ball game be taken in. A Chicago friend of Mr. Van Loan's, one Mr. Shaw, provided a car and a driver for the trip. At Mr. Van Loan's solicitation a stop was made at the downtown ticket office of a well known west bound railroad, where reservations were supposed to have been made.

* *

Mr. Van Loan had, on last Friday, given the porter of the Claridge in New York City the price of a telegram to Chicago and instructions to wire for the desired space. The porter had evidently spent fifty cents on gin and a penny on a postcard to take the place of the telegram, but the postcacrd had not yet reached Chicago and the entire train had been sold out.

Mr. Van Loan then summoned Gen. Passenger Agent and told him fourteen stories in twenty-eight dialects. This resulted in the General's producing a compartment from here to Kansas City, a section from Kansas City to Winslow, and an upper from Winslow to the Canyon. From the Canyon, where Mr. Van Loan will stop and get a cup of coffee, the balance of the journey is just a short walk. At Los Angeles, the traveler will change his hosiery; then he will hurry back to New York to arrange for the murder of the porter at the Claridge.

In addition to the sleeping car accommodations, the railroad official provided a letter of introduction to the Pullman conductor in order to insure to Mr. Van Loan at least one listener on the long trip.

Several of the dialect stories were of good length and when the session in the railroad office was at an end, it was plain five o'clock and almost too late to start for the ball park. Two Chicagoans, who had been Mr. Van Loan's constant companions since 12:30 and had taken an enormous amount of punishment, quit cold at this stage and called in fresh men to listen through the dinner hour and until train time.

Ouimet, Golf Star, Declared a Pro.

BOSTON, Mass., April 18.—Francis Ouimet, who startled the golf world by defeating Harry Vardon and Edward Ray for the national open championship at Brookline in 1913, is no longer eligible for amateur competition. This notice was served on him by M. Lewis Crosby of the executive committee of the United States Golf association, representing the Boston district. John H. Sullivan Jr., Ouimet's business partner, is also ineligible. Ouimet and his partner are held to be professionals because they are making money out of golf by selling sporting goods.

NEW SPEEDWAY FOR SOUTH.

Birmingham, Ala., April 18.—Ground has been broken for the construction of a $1,000,000 automobile speedway, which will encircle the lake on the Birmingham Motor and Country club grounds. It probably will be completed this fall when a speed contest with leading drivers of the United States participating is planned.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

BY RAY C. PEARSON.

EVER HAMMER, who is billed to scrap Champion Freddie Welsh at Milwaukee next Monday night, nicked one on the chin yesterday. At least that's what his manager, Kid Howard, said in dictating the stuff for "immediate use" in the dailies. Ever boxed with Jimmy Travers, Frank Carsey, and Tommy Scully, then took on a newcomer from the northwest side who travels under the moniker of Cyclone Kid. The first round of this setto was hardly a blow, but in the second Hammer cut loose and banged the Cyclone on the jaw. When Cyclone woke up he wanted to know if the roof was off the cellar. The person with the noisy name is a Dane.

Swaylegs Emil Thiry, who brought Packey McFarland out of "retirement" to cop a big chunk of jack for fighting Mike Gibbons at New York not so long ago, thinks he can do the trick again. Thiry wants to match Packey against the winner of the Ted Lewis-Jack Britton mixup at New Orleans Monday night. Crescent City promoters would like the match and have bid $12,500 for McFarland's services. The latest information is that Packey demands $15,000. In the meantime the fans may wait to see if the promoters come across.

Smooth Tommy Walsh, who is looking after the affairs of a newcomer in this neck of the woods, Red Dolan by name, thinks Red is going to make a hit when he hooks up with some of the lightweights around here. Walsh may send Dolan against Maurice Flynn in a prelim to the show at Kenosha next Tuesday night, in which Johnny Coulon and Johnny Ritchie are billed for the windup, if Flynn is willing.

Nate Lewis probably will be in Battling Levinsky's corner when the New Yorker stacks up against Jack Dillon in their fifteen round scrap at Kansas City next Tuesday night. Noiseless Danny Morgan, Levinsky's manager, according to a report from Gotham, is going to place the heavyweight in Lewis' hands, as he must go to New Orleans to look after Jack Britton in his battle with Ted Lewis. In a letter from Morgan yesterday he advised wagering the family jewels on Levinsky.

Joe Burger, who aside from fighting likes to smile better than anything else, has been matched to box Eddie Corbett in a ten rounder in private Sunday afternoon. They're to go to a decision at 122 pounds.

MAT WELLS BEATS MURPHY.

Boston, Mass., April 18.—[Special.]—Mat Wells of England defeated Eddie Murphy of South Boston in the opening fight show at the Atlas A. A. in twelve rounds tonight. Wells had Murphy beaten all the way.

BY MAROON.

The University of Chicago nine drove Emil Richter, former Cub pitcher, from the slab in three innings and piled up enough runs to defeat the Western Electrics, 9 to 8, at Stagg field yesterday. Capt. Spike Shull went the distance for the Maroons and held his opponents to five hits. His wildness got him in several bad holes, the worst of which came in the ninth, but the giant hurler pulled through each pinch. Shull brought in three scores with a two bagger with the bases full in the third. The Maroons will play Armour institute at Stagg field today in their last game before they open against the Badgers at Madison on Saturday. Score:

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Convalescing overnight from their nervous prostration of the day before, the White Sox settled down simultaneously yesterday and handed the St. Louis Browns a clean cut wallop without an alibi in it by a score of 7 to 2.

Offensively and defensively the Rowlands put up a game that could not be beaten even by Dame Fortune, who frowned on the local athletes occasionally. They hammered the ball persistently, driving Bob Groom off the slab inside of two rounds, and they backed up Red Faber, who was tagged resonantly at times, with a perfection and agility that gave the Iowa spitballer all the confidence in the world.

The White Sox gave a correct imitation of the busy bee and improved two early innings so fruitfully that they had the game well in hand by a margin of 5 to 0 before the second spasm became a part of history. In that time they massed five swats of varied lengths on Groom, who used to fool them when he wore a Washington uniform. Those safe pokes, helped out by some bases on balls, were good for a quintet of tallies and the Rowlands maintained that lead in spite of the fact they had little success with the curves of two recruits whom Manager Jones sent against them too late.

First Full Game for Faber.

Faber pitched his first nine innings of the year and got better as the game progressed. He was swatted harder in the early rounds than later on, but his support was brilliant. John Collins, Weaver, Jackson, and Felsch came to his rescue with sterling plays that killed off runs as well as base hits.

In the second inning, when the Browns lambasted Faber as hard as they did in any round, not a man reached first base. Pratt began it by sloughing a vicious liner over Eddie Collins' head. John Collins raced in and cinched it on the run at imminent risk of losing his balance. Deal then cut a fast one along the left foul line, but Weaver knocked it down and recovered in time to get his man at first. Felsch came to the rescue in the third with a swell peg to the plate which kept a Brown run from scoring on a single to center.

By waiting out their turns at bat the Browns collected two runs later on, but as fast as they gathered them the White Sox got them back, maintaining their five run margin to the finish in spite of all the militia called out by Manager Jones, who used up fifteen men without avail.

Quartet of Sox Slug Hard.

Weaver, Eddie Collins, Fournier, and Faber made eight of the eleven hits achieved by the Rowlands, each of them registering two safeties. Fournier and J. Collins ripped off triples.

The Rowlands started winning in the first inning. Weaver pulled a double into right field with one out, made third on a passed ball, and scored when E. Collins lofted a fly to deep left. Fournier whaled a long one on the wings of the wind almost into the right field bleachers. Tobin raced back and got under the ball on the incline that leads to the screen, but could not hold the pill, and Jack made three bags on it. Jackson scored him with a hot drive to left. John Collins flew the side out.

Groom wabbled in the second and the Sox profited to the extent of three runs. Schalk was pegged out, then Terry and Faber worked Groom for passes. Felsch pulled a single into left, scoring Terry. Weaver forced Felsch at second. Eddie Collins walked, filling the bags; then Fournier tore off a single to right on which Faber and Weaver registered. McCabe relieved Groom and disposed of Jackson on a bounder.

J. Collins Dies on Third.

John Collins opened the third with a ringing three bagger almost into the left field seats, but nothing came of it. Schalk slammed a liner at McCabe, who knocked it down and threw him out. Terry also hit to McCabe and J. Collins perished at the plate. Faber whiffed the side out.

Although the Browns were hitting the pill precisely, they did not get anywhere until the fourth. Then a pass to Marsans paved the way to their first run. Pratt followed with a single. Deal forced Pratt at second, letting Marsans score from third. The next two were easy. Marsans once more started trouble with a single in the sixth before anybody was out. Pratt drew a pass and Deal's out advanced the enemy runners to third and second. Severoid drove a fly into left field that Marsans scored on the catch. And that was all for the Browns.

Singles by Faber, Weaver, and E. Collins scored a Sox run in the sixth. The Rowlands added a smokeless tally in the seventh on errors by Pratt and Park and Schalk's sacrifice fly.

ROWLAND RELEASES ELLER TO MOLINE 3 EYES CLUB.

Horace Eller was released to the Moline club yesterday by Manager Rowland, reducing the White Sox pitching staff to the limit that will be carried all season. Eller came to Chicago from Moline with a world of speed but little else. He started learning the spit ball and pretty well mastered it during the training trip, but Manager Rowland figured he needed another year in which to perfect himself before taking a fling at the big fellows. Eller's release leaves Rowland with nine slabmen, six of them right handers.

CANADA BARS TWO CUBANS.

Seattle, Wash., April 18.—Two Cuban ball players, J. Acosta, pitcher, and Jacques Calvo, outfielder, have been refused permission to enter Canada to join the Vancouver club of the Northwest league because they lack passports from the Cuban government. Acosta played with a semi-professional team in the east last year.

SOX SYDELIGHTS

St. Louis once more today.

Last home game for the White Sox until May 4.

The Rowlands will leave tonight for Detroit to start a swing around the western end of the circuit that will include twelve games if all are played.

Faber made his second hit with nobody out in the eighth inning. Felsch foozled one attempt to bunt, then hit into a double play started by Deal.

Yesterday's scrap was finished in a little over two hours, which was a marked improvement over anything that has been staged since the opening day of the season. There was more action than stalling.

Threatening weather with low hanging clouds made the conditions bad, as it was too dark to see plainly at times. The outfielders had the toughest time picking out line drives against the dark background of the grand stand.

Weaver stole a base hit from Borton, who batted for McCabe in the seventh. The former Sox first sacker soaked a hot one at Weaver's feet. Buck smothered it, but had to make a couple of grabs before he could pick up the ball. Then he winged it to first a step ahead of Borton.

With Weaver on third, Eddie Collins on first, and two out in the sixth the White Sox tried to pull a double steal by having Collins get caught napping off first. Eddie pulled the throw to first all right, then tore for second. Sisler held the ball so long that Eddie thought he could beat it, but Sisler fired to second in time to nip him before Weaver could get across the pan.

Faber wavered a bit in the third and passed McCabe and Shotten with only one man out. Tobin responded with a single over second. McCabe tried to score from second on it, but Felsch grabbed the ball on the first hop and shot it home on a line. The bound at the plate was bad, but Schalk went out and got the ball, then threw himself flat and tagged McCabe on the shin before the runner could touch the plate.

SENATORS WIN FROM RED SOX AT BOSTON; FIRST TIME SINCE '14

Boston, Mass., April 18.—For the first time since 1914 Washington defeated the Boston Americans in Hubtown, the score being 4 to 2. Last season the teams played eleven games at Fenway park, all won by Boston.

Timely hitting by the visitors coupled with first class pitching by Harper gave Washington the victory. In both the first and second innings the first batsman singled, and eventually scored. A pass, a steal, and a single gave Washington a run in the eighth, while a muff by Janvrin, a sacrifice, and a hit sent the last one home in the final session. Lewis drove in Boston's two runs in the eighth with a double. Score:

TIGERS WIN ON LONG HITS, NOSING OUT INDIANS, 4 TO 3

Cleveland, O., April 18.—Triples by Vitt and Veach allowed Detroit to overcome Cleveland's early lead and win, 4 to 3. Cleveland knocked Coveleskie from the slab in the first, but could do little with Dubuc. The Indians filled the bases with only one out in the eighth, but Cobb caught Howard's fly and doubled Speaker at the plate. Score:

New York, April 18.—New York won the first game of its series from Philadelphia, 4 to 2. Shawkey, former Athletic pitcher, was on the slab for New York, and fine support offset his wildness. Special Cars for Sox Rooters.

White Sox fans who intend to go to Cleveland with the Woodlawn Bards to see the opening game of the series in the Ohio city Monday are requested to make their reservations at once, so that enough Pullmans can be attached to the train leaving over the Lake Shore at 11:15 p. m. Edward G. Heeman, Board of Trade, is in charge of arrangements.

Tinker's Cubs Back in Town; Prepare Today for Redlegs

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Joe Tinker and his 1916 model Cubs came into Chicago last night under cover of darkness, beating their scheduled arrival by twelve hours, which was the biggest beating they have given anything this spring. They brought with them their two victories and their four defeats, and after putting on a dress rehearsal at Weeghman park today they will be ready to appear before the home folks in the big opening on the north side tomorrow.

The reason for their home coming ahead of time was a lot of rain in St. Louis, which prevented their battling the Cardinals yesterday. It rained so much in the early morning hours that the game was postponed at 10:30 a. m. There was a train for Chicago at noon and Manager Tinker ordered everybody to get aboard.

Mulligan Comes Today.

The only one who didn't come was Eddie Mulligan, our kid shortstop, and he was given permission to wait until the night train, as he had some business matters in St. Louis, his home town, which needed attention. He will arrive this morning and take part in the day's rehearsal.

Having a record so far which is nothing to brag about, the boys were considerably disappointed because of the postponement in St. Louis. They would rather have remained there and taken a gambler's chance on winning the final game, thus bringing back another victory and a considerably improved record. Being just like fellows in a poker game, they hate to see the session end while they are behind.

Shift in Lineup Possible.

There is a possibility that Tinker will have to make a shift in his lineup for the opening game here, as it is not unlikely that Leslie Mann and Steve Yerkes will draw suspensions for their quarrel with Umpire Byron Monday.

There is some doubt as to the pitcher who will face the Reds tomorrow. If yesterday's game had been played Claude Hendrix would have been on the slab and George McConnell would have appeared for the home opening. Now it is possible Hendrix will draw the job for the big day, giving Big George another day of rest before being called out.

Gala Doings for Opening.

Opening day at Weeghman park tomorrow is expected to be the gala baseball occasion of the season. The Rooters' club has arranged for one of the swellest programs ever held in connection with an inaugural baseball game. All the frills that accompany such an event have been planned, and inclement weather will be the only drawback.

The big pre-game feature will be the automobile parade from Grant park to the ball grounds. The procession will start northward at 1 o'clock, and in the line will be representatives of all the leading clubs in the city. Garry Herrmann and the invading Redlegs will be conspicuous near the front line of paraders. Bands also will be there to lend noise to the affair.

Warns Against Scalpers.

Fear that scalpers are expecting to profit by the large crowd caused President Weeghman to issue this statement:

"With the large crowd that will attend the game, it is certain there will be some attempts at ticket scalping. This cannot be helped, but the fans can see to it that the scalper lose money if they refuse to be held up."

FIRST DEFEAT FOR BRAVES, PHILLIES TURNING TRICK.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 18.—Boston suffered its first defeat in the pennant race this season, Philadelphia winning, 4 to 0. Alexander kept Boston's hits scattered, while Rudolph was knocked off the slab in six innings. Niehoff drove in three of the home team's runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly.

Alwood Illinois Captain.

Urbana, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—C. G. Alwood of Canton tonight was elected captain of the University of Illinois basketball team for 1917. He played center on the Illinois five this year.

SEMI-PRO NOTES

Normal Park will open its gates Sunday with Frank Ragen's Colts as the attraction.

Harold O'Hare, the former W.-I. leaguer, has signed with Manager Jack Hooker to play first base for the White Rocks. The team looks as if it will regain the popularity it enjoyed under John Mackey's leadership several years ago.

Buck Veiner intends to clean up a majority of his games on the road this year if a good pitching staff will turn the trick. He has signed Joe Neimeyer, whose work with Waukegan the last three years has made that club one of the best in the state.

Big Ed Almquist, one of the stars of the local semi-pro field, has been signed by Manager John Rogers for his Rogers Parks. He will play his first game Sunday when the Rogers Parks clash with the Rex Tigers at Forty-second and Chicago avenues.

Magnates are having a hard time booking this year, several big games being canceled late Monday night. Rogers Park was scheduled at Joliet, but switched to the Rex Tigers instead. Jimmy Hutton also was canceled by the White Giants and grabbed the open date at Joliet, the Chicago Leland Giants moving into the White Giants' date. Another club to switch at the last minute was the Dodger A. C., which canceled at Niles, Mich., and signed with Roseland.

BY PREP.

La Grange won its second Suburban High School league contest yesterday, defeating Proviso High, 13 to 10, in a slam-bang affair on the victor's lot. La Grange, however, will have to buck against a protest to be filed by Coach Brinkerhoff. In the fourth round, which produced six runs for La Grange, Bryan hit at a third strike, which Catcher Peters missed. Nelson was on first at the time with only one out. Umpire Corsant permitted Bryan to remain at first, while Anderson went to second. Dull, who started as pitcher for Proviso and then switched to first baseman, suffered a broken left thumb trying to catch a pop fly. Conklin succeeded him. Score:

MAPS LAIRS OF CHICAGO CROOKS

CRIME ZONES SHIFTING.

The bold, bad man is hereafter to be located with the same geographical precision as Asia and Australia—on the map.

For two "crime" maps for the public welfare of the city are now ready. They are the efforts of Mrs. Louise Osborne Rowe and her bureau of surveys and the police. The haunts of criminals and the lairs of crooks in Chicago are all located by colored dots on the maps.

When one wants a peaceful stroll or when adventure is desired, it can be managed easily by reference to the map, avoiding or entering the localities indicated as safe or dangerous. It is all simple.

Maps in Public Welfare Office.

The maps are perhaps five feet square and will hang in the office of the public welfare department in the City Hall Square building for all to see.

One map shows the crime districts and location of different kinds of crimes based on criminal complaint records for 1915.

The second map indicates zones of crime for the last two years, showing how danger regions have shifted and so on.

Stars for Police Stations.

The "crime" map is colorful with stars and circles of red for burglary, green for larceny, purple for robbery, and blue for mixed crimes. Stars represent police stations, numbers, the precincts, and division lines show boundaries of the police precincts.

The greatest number of crimes, according to the map, were committed in precinct No. 1, with quarters at 180 North La Salle street. The ten green circles show that 1,000 cases of larceny had been reported at this police station, with 400 robberies, 250 burglaries, and 50 or more cases of other violence in 1915.

The Thirty-eighth precinct was a close second to No. 1. This is Chicago avenue district. The circles show 600 cases of larceny, 500 burglaries, and 250 robberies.

Safety Out South.

Precincts far south, with the exception of the Twelfth at 6344 Harper avenue, where 400 larcenies, 300 robberies, and 150 burglaries had been reported, are on the whole safe retreats.

Another wicked precinct is the Fifth, with a station at 454 East Thirty-fifth street. It had 500 cases of larceny, 400 burglaries, and 275 robberies.

The Twenty-first precinct, in which the Maxwell street police station is located, had 650 burglaries, 250 larcenies, and about 350 robberies.

The Thirty-fifth precinct was not a peaceful place, either. At the police station at 2138 North California avenue 425 burglaries, 250 larcenies, 100 mixed crimes, and 50 burglaries kept the officers on the jump.

MAYOR'S AID EX-CONVICT?

Councilmen Find Kantor Is the Kantor Sentenced for Confidence Game.

Ald. Robert M. Buck's subcommittee of the council committee on school, fire, police, and civil service yesterday reported that John M. Kantor, stump speaker for the Thompson forces and chief investigator in the city attorney's office, is the same John M. Kantor who was sentenced by Judge Walker May 2, 1904, to two months in the county jail on a charge of a confidence game.

The subcommittee turned over to the main committee court and jail records.

"It's not true," Kantor said. "I didn't even live in Chicago in 1904. But even if it were true, what difference would it make?"

ARRIVAL OF CHIMPANZEE BRINGS ZOO RIOT AT CIRCUS.

His name is Hughes [because he has whiskers], and he is a full blooded and full grown chimpanzee, one of the rarest members of the illustrious monkey family. His advent in the glass inclosed chimpanzee cage in the Ringling menagerie was not attended by any profuse welcome from "Grandma," the other Ringling "chimp." "Grandma" had occupied her open faced bungalow for so long that she immediately resented any intrusion. Within an exceedingly short space of time a grand "clem," which is circus jargon for fight, was in progress. "Grandma" had all the best of the argument until Charlie Smith, boss animal man, took a hand. He finally managed to separate the pair, at the cost of having both arms bitten and a new silk shirt torn to shreds. While Smith was arguing with "Grandma" "Mr. Hughes" escaped into Wabash avenue. A delegation of animal men captured him at the corner of Eighteenth and Wabash, where he had taken refuge in a tobacco store.

DOWER RIGHT COMES FIRST.

Ante-Nuptial Agreement, Judge Horner Holds, Takes Second Place.

Her fight for $200,000 brought an incomplete victory yesterday to Mrs. Helen L. Greenlee, 32 year old widow of Robert Lemuel Greenlee, the foundryman, who last September left an estate rated at $800,000. Mrs. Greenlee, seeking to invalidate an ante-nuptial agreement wherein she had promised to accept $80,000 at Greenlee's death, declared that when the agreement was made the coming of children was not expected. Three children were born. Judge Horner ruled that an ante-nuptial agreement cannot deprive a widow of her award.

DIPLOMA MILL FOR PHYSICIANS LAID TO DOCTORS

ONE MAN UNDER ARREST.

Grand jury action against several physicians alleged to be involved in the issuance of fraudulent diplomas from a medical school of high standing is rumored in the Criminal Court building.

All the evidence is said to have been presented to the grand jury in the last few days, and last night it was reported indictments will be returned this morning, or not later than tomorrow, naming two men as the principals and two others as accessories. All the men accused are Italian physicians with large practices, except one, who is the son of a well known south side physician.

The physicians whose names are involved in the investigation are:

DR. AMOS DEFEO.
DR. GAETONA RONGA, 1200 McAllister place.
DR. AMANLI RONGETTI, 923 Blue Island avenue.
DR. JOSEPH GLASER.

Stolen Medical Diplomas.

Some months ago ten diplomas of the medical school of Marquette university, Milwaukee, Wis., were stolen. Three of them have reappeared in the possession of students who, fearing they would not be able to pass examinations in the medical schools they were attending, are said to have paid money for them. The diplomas are said to have been quoted as high as $400 each.

Two of them were found by the Missouri state board of health when holding its examination for licensing physicians, and one by the Illinois state board of health in a like way. The latter board has a fourth diploma under investigation, but no trace of the other six has been found.

Warrants Taken Out.

At the instance of the state board of health warrants were taken out in the Municipal court yesterday by attachés of the state's attorney's office for the arrest of two men, the technical charge being the operation of a confidence game.

One warrant was for the arrest of Joseph Glaser, son of Dr. George M. Glaser, president of the stockyards branch of the Chicago Medical society. He was arrested early last night at his home, 3149 South Morgan street, by detectives of the state's attorney's office and taken to the detective bureau. Later he was taken to the home of Judge Arnold Heap, where his mother signed bonds of $1,500 for his appearance today.

Father Held Blameless.

Dr. Glaser is said by officials of the state board of health to have been in absolute ignorance of the alleged sale of diplomas and of the part his son is accused of having had in the transactions.

The three diplomas found so far were held by August Steinloge, living near St. Louis; Dr. Alfred Noble Gray, formerly of Worth, Ill., and more recently of St. Louis, and Vincenzo Scalette, 510 North May street, Chicago. Scalette has been the chief witness questioned by the state board of health regarding the alleged frauds and he is said to have been the chief witness before the grand jury.

WIFE THINKS DR. NELLES HAS TAKEN NEW BRIDE.

Oak Park Man Seeking Annulment Has Same Name as Man Who Wedded Hairdresser.

"Earl Nelles, 32, clerk, Oak Park," may have taken on a bundle of trouble when he took on a bride at Crown Point, described as "Susie Conway, 19, hairdresser, Chicago."

Mrs. Hazel Jones Nelles of 1176 South Oak Park avenue is the wife of Dr. J. E. Earle Nelles. He is trying to obtain an annulment of his marriage to her on the grounds that he was intoxicated at the time of the ceremony. Mrs. Nelles says her husband is the only Earle Nelles in Oak Park. This and other facts have put her on his trail as a man with an extra wife.

Investigation has developed that about three weeks ago Susie Conway opened a beauty parlor across the hall from the offices of Dr. Earle Nelles at 900 South Oak Park avenue. The doctor has not been seen since the Crown Point incident of three days ago.

TOP NOTCHERS AT THE PALACE

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

Mr. Travers, the moving picture star, swerves temporarily from his orbit to join the meaner gems which stud variety's girdle at the Palace. You see him first leaving the Essanay firmament (in photographs) with thousands of his fellow suns swarming around his chariot and shouting good wishes for a pleasant journey to the lesser realms. Mr. Henry Walthall, Mr. Sidney Ainsworth, Miss Edna Mayo, and countless others climb upon the running board, deporting themselves so feverishly that they appear to be under the influence of developing fluid. His speedy progress, unmindful of motorcycle cops, open bridges, et cetera, brings him quickly to the Palace, and as the screen ascends he glides upon the stage in his car and becomes audible.

Mr. Travers' green and white sport shoes seemed to interest the matinée audience more than did his monologue, which was rather drearily autobiographical. He is not, perhaps, a brilliant raconteur. At least you feel that conversation with him might, after a while, be abandoned with no great reluctance. Yet he is modest, self-deprecatory, lustrous as to person and habiliment, and he strives to please. The observation of an eminent cynic that patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel finds easy paraphrase in the theater these days. And so such indifference as may exist toward Mr. Travers' personal memoirs is dispelled when he intones, to the accompaniment of the band, certain sane, star spangled, and aquiline stanzas entitled "Wake Up, America." He goose-steps from the stage to great applause, leaving those present, however, reconciled to the fact that he is usually to be seen, not heard.

Togan and Geneva—Gabby wire walkers who have a spectacular finish to a dull act.

Dyer and Fay—Fly burlesquers who know pretty well the intricate ways of vaudeville travesty. Twenty minutes of good fun.

Wilfred Clarke and company—They grow hot and breathless in a rheumatic farce, the scrutiny of which ages you.

Cross and Josephine—They are mannerly dancers, songsters, and jesters and they belong in the vaudeville patriciate.

William Rock and Frances White—Mr. Rock's new associate is a pert little sprite who, it is said, he discovered in Bakersfield, Cal. She has intuition, a bizarre individuality, and the knack of strange, effective dress. A refreshing recruit who definitely augments Mr. Rock's dependable dancing and burlesque.

Adele Rowland—Said to be "the American Guilbert." She sings songs that are better than the average in better than the average way, and her dresses are pretty, though it takes her too long to change them. "The American Guilbert" pronounces it "purty."

MRS. DERBY WINS RACE TO ALTAR

Mrs. Jeanette Purdy Derby, favorite niece of the late Edward Tilden, has beaten Miss Helen Love to Crown Point and Cupid has rung up elopement No. 7 in the family of Joseph Purdy of 6444 Ingleside avenue.

Miss Love, who was named by Mrs. Derby in her suit for divorce from Frank W. Derby, caused quite a sensation by filing an intervening petition and publicly announcing she would not wed her fiancé until her name had been cleared of the charges in the bill. Mrs. Derby finally withdrew Miss Love's name and Miss Love withdrew her petition. The Derbys were divorced on March 28 and Miss Love announced she would now wed Theodore Donewald of St. Louis, a United States secret service agent.

April 26 the Date.

"Now that my name is clear I think we'll be married on April 26, the Wednesday after Easter," she said. "It'll probably be a Crown Point affair."

Jeanette Derby, 23.

Hattenbach is listed in the city directory as a clerk in the tea store of Mrs. Flora Hattenbach at 876 East Sixty-third street. He resides at 6237 Ingleside avenue, two blocks from the Purdy residence. When Derby filed suit for divorce he intimated many romances were shared between his wife and other men, but mentioned no names.

Slips Down to City Hall.

When the couple were married plans had been made by the young woman's parents for a church weedding, an invitation affair, but these were upset when they slipped down to the city hall, obtained a license, and were quietly married in Christ church, Sixty-fifth street and Woodlawn avenue, on March 17, 1913.

"We just had to elope," Mrs. Derby phoned her mother. "You and papa eloped, Brother John eloped, and three of papa's sistters eloped, and I wanted to be No. 6."

Those named in the indictments are: Alfred Clover, who also uses the name Alexander de Cloger, president of the company, and John W. Singleton, secretary.

About six weeks ago a receiver was asked for this company, and assertions have been made that the stockholders had lost about $200,000.

STEEPLEJACK FALLS TO DEATH

Edmond A. von Kaenel, most famed of Chicago's three sky sailors, has made his last voyage on the land stepped masts of commerce. The steeplejack and his frail trapeze which he called "the crow's nest" fell yesterday with the topmost section of a 100 foot stack he was repairing on the Theodore A. Kochs & Co. building at 160 West Erie street. He was killed instantly.

The first few feet of the tragic plunge was held for an instant before the eyes of Mrs. von Kaenel, and then the forward movement of the street car on which she was a passenger cut the rest as a censor snips a cinema horror. Mrs. von Kaenel told the story last night while her niece and nephew, orphaned by a similar tragedy, played with the two dogs and made them beg for a share in their slices of bread and butter.

Wife Waves at Him.

"I was coming home from a visit to my physician," said Mrs. von Kaenel, "and when we reached Erie street I looked for Ed. I knew where he was working. There was a crowd in the street watching him. I waved at him but of course he couldn't see me. Then just as the car started I thought I saw the stack sway. Immediately I concluded that the start of the car had caused the illusion. But then something said 'Go back!' I asked the conductor to stop. He said I would have to wait until the next corner. I said, 'But I am sick.' Then he stopped the car and I ran all the way back to the building. When I reached there they were just picking him up and the crowd was so big I couldn't even reach him for a few minutes."

Death Wish Fulfilled.

Von Kaenal met death as he expected, and, in a way, as he wished. He saw his brother-in-law, Clyde Walters, fall from a stack on the Oak Forest infirmary two years ago, and at that time he said to his wife: "If I ever get mine I hope I get it the way Clyde did."

LAKE FOREST ALDERMAN LANDS IN THE 'HOOSEGOW.'

His Militant Methods with Police After Friends Are Arrested Cause Thomas Douglas Trip to Cell.

Ald. Thomas Douglas of Lake Forest, justice of the peace, veterinary surgeon, precinct committeeman, former police magistrate, and man about town, landed in the calaboose yesterday, and later was arraigned before Judge Henry Vickerman on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The trouble started when Douglas complained to Chief of Police Walter McGuire because friends of his were arrested in a raid on a dice game. The men were fined. Douglas called McGuire on the phone Monday night, protested, and suggested the fines should be remitted. An argument ensued and McGuire hung up.

Douglas called several more times and finally McGuire requested the phone operator not to ring his number again. Douglas then is said to have threatened to invade the telephone exchange, but finding it locked went to the police station to vent his wrath on Sergeant Autrey Warren. During the altercation Warren's star was thrown on the floor. Walker Sales, a Negro policeman, went to the sergeant's assistance and both finally dragged Douglas to a cell.

WANTS LIFE IN BRIDEWELL.

Woman Says "Please Send Me to Jail; I Can't Find a Job and I'm Hungry."

"I'm hungry," she said. "Been out of work. Can't find a job. Please send me to the bridewell for the rest of my life."

She'll repeat her request to the judge this morning.

TELEGRAPHERS ASK RAISE.

RUN ON A BANK FROM GOSSIPERS IN BARBER SHOP

Logan Square Tale Grows Until School Children Clamor at Its Doors.

CASH IS READY TO PAY ALL.

It started in a barber shop at Milwaukee and Kedzie avenues Monday afternoon. Two strangers were gossiping. One wondered out loud if the Logan Square State bank across the street was all right. He thought some one had heard some one say that it was a little shaky.

Capt. A. M. Elliott of 3458 Wrightwood avenue was in the chair getting shaved. He heard the gossip. He went home and repeated it to his daughter, Mrs. Flora Elliott Johnson, a teacher in the Brentano school in the bank neighborhood.

Mrs. Johnson, when she went to the school yesterday, repeated the gossip to Mrs. Hewitt, another teacher. Mrs. Hewitt went to lunch with Dorothy Dixon, a teacher in the Darwin school, and she repeated the gossip Mrs. Johnson had told her.

Passes the Story On.

When Miss Dixon got back to her classroom she passed the story on to Misses Joyce, Applegate, and Hall, also teachers. They in turn got to talking about the bank before the children, many of whom have small savings in the bank.

And then when school let out the kids dashed over to the bank and demanded their $2 and $3 savings. The first thing the bank officials knew the youngsters had attracted a crowd outside. Then some one whispered to some one out on the sidewalk: "Run on the bank."

Then the seriousness of the situation became apparent to the officials. They telephoned the Standard Trust and Savings bank and the Central Trust company. Both replied the bank could have all the money needed. In a little while the ready cash came in automobiles.

Money Stacked in Cages.

The doors were thrown open and kept open until 10 o'clock last night, and all who came felt their eyes bulging out as they beheld the greenbacks of various denominations and gold eagles piled up behind the cages like cordwood.

The result was that 136 depositors withdrew their savings, totaling $14,700. While these 136 were taking their money out other folk came in and deposited $5,864.14.

Many of the school children who were among the bank's 9,000 depositors changed their mind when they saw the big piles of money.

Organized Two Years Ago.

The bank, organized two years ago this month, has the backing of the large furniture manufacturers and dealers of Chicago. James B. Heaney of the A. H. Andrews company, is president. The other officers are Fred W. Popp, vice president; Albert H. Sporleder, cashier, and John J. Sonsteby, former member of the school board, counsel.

The directors were at the bank last night, and the worst worry they seemed to have was that they had missed their dinners. The officers said it was a senseless run. President Heaney asserted they had the ready cash to pay every depositor.

The officials considered the "run" at an end last night.

DEATH NEARER MISS KISTER.

Student Nurse Victim of Midnight Adventure Has Day or Two to Live.

Carolyn Kister, the Ohio girl who took poison after an alleged midnight adventure with W. A. Callahan, was still alive last night at the Washington Park hospital, but, acording to physicians, probably has but a day or two to live. The poison is slowly destroying her kidneys and she is suffering great pain. Social workers and others inclined to aid the girl have been denied admission to her room. Only her father and Miss Frances Gallagher, an intimate friend, are allowed at her bedside.

FIGHT FOR ARTIST CHRISTY.

New York, April 18.—Mrs. Mary E. Coon, mother of Mrs. Nancy Palmer, Howard Chandler Christy's model, to whom he is reported engaged, today denied the report. Mrs. Christy said the report of the engagement was more than she could stand and that she would fight Christy to a "finish."

Student Dead; His Mates Call It "Starvation"

VITALITY UNDERMINED

"Our neighbors have this in common with heaven—they only help those who are perfectly able to help themselves. The script of self-help has been the script of selfishness, and has been the maxim of Cain."

These words were found yesterday written in the notebook of George Russell Brooke, a student at the Northwestern university who died last Saturday in Evanston. The quotation is from Francis Thompson, who starved to death in a London garret, and it echoes the feeling in the heart of the 19 year old boy as he skimped and saved to get an education.

Signs of Starvation.

The death certificate gives acute lobar pneumonia as the cause of death, but his fellow students, who recall his fainting spells in classes, point to the five months during which he lived on one meal a day, and call it starvation.

In February Brooke got a job as a waiter in Willard hall, and since then the university authorities say he had plenty to eat, but the five months had so weakened his vitality he had not strength to fight the illness when it came.

Unconscious in Room.

"The boy already had been sick several days before he was brought in here," said Dr. Dwight Clark, who attended him at Evanston hospital. "He was found unconscious in his room Friday morning and died in less than twenty-four hours. He seemed badly run down and had no force to fight the disease with. It is probable that he was suffering from malnutrition which these last two months could not possibly cure."

"Wanted: Health Inspection," was the title of an editorial which appeared in the university paper on Saturday referring to the fact that at least 10 per cent of the students were unfit to attend classes, due to change of diet, late hours, and worry. Yesterday above the black box announcing the death of Brooke an editorial entitled "Too Late," referred again to the same subject and added: "Common sense and the future welfare demand reform. We have seen the result of laxness, so why not change now?"

Brooke was the son of Mr. and Mrs. America Brooke of Lanark, Ill., and has one brother and five sisters. His father, a farmer, was sending him money from time to time, but he wanted to earn his own way and wouldn't tell them how badly off he really was.

"RUDOLPH" OF CONGRESS HOTEL DIES AT HOSPITAL.

"Field Marshal" of Pompeiian Room for Ten Years, He Was Friend of Millionaire.

Though he probably knew as many millionaires as any man in Chicago, and for many years has tempted their jaded apptites, few knew his last name. To nearly all of them he was "Rudolph"—Rudolph the genial, the efficient, the cheerful, the courteous, the painstaking.

Rudolph Strehle was his full name. He was born April 17, 1867, at Vienna. He died yesterday at the Presbyterian hospital after an illness of several weeks.

For more than ten years he was "field marshal" of the Pompeiian room at the Congress hotel. For years previous he was maitre d'hotel of the Wellington when it catered to the biggest and best. After he went to the Congress hotel his fame increased. Men, women, and even children came to know him, and he never forgot them.

N. M. Kaufman, proprietor of the Congress hotel, called at the hospital to extend birthday greetings on Monday.

"The only thing I have to give you is my photograph, and I give it to you with my love, my good friend," Rudolph said.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at St. Paul's cathedral, interment at St. Joseph's cemetery. The pallbearers will be fellow employés of the Congress hotel, like Rudolph members of St. Mary's church.

POTTER'S FIELD FOR ARTIST?

Cavallaro's Body Destined for Pauper Grave Unless Charity Is Forthcoming.

Francis D. Cavallaro, the artist who committed suicide Monday by inhaling gas in his studio at 431 North Clark street, may have to be buried by charity or be given a place in the potter's field.

"The man had only a dime," said Deputy Coroner Michael Hartney at the inquest, where a verdict of suicide was returned.

Cavallaro was 55 years old and had painted large canvases for churches and theaters. Last summer his brother died in Naples, Italy, and failed to leave Cavallaro a penny. Critics of art will be engaged to judge Cavallaro's works as to their value.

WOMAN LOSES PICTURE SUIT

Mrs. Pinckard Must Return $36,000 Paintings as Ricketts Bankruptcy Assets.

A decision of the United States District court awarding Mrs. Mary L. Pinckard possession of thirty-six paintings valued at $36,000 in her suit against Robb Roy Ricketts was reversed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday when it held that the pictures must be added to the assets of the Moulton & Ricketts company, which failed two years ago with liabilities of $888,000.

SUES FATHER-IN-LAW FOR $25,000

Wife Charges Her Husband's Parent Is Responsible for Marital Disaster.

Mrs. Lillian Render

"My father-in-law told me he never had wanted his son to get married," said Mrs. Lillian Render yesterday after she had filed a $25,000 alienation of affections suit through Attorney Edgar J. Cook against her father-in-law, Walter F. Render, 2019 Estes avenue, a real estate dealer.

Mrs. Render's bill sets forth that she was married to Arthur R. Render on July 22, 1912, in Pittsburgh, and that soon his father, who had formed a dislike for his daughter-in-law, persuaded them to come to Chicago that he might have his son more nearly under complete control.

"My father-in-law is wealthy," said young Mrs. Render. "I was engaged to Arthur for six years. The long engagement was due to his father's opposition. But at length we were married, and then he set to work to separate us."

SUES BARONESS FOR $15,000

The Baroness May de Pallandt, heroine of a sensational career, which started in Chicago and has hit high spots in virtually every capital of Europe, edged into the limelight again yesterday in Menominee, Mich., where Miss Franc Gray Shaver, a Highland Park lawyer, sued her for a little matter of $15,000.

The money, says Miss Shaver, has been advanced the baroness for household expenses during the last two years, and has not been returned, as per agreement. The Highland Park woman has attached all the baroness' property in Menominee, where the latter has been known for some time as the local woman of mystery.

Upholds Own Record.

The Baroness de Pallandt came into prominence in America in 1901, when she helped a daughter-in-law of the late Senator Mark Hanna evade writs and detectives employed by her husband and take her three children to Europe. Later she turned up in Chicago as a representative of the Astor mining interests in Mexico and soon afterward was said to have caused the suicide of John D. Kilpatrick, a wealthy New York club member, who had wooed her all over Europe without success.

In 1914 Dr. Ernest V. Appleby, a former professor of chemistry at the University of Minnesota, had her arrested in London, charging a $20,000 fraud, as a climax of his own romance with her, and at that time THE TRIBUNE dug into her record.

Some Record.

Then it was found for the first time that the baroness is really May Dugas, a Menominee girl who came to Chicago in 1888, became an inmate of disorderly resorts, fled to Hongkong after being arrested for administering "knockout drops" to a victim in San Francisco, and afterward turned up in Europe with a small fortune which proved an open sesame in the highest social circles and led to her marriage to the Baron de Pallandt, then master of hounds for the Princess of Wales, who is now the Queen Mother Alexandra.

ILLINOIS VILLAGE ELECTS SLATE OF WOMEN OFFICERS.

Clerk, Four Trustees, and Treasurer Chosen by Voters of Fair Sex at London Mills.

London Mills, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—At a village election here today a complete women's ticket was elected, consisting of village clerk, three village trustees for two years, one village trustee for one year, and a village treasurer. There were 121 men and 88 women voting.

The women elected and in order as given above were: Mrs. F. L. Miller, Miss Dale Foshay, Mrs. Gertrude Fullmer, Miss Frances Swigert, Mrs. G. W. Henry, and Miss Carrie Harden.

Second Death from Gas.

Mrs. Tillie Turner of 2321 Warren avenue, a widow, who was overcome by gas in her home Sunday when Joseph Novak, a roomer, died of asphyxiation, succumbed yesterday in the county hospital.

FOES ROUT MAYORESS

But Angelina Canfield Often Wonders Where Her Election Enemies Will Land When "Roll Is Called Up Yonder."

Mayoress Angelina Canfield of Warren, Jo Daviess county, Ill., has been in office a year. The militant mayoress of 74 has had her troubles during that time with a set of rebellious trustees. They showed no disposition to aid her when she stopped public dancing, spitting on sidewalks, buried tramps and worked out reforms for the village. Therefore she decreed they should lose their scalp at the election yesterday. She put out a ticket. But it was not to win. Here is the election result as wired by her to "The Tribune":

Warren, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—The old members reëlected. A false statement was made against the gentlemen, or rather the ticket they were on. We have no saloons and that is not the issue, but unprincipled people circulated a story to that effect and as such is often done it is not surprising that we have some people of that sort here, but the sad part is these same people profess to be saints, but O, where will such land when the roll is called up yonder. Well, we will draw a veil over the scene and trust to a loving and just judge to temper the punishment or lead them to a true repentance, for as we know holy writ says no liar nor one that loveth or maketh a lie can enter into the abode of the blest, where we all hope to go. How sad that one should lose their own souls for a foolish love to air their jealous hate to spite one who has always done them good. ANGELINA R. CANFIELD,
Mayor, Warren, Ill.

ENTIRE ILLINOIS VILLAGE IS MENACED BY FLAMES.

Belvidere, Ill., April 18.—[Special.]—Fire swept the business district of Caledonia, a village of about 500 inhabitants, near here tonight, destroying a big grain elevator and most of the principal stores and eating its way afterward into the residence district, threatening for a time to wipe out the entire town. Calls for help were sent to Belvidere, Rockford, and Beloit, Wis., and at a late hour it was reported the spread of the flames had been checked.

RUN DOWN BY WOMAN'S AUTO

Cæsar Seppi, 62 years old, was knocked down and injured internally at Grand and Chicago avenues by an automobile driven by Mrs. Lillian Riordan of 4452 Calumet avenue. The police took him to his home at 4849 West Superior street.

CITY HALL SEEKS TO GET COON ON PERJURY CHARGE

Attorney McCoid Says He Will Ask Hoyne to Prosecute Sanitarium Head.

"DAMN FOOL" STORY AIM.

That the city administration forces intend to "get" Dr. J. W. Coon, superintendent of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, became apparent yesterday, when Arthur R. McCoid, administration attorney before the board of directors, announced he would seek to have State's Attorney Hoyne prosecute the superintendent for perjury.

One of the recommendations of the city civil service commission, it is believed, will be that Dr. Coon and possibly Frank E. Wing, business director, be removed from office.

Mr. McCoid said Dr. Coon had perjured himself by testifying the health commissioner said the mayor "made a damn fool of himself" in the Sachs matter.

Dr. Robertson and F. Bowden De Forest, both administration appointees on the board of directors of the sanitarium, denied the mayor's name had been mentioned in the conversation. Neither one, however, was apparently able to remember very clearly what had been said when they were cross examined by Charles H. Hamill, attorney for Dr. Coon and Mr. Wing.

De Forest On Stand.

Mr. De Forest, president of the board of directors of the sanitarium, was the first witness called. He said he had been present at the conversation in question, which took place a few weeks ago at the sanitarium.

"Did Dr. Robertson state that the mayor was a damn fool, or words to that effect?" asked Mr. McCoid.

"What's that got to do with this? I'm vice president of one of the biggest concerns in Chicago. I've made a success. I'm one of those fellows who is clean from the cradle up."

The commission ruled he would have to answer the question in spite of the objection of Mr. McCoid. Mr. De Forest said he is vice president of Hinckley & Schmitt, dealers in mineral waters.

"I did before I was appointed, but I found it was against the rules and so I have donated the water since then while I am waiting for an opinion from the corporation counsel on the matter."

Dr. Robertson On Stand.

Dr. Robertson followed Mr. De Forest on the stand and devoted most of the afternoon testifying concerning his record at the sanitarium, incidentally taking a rap now and then at the management under Dr. Theodore B. Sachs.

"It was all news to me," said the health commissioner.

Alleged Flaws in Sachs Rule.

That a report was not made to the city council in June, 1915, as required by law.

That specifications for an X-ray machine were so drawn that only one company could bid.

That complaint was made nonunion cooks were employed.

That the dispensaries were in many cases maintained in an insanitary manner.

Dr. Robertson read into the record various parts of the minutes of the board of directors to show that he had consistently supported efficiency, economy, and civil service in the conduct of the sanitarium.

CHICAGO GIRL EXECUTED BY AUSTRIAN GOVERNMENT?

Fears Entertained for Fate of Miss Alice Mazaryk, a Former Settlement Worker.

New York, April 18.—Recent advices from Vienna received in this city through "underground" channels have caused the many friends of Miss Alice Mazaryk, who was well known in Chicago and New York, where she did settlement work, to fear that she may have met a fate similar to that of Edith Cavelle at the hands of the Austrian government.

It was learned today that the officials have prohibited friends or relatives of Miss Mazaryk from communicating with her in the Vienna prison where she was held on a charge of treason.

The arrest of Miss Mazaryk was a move on the part of the Austrians to silence her father, Prof. T. G. Mazaryk, who is the leader of the Czech National alliance, and who is espousing the cause of the allies in England, according to Emanuel Voska, head of the movement in this country.

Miss Mazaryk was a resident at the University of Chicago settlement eleven years ago. Charles R. Crane of Chicago and New York has become interested in the efforts toward her rescue.

BY KITTY KELLY.

"MOLLY MAKE-BELIEVE" was a blithe little book that found for itself a niche in many a heart, and now as a photoplay it is still as blithe and delightful a thing. Which is a curious state of affairs, for it is one of those books of letters revamped into objective action with the chirographic accomplishments secondary.

Probably a lot of people will be disappointed, because naturally it isn't like the book they have loved, but they must season their preconceived notions with an appreciation of the different mediums of photography and print, else they will miss a very charming interpretation of a very pretty idea by Marguerite Clark.

Miss Clark is the feminine of Peter Pan—she is the little girl who never grew up. She has the lovely faculty of giving to us the spirit of eternal youth, and whether she likes photoplaying or not, we like her doing it. A lot more of us may know her and enjoy her a lot of oftener than we did, say, in "Prunella."

This photoplay adaptation of the story of the girl who conducted a serial letter company providing real letters from imaginary persons is excellently arranged, with the highlights flung on picturesqueness and humanness.

Besides Miss Clark, a delectable and prismlike young person, there is a nice small boy and the jolliest kind of a bull pup who takes an active interest in affairs—his interest being indulged, not squelched, by a wise director. Such things as these go to the making of the films we love.

It is a kaleidoscopic Miss Clark we have; a little girl make believing through everything from an oriental princess to a gray squirrel, and she is very winsome about it. And very pretty, too. Moments there are when she is one of the prettiest things I have ever seen. Then other times she is not too pretty to be human.

The literary romance, developing nicely, works to a happy conclusion for everybody, even the chilly ex-fiancée, so there is no bad taste left anywhere in a body's mouth.

Along with this happy film fantasy goes the newest sensation in filmland, Mr. C. Chaplin comedying through the immortal passages of the Carmen tragedy—with adaptions. On second seeing, I find it funnier than at first. It is, of course, a different type of fun than the chronic Chaplin fans are looking for, for it is shorn of considerable slap stick—though it is not lacking in that quality, be it affirmed—and it abounds in fine points of humor—rarefied slapstick in a way—that make it more to be appreciated than at first.

Fully to enjoy it one needs familiarity with its serious predecessor, the Lasky "Carmen" with Farrar, for that text book was followed very closely in this really serious burlesque contribution to good fun. The pleasure in this version is intensified by the orchestra's accompaniment with the regular "Carmen" music, interrupted occasionally by comic bugle calls and other effects.

There is no happier way to spend a couple of hours this week than at the Studebaker, enjoying the joint efforts of Miss Clark and Mr. C. Chaplin.

With the Reel Fellows.

Tonight's the night for film players at the Reel Fellows club, 17 North Wabash avenue. It's no place for the ladies, for says the announcement: "Special invitation is extended to every actor, producer, manager, and other studio men from the Essanay, Selig, American, and Emerald studios to be present with the Reel Fellows and enjoy a royal good time."

* *

Verboten.

Two more films have been barred from Chicago by the local censor board: "One of the Pack," a Lubin, and "Their Taking Ways," a Kalem. The Lubin is a "damaged goods" production and the Kalem is rejected because "this film portrays a series of thefts."

* *

Cinema Changes.

The pleasant news is that Joe Kaufman, who so recently directed "Dollars and the Woman" for Lubin, is now with Famous Players, directing Pauline Frederick.

◆

Frank McCoy, stage director of Miss Ethel Barrymore and now with her petticoat play at Powers', is to join forces with the celluloid and assist in the Essanay production of "The Jester," under the direction of Joseph Byron Totten.

Wants Old Music.

"I AM making a request for castoff sheet music and also player piano rolls. I will be only too glad to pay postage on the same. I wish the Corner every success.

"MRS. C. Y."

Junior Cornerites will please take the responsibility of this application off my mind. I hold the address of our friend, thanking her for her kind words and wishes in behalf of the H. H. C.

Has a Bad Foot.

"I am a boy 12 years of age and am going into low eighth in school this year. I have been troubled with a bad foot for two years and the doctor couldn't find out what caused the pain. He said I would have to keep the foot in a plaster cast for fourteen weeks. I should like to do something while I am at home, for my father only makes small wages and we have a big family. He can hardly afford to buy the bare comforts of life. It would please me greatly if I could receive something that would pass away the time, as I have nothing of the sort. We will be glad to call or pay postage.

"RUDOLPH S."

Note that he longs, most of all, to relieve his father of the impending burden of the cost of surgical appliances. Direct correspondence with him will make his wants more clearly known. As to the "anything to pass away the time" of his confinement to the house, our juniors will see that he gets reading and maybe a game or two to relieve monotony and cheat him into forgetfulness of the bad foot—no inconsiderable affliction to an active boy.

Important Detail Overlooked.

"I write to say that I have music, books, magazines, etc., for those who need them and who will call or send for them.

M. H. D."

Your liberal proposal would be perfect if you had added your full name instead of tantalizing us with initials and telephone number. This last we feel would avail little to readers who do not live in your town and vicinity. We hold jealously to the directions in hand and pray that you will make them serviceable to the scores of readers who are eager to profit by your goodness. May we trespass so far upon your kind intentions concerning the Corner as to beg for your name? It will not be published, but be passed over confidently to those who ask for the treasures in your keeping.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By JANE EDDINGTON

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

The number of digestive troubles, the sign and symbol of worse troubles following in their train, are often wholly due to the eating of poor bread, or to the eating of too much of even the best bread.

Hot Cross Buns.

THE first chapter in one of the books on bread has the title "Chemical Knowledge." The elements, calcium, carbon, chlorine, copper, hydrogen, iron, magnesium, nitrogen, oxygen, phosphorus, potassium, sodium, sulphur, are enumerated by this practical baker, and the chemistry of bread making is emphasized everywhere in his book.

I know of one description of bread making that is about 1,800 pages long. Compared with that what can I tell about bread in my space? It would take quite a volume to answer S. B. K., who writes: "Will you kindly tell me how the crispy, crusty 'water rolls' are made and baked? They are like the Vienna and other foreign rolls; you know when they are properly made."

To begin with, it requires a big oven of brick and gauged to the most exact degree. I doubt if such rolls could be baked in a small gas oven, but perhaps there is hope that they may be baked by electricity. Every process in the making of these rolls is as accurate as thermometer and skill in handling materials can make them.

A Recipe.

Four cups of flour of room temperature, one cup scalded milk, two ounces butter, a half teaspoon of salt, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half a 1 cent yeast cake. Scald milk and cool to tepidity (78 to 84 degrees), add butter, and let melt, then the yeast, which has been soaked in half a cup of tepid water, and one teaspoon of sugar till it comes up. Mix with three cups of the flour and set to rise. If thoroughly beaten and mixed it should double in bulk in two hours in a sufficiently warm room. Knead in the other cup of flour, form into buns, brush with egg, and bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. Have temperature at least 400 or higher. An egg, currants, etc., may be added after the dough has risen.

Real Love Stories

Hattie and Johnnie.

I WAS a 16 year old Chicago girl who had never seen a hill or a farm, except from the windows of a train.

We had a Connecticut aunt and other friends, among whom were a bachelor and his sister, who lived on a fine old farm near my aunt's place and who were popularly known as "Johnnie and Hattie," although both were over 40 years old.

"Johnnie" had called on my mother when she was a girl and came "east" visiting. He was serving a term in the state legislature the summer mother took me "east" to visit my aunt for the first time.

I met "Hattie" the first Sunday, immediately after church, and she brought up "Johnnie" to be introduced. He was a wonderfully fine looking man, with just enough iron gray hair to make him appear distinguished. He also appeared to be a "proper" person, and I was therefore much shocked and dismayed to hear myself saying, from long force of habit and absent-mindedness, "How do you do, Johnnie?"

There was open consternation not only from mother and aunt but from the dignified "Hattie."

"Johnnie" readjusted his glasses, and then took his first real look at me. I could not read in his face what he thought, but I got out of the church and went up the street as soon as I could, much disgusted and chagrined with myself. I do not know why I turned to look back, but when I did I saw "Johnnie" watching me from the meeting house steps. Well, he came to see us every other night of our visit, and it seemed as if he bewitched me to do and say the most unexpected things. At any rate I surprised everybody, him most of all.

One kind neighbor, noticing his frequent calls, warned mother by saying: "He always did go to see all the girls, but he never marries, you see."

But he waited five years, until I was through my college course, and then married me, and we have two darling children, another "Hattie and Johnnie."

Darn It! He Always Blushes.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a boy of 19 and go out with a girl who is 17. Every time I stop to talk to her I blush. We love each other, only that I blush so much. So could you give me any information how I could get rid of that blush habit?

Perhaps the beauty editor could suggest some remedy for your blushes; usually these are most becoming. For the life of me I can't see why you should worry about them or in what way they are throwing a cloud over your love's young dream. She doesn't mind, of that I am quite sure, so why should you care? It's almost always due to self-consciousness. You knew that, didn't you?

◆

Parents Don't Like Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have gone with a girl two years my junior for nearly one and one-half years. For the last few months I have not been a regular caller, but I was as she called a steady.

"I wrote her a letter, and her mother called up saying she did not want her daughter to have anything more to do with me. I wrote three times, but she never answered. She gave me a few things as presents, but as I am not going with her, I don't want them.

"Do you think I ought to return them? I also have some of her photos. Should I return these? And, in a case of this kind, what would you advise me to do, as I am stuck on the girl.

B. H. G. M."

Perhaps, after a silence of several weeks on your part, the whole family may undergo a change of heart. Try it, meanwhile keeping notes and photos. You didn't tell me how old you were, but you realize, don't you, that when a man acts the devoted for a year and a half, both girl and family have good reason for thinking his intentions serious? If you have never expressed yourself thusly, mother is to be excused somewhat for her present attitude. So don't you think that if you came right out and told the family that you hoped to marry the girl if every one approved, you might get back your former stand-in?

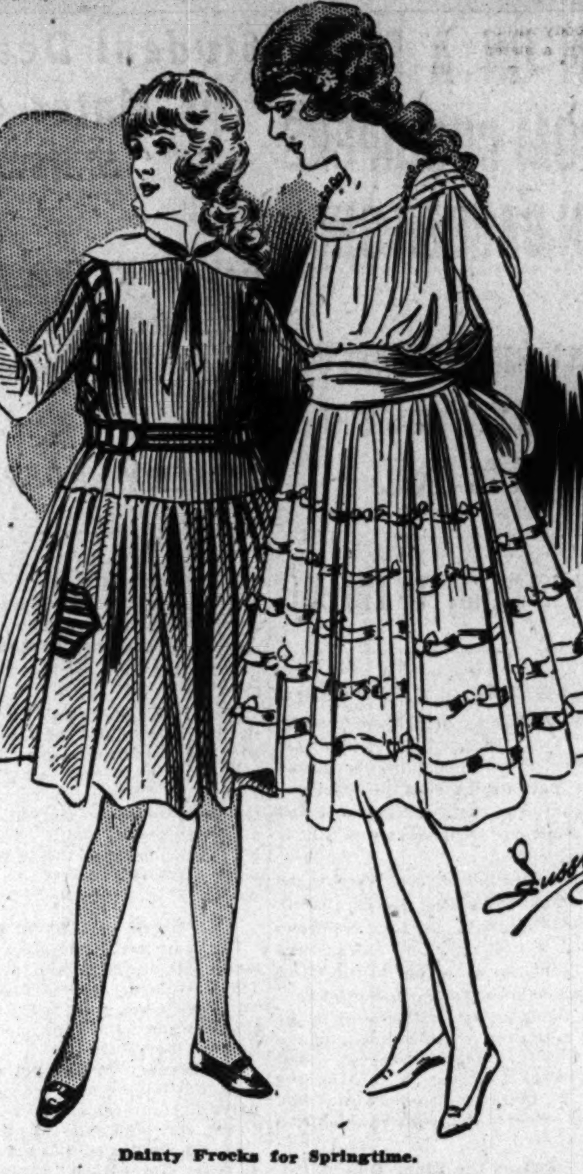
FASHION'S BLUE BOOK



Dainty Frocks for Springtime.

BY JEAN SEIVWRIGHT.

[Copyright: 1916: By The Chicago Tribune and the New York Globe.]

WITH the coming of spring there is joy in the heart of the little girl, for she knows she must have some new frocks. Many delightful styles are featured, and while the simple linen or gingham frock, with its dainty collar and cuffs of contrasting material is admirable for school wear, fascinating models are designed for dress up wear.

Two attractive frocks are depicted in the accompanying illustration. At the left a pale blue and white striped silk dress is pictured. This smart model is fashioned with a quaint corsetlike bodice that extends for a few inches below the waist line, where the full skirt is attached. Blue braid is chosen for the prettily designed belt. Braid is also used to outline the armhole in novel style and trim the cuffs and pockets. The collar, in capelike style is made of fine white lawn, around which a dark blue ribbon tie is carelessly knotted.

The other little frock is destined to be worn at parties, for it is evolved from billowy white tulle on a foundation of pale rose. The bodice is cut with a charming shoulder line, and the fullness is cleverly fulled into narow bands so that an oddly cut sleeve is suggested. Garlands of myosotis are used for the dainty shoulder straps, while a girdle of pale rose mousseline adds a lovely touch of color to this attractive creation. The simply fashioned skirt is elaborated with bands of narrow silver ribbon, and bows of blue ribbon are placed at definite intervals around the skirt.

Beauty Hints

by Antoinette Donnelly

KITTY W. P.: IF YOUR HAIR IS fine and tangles easily, take time enough to separate the snarls with your fingers. Grasp the comb between the thumbs and first two fingers and carefully draw it out the length of the hair. Two or three gentle efforts of this kind will generally disentangle most of the snarls without breaking the hair.

◆

IRENE: BRUSHING THE TONGUE is essential to mouth hygiene. Tooth powder can be safely used on the tongue, which accumulates tartar and bacteria, especially near the root. A weak solution of vinegar is serviceable. The best way to do is to seize the tongue by the tip with your fingers enveloped with gauze or a clean towel and pull it well forward.

◆

CATHERINE: THIS IS A SIMPLE, easily made formula for rouge: Take a raw beet and grate it, then press through a fine cloth. Add a little alcohol to the juice. Strawberry juice also makes a good rouge. Witch hazel is excellent for closing enlarged pores. Heat it and apply with a piece of absorbent cotton. The swelling of your eyelids and the flesh below your eyebrows may be the result of your kidneys not working properly. It might be well for you to consult your family physician about it. In the meantime drink plenty of water. This has been known to correct many kidney disorders.

◆

KATHLYN: THE DRYNESS AND chapping of the skin on your body may be caused by bathing too often. The effects of an excess of bathing are shown by an undue dryness and irritation of the skin, causing chapping or inflammation. This mostly occurs from excessive warm bathing, but it may be produced by the use of cold water. This condition usually comes in winter. The reason is that the diminution in the production of perspiration and sebum in winter results in poor lubrication and dryness of the skin. In addition the lowered humidity of the air in winter causes increased vaporation and intestifies the dryness of the skin. And, of course, cold air is itself irritating to the skin. The obvious way of avoiding the condition is not to bathe overmuch. The ill effects can be minimized and sometimes prevented by using tepid water and bland soaps and greasing the skin with olive oil, or after a vigorous rub with a Turkish towel dust the skin with a good powder.

◆

FINICKY: YOU CAN MAKE A nifty little cap to cover your hair when doing your cooking. In this way you can avoid the odors getting in your hair. You can overcome the oily condition by instructions for the care of the nails using a good tonic. I shall be glad to send you my formula for hair tonic and if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

◆

WEARY: NO WONDER YOU ARE weary. If you have worked steadily in an office for twenty months you surely are entitled to and need a vacation. If your strength will hold out until warm weather I suggest your going to some country place or some place by the water where you can have a complete rest and change. Don't go to a hotel where you will feel obliged to dress for meals, but go somewhere where you can live in the same clothes all day long. Go to bed early at night, be out in the fresh air and sunshine all day, and rest as much as possible.

◆

CARL: IT IS BEST TO WAIT TWO hours after eating before bathing, as the bath draws the blood from the stomach towards the surface of the body and so interferes with digestion.

Bright Sayings of Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It had been an unusually hard day for little Theo, who was visiting her great-grandmother, at whose house lived her grandmother and her Uncle Wallie also. This uncle, who indulged her with a fine disregard of consequences, was a great favorite of little Theo. On this particular day she had been naughty, calling forth many reproofs from her two grandmothers. At last, weary and discouraged, she sat down indignantly in her little rocker, and, eying her grandmothers with evident disgust, remarked with a loud sigh, "I wish God had not made me so many grandmas, but had made me more Uncle Wallies." The other evening when visiting my aunt's home she told my little cousin it was time to go to bed. He begged to be allowed to lie on the davenport until we all went upstairs, so his mother consented. But whenever he thought we were not looking he was wide awake, until finally his mother said, "Sammy, if you do not go to sleep immediately you will have to go upstairs to bed."

"Well, mother," he replied, "I'm trying so hard, but my eyes are all the time coming unbuttoned." S. M.

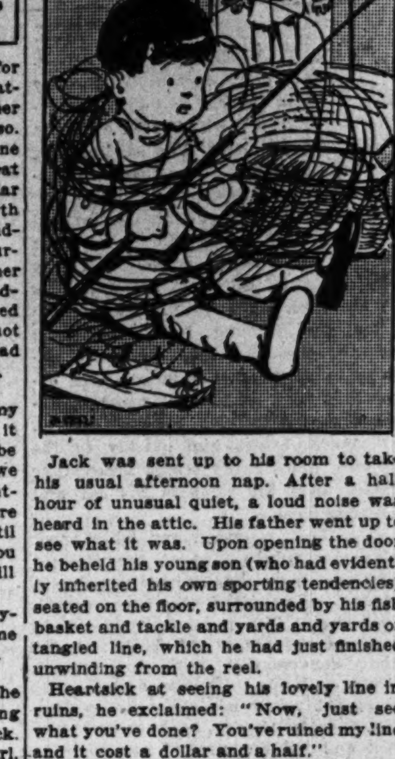
Just as his mother looked out of the window one afternoon she saw her young son go tumbling out of the hammock. She ran out into the yard, saying, "Carl, did you hurt yourself?" Carl, who was trying to cry, replied, "Nothing but my feelings." C. E. G.



Jack was sent up to his room to take his usual afternoon nap. After a half hour of unusual quiet, a loud noise was heard in the attic. His father went up to see what it was. Upon opening the door he beheld his young son (who had evidently inherited his own sporting tendencies) seated on the floor, surrounded by his fish basket and tackle and yards and yards of tangled line, which he had just finished unwinding from the reel.

Heartsick at seeing his lovely line in ruins, he exclaimed: "Now, just see what you've done? You've ruined my line and it cost a dollar and a half."

The AMATEUR GARDENER

by Eben E. Rexford

The Care of the Border.

EARLY in spring the border should be given attention. A liberal application of good fertilizer should be made, and it should be worked into the soil about the plants so thoroughly that it reaches their roots. If simply scattered on the surface it does little good.

The soil about the plants should be stirred well as soon as the moisture from melting snows and early spring rains had drained out of it. This is a good time to make the annual application of whatever fertilizer is used, as early flowering shrubs and perennials begin to grow shortly after the frost is out of the ground.

Care must be taken to see that grass does not obtain a roothold in the border. If allowed to remain there after it once gets a start, it will soon sap the soil of the plant food which ought to be held in reserve for the other plants, and in a short time it will crowd out all but the strongest plants.

Old perennials which have begun to show signs of deterioration should be taken up and divided, and their worn out roots should be thrown away. Reset only those which are strong and vigorous.

Shrubs should be pruned early in spring if pruning is needed. As a general thing a good deal more pruning is done than is advisable. If a shrub is symmetrical let it alone, for it has a much keener sense of beauty than you have and will seldom grow into an awkward shape if not crowded. It is well to go over it and cut away all weak wood and superfluous branches, but don't attempt to interfere with its shaping of itself unless you are sure that it has gone crazy and isn't responsible, as sometimes happens with a shrub.

But this exception to the general rule that a shrub is more capable of training itself than you are is the exception that proves the truth of that rule. A shrub has the instinct of beauty in its makeup, and will live up to that instinct if given half a chance to do so.

If there are spaces in the border where plants have died out, you can fill them with quick growing annuals and early flowering plants like the pansy. It is to be hoped that all borders have been well supplied with early flowering bulbs like the tulip, the hyacinth, and the narcissus.

These flowers bridge over the interval between the going of the snow and the coming of such early spring flowers as dicentra and others of that class.

Mrs. R. T.—A great many complaints similar to yours come in and it is not an easy matter to say what the trouble is. As a general thing, however, if a rose fails to open its buds the failure is due to lack of vitality in the plant.

It is too late to remedy matters for the present season, but you can benefit the plant by manuring it liberally, thus putting it in better condition for next season's work. I am unable to say why your peony does not bloom. Fertilize it well this year but do not disturb its roots.

JUST a few turns of the cake of Ivory Soap between the hands, and you have a thick, copious, lively, bubbling lather. Ivory Soap lathers quickly. This is another reason why it is so pleasant to use.

Society and Entertainments

U. of M. Clubs Give Annual Concert.

College days came back and college spirits were revived last night at the South Shore Country club when the glee, mandolin, and banjo clubs of the University of Michigan gave their annual Chicago concert in the auditorium of the clubhouse. There were several large dinner parties and numberless small ones preceding the concert of old Michigan students and their friends.

Among those entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Paine, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Walden, Mrs. Kate E. P. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Conover, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heyworth, and Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds.

After the concert there was a gay college dance in the ballroom.

Miss Mildred Swigart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Swigart of 190 East Chestnut street, who is to marry Arthur Andrews Burrows on Easter Tuesday, is the guest of honor at a luncheon which Mrs. John F. L. Curtis of Highland Park gives at the Woman's Athletic club for Miss Swigart's bridesmaids. The luncheon will be followed by a matinée party. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell of 842 Lincoln parkway will give a theater party for the bridal party, followed by a supper-dance at the Blackstone.

Chauncey B. McCormick of 718 Rush street announces subscriptions amounting to $14,000 from the series of addresses by Herbert Ward for the benefit of the American clearing house in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hollandsworth of 4361 Sheridan road will return from Virginia Hot Springs the end of the week.

Mrs. Chauncey Keep of 1200 Lake Shore drive will give a dinner for thirty guests May 3 in the English room of the Blackstone hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Szold of Gary, Ind. announce the engagement of their daughter Olga to Herbert Anthony Beifeld, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Beifeld of 5172 Michigan avenue.

Miss Martha Winslow, who has been visiting the Benjamin La F. Winslow Jrs., sailed yesterday for Copenhagen, where her father, Edward Winslow, is stationed as United States consul general. Miss Winslow left Chicago a week ago.

Mrs. Roy McWilliams of 199 Lake Shore drive read a paper on "War Nerves" at Mrs. James Keeley's yesterday afternoon after a luncheon which Mrs. Keeley gave in her honor. The fluctuation of public opinion in America through the conflicting reports which have come from the great war was the gist of the talk.

Benefit to Aid Jewish Children.

The Jewish national air will be sung at the annual spring meeting of the Chicago Jewish committee for Palestinian welfare, to be held at the Fullerton hall, Art institute, April 27. This song is said to be unknown to the majority of Americans and even to many Jews, these being unaware that there is a Jewish national air.

The Jewish national tune will be sung in Hebrew at the meeting, which is for the purpose of raising funds to send a trained nurse to Palestine to help prevent the spread of blindness among Jewish children there, by Mrs. Frederic Kauffmann and Mrs. Maurice M. Strauss. It is called "Hatikva," and Mrs. Jacob J. Abt has written round it a play which will be performed by a number of Jewish people. Miss Doris Zeisler will also give some oriental dances.

Well, Remember It's Leap Year.

Chi Omega sorority of Northwestern university has this year made a name for itself in matchmaking. The fourth announcement of a Chi Omega girl this year was made public yesterday when Miss Helen Gemmil, daughter of H. F. Gemmil of 829 Greenleaf street, Wilmette, disclosed her betrothal to Roy Strickler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Strickler of Milwaukee, to her sorority sisters.

Others of the Chi Omega sorority who have announced their engagements this year are: Miss Lucille Drake, Miss Lydia Kidderman, and Miss Louise Wallace.

Taylor-Davis Wedding.

New York, April 18.—[Special.]—Miss Katharine Ralston Taylor, daughter of Joseph S. Taylor, district superintendent of schools of the Bronx, was married to David Roland Davis of Chicago this evening in Fordham Manor Reformed church, University avenue and Kingsbridge.

Will Teach School Girls Selling Art.

Selling fancy goods to the retail trade on State street is to supplant the work incidental to the translation of Mr. Cicero and Mr. Cæsar in the lives of a number of Chicago high school girls. One of the large State street stores has promised to coöperate with the schools in training high school girls in salesmanship.

District Superintendent W. M. Roberts, who has been in charge of arranging for the new work, said he could not give out the name of the store until the plan has proved a success. Superintendent John D. Shoop sent a letter to all principals yesterday describing the department store's offer and requesting a report as to whether or not girls in their schools wish to enter the practical course.

A letter outlining the proposed work is being prepared by Mr. Shoop and Mr. Roberts and will be sent to all department stores and large stores throughout the city. It is expected that in a short time several hundred high school girls who want to take up salesmanship as a vocation will be doing regular work in selling at the same time that they are completing their high school work.

The State street store will pay not less than $1 a day to the high school girls taken from the senior year, who will work on Saturdays and other special days. If the work is satisfactory the girls will be given permanent employment at graduation, beginning at a minimum salary of $9 a week.

This same store is asking for a number of graduates of high schools in Chicago to go to work at $9 a week. According to Mr. Shoop's letter, these girls will receive "special attention and training in the store and will be given an opportunity to advance as fast as their attainments and skill will warrant."

By the use of high school girls, the department store people hope to overcome the scarcity of saleswomen willing to go into the departments where a knowledge of fractions is necessary and where goods are sold by the foot or yard.

Mrs. Stephen M. Paine

Chicagoizing a Virginia Estate.

BY CINDERELLA.

Bushfield Farm is the modest name that Mark Willing has called his Virginia property, which is in reality an estate if ever there was one. But Mr. Willing is a man averse to high sounding sentences and grandiose phraseology, so he enjoys the idea of having a farm, or at least in calling it one, and Bushfield farm it is, covering 11,000 acres.

Many of these acres are along the dreamy Potomac, seven miles wide and especially lovely at this point, and concealed by its soft, flowing waters are also acres of oyster beds, owned by this latter day farmer of Bushfield.

The first owner of the farm as it is today and of the glorious old manor that faces the Potomac was Bushfield Washington, a nephew of George Washington, who called his dwelling place after himself, Bushfield manor.

The house as it now stands is to be restored to its original beautiful lines, the roof having been altered, and then the flanking wings are to be added by a New York architect. One wing will be for the kitchens and the service, the south wing for the family, and the second story of the old part will be improved and kept for guests.

Downstairs four great, square rooms of noble proportions and with all the original woodwork, mantel pieces, fireplaces, etc., will be the living rooms of the great house.

Mrs. Willing is already taking an interest in the decoration of the place, and the family has been down this spring to look it all over once again with a view to ordering supplementary furniture, hangings, and modern comforts.

Many of the grand old pieces of furniture still stand where they have stood since the days of the Washingtons, and of course there's a bed Uncle George slept in; also his favorite chair.

The ladies of the family can ride all day about the estate and never leave it. They can also row out for miles in the river.

J. P. Morgan Jr. is the Willings' nearest neighbor and Washington is eighty miles away.

Mrs. Willing, who is a picturesque woman with European grace and elegance of manner, will make a most perfect and appropriate châtelaine for this picturesque and historic old place.

Just at present Mr. and Mrs. Willing are in New York, where Mrs. Robert McFaden and Miss Katherine McFaden have gone on to spend Easter with them.

Permanent Relief for Chronic Constipation

Constipation is a condition affecting all classes of all people and can be permanently relieved only by acquiring habits of regularity.

The most natural time for the eliminative process is in the morning, when both the muscular and nervous systems are relaxed by sleep and rest. When relief does not come readily, it is an excellent plan to take a mild laxative at bedtime. Cathartics and purgatives, that by the violence of their quick action shock and disturb the system, should not be employed.

An effective laxative remedy that is very dependable, and which does not gripe or otherwise disturb the organs involved, is found in a combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, that can be bought at the drug store for fifty cents a bottle.

Mrs C. C. Allen, 215 Foam St., New Monterey, Calif., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that she "found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin just what was needed for constipation and distress of the stomach after eating. It should be in every household."

MRS. C. C. ALLEN

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and keep it in the house to use when occasion arises. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for whom this advertisement is published.

Harmony at Mothers' Meeting.

Harmony prevailed at the first meeting of the Mothers' Relief association following its stormy election two weeks ago. The session was held at the Blackstone hotel, and the members of the defeated faction were not present. Only two resignations were received. They were accepted. Thirty-two new members were enrolled by Mrs. Edward Maher, the new president. It was asserted by some of the women defeated at the election that 100 members would resign and a new organization would be formed.

ALBERT H. VEEDER BUYS RESIDENCE OF MRS. THORNE

Pays $80,000 for Property at Maple and Pine Streets, Winnetka.

Two sales of extra high grade residence property, one comprising one of the most attractive homes on the north shore, and a big south side apartment house deal featured yesterday's real estate market news.

The north shore deal was the sale by Mrs. Belle W. Thorne, wife of Charles H. Thorne, former president of Montgomery Ward & Co., to Albert H. Veeder of the Thorne home in Winnetka for a reported consideration of $80,000. The property is located at the northeast corner of Maple and Pine streets, the grounds having a frontage of 150 feet on Maple street and 328 feet on Pine street.

The dwelling, which was erected only about five years ago, is a handsome three story red brick structure, containing about sixteen rooms, with 5 or 6 bathrooms, sleeping porches, etc. The lot is most attractively landscaped and in all its appointments it is one of the most complete and attractive homes about Chicago. The sale was negotiated by J. Grafton Parker & Co.

Kenwood Sale.

The other residence sale covered one of the most attractive homes in Kenwood. It comprises the Walden W. Shaw home at 4930 Woodlawn avenue, which was sold by Mr. Shaw to Sidney Loewenstein, the consideration being withheld. It is understood, however, the property has been valued at about $50,000. The lot has an east frontage of 66 feet with a depth of 297 feet, while the dwelling is a three story colonial structure of brick and stone, and contains about twelve rooms.

It was designed by Marshall & Fox, and was erected about six years go. There is a garage in the rear, and the lot is handsomely landscaped. The new owner will take possession May 1. The Shaws probably will go to the South Shore Country club until they locate permanently. The sale was negotiated by David S. Simon.

Ellis Avenue Deal.

The south side apartment house deal was the sale by George O. Gordon to Mrs. Carolyn M. Williams of the Madia Villa apartments at the southeast corner of Thirty-ninth street and Ellis avenue. The lot has a frontage of 115 feet on Thirty-ninth street through to Oakwood boulevard, and it is improved with a building containing seventy apartments of two and three rooms.

The property sold for an indicated consideration of $180,000, subject to an incumbrance of $75,500. The building is said to have a gross annual rent of $28,420, and in part payment the purchaser conveyed a farm of 1,255 acres, clear, located near Shelby, Lake county, Ind. Both parties to the transaction were represented by Andrew G. Halas of H. O. Stone & Co.

Clark Street Sale.

Raymond A. Von Danden has sold to Charles W. Kusel and Daniel W. Fishell the leasehold interest and improvements at the northeast corner of North Clark street and Devon avenue. The property fronts 190 feet on Clark street by 120 feet on Devon avenue, the east sixty-five feet having a depth of 260 feet through to Schreiber avenue. The Clark street frontage is improved with a three story and basement brick building containing eight stores on the ground floor, with flats and a lodge hall in the upper floors.

It is stated the new owners contemplate improving the vacant part of the lot in the near future with a building containing stores, a large theater, bowling alley, and billiard hall, to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The purchasers conveyed in part payment the property at 1908-14 Montrose avenue, about seventy-five feet west of Lincoln street, lot 75¾x100 feet, south front, improved with a three story building, with stores on the ground floor and flats above, at an indicated consideration of $50,000, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000. William H. Mulholland & Co. represented both parties.

West Side Transaction.

The property at 127 South Halsted street, lot 25x111 feet, improved with a three story brick business building, has been sold by Jacob M. Fine to Thomas D. McGuire for a reported consideration of $25,000. The purchase gives Mr. McGuire a holding with a frontage of 75 feet by 111 feet, with alleys on three sides. It is stated the owner plans in the near future to raze the present buildings on the property and improve with a five story concrete building to correspond with the improvements on the adjoining property. George S. Lurie & Co. represented the purchaser and Schiff Bros. & Schiff the seller.

The property at 2250-56 Berteau avenue, at the northeast corner of North Oakley avenue, lot 124x60 feet, south front, with flat improvements, has been sold by J. W. Ries to Fred A. Neville for an indicated consideration of $33,500, subject to an incumbrance of $23,500.

Flat Changes Hands.

Record was made of the sale by M. S. Plotke to Herman Pasche of the property in Beacon street 157 feet north of Montrose boulevard, lot 58x150 feet, west front, with flat improvements for an indicated consideration of $28,800, subject to an incumbrance of $20,800.

John S. Holmes has sold to George H. Blesinger, treasurer of the Short Writer Company of America, the residence property in Sheridan road 200 feet north of Ardmore avenue, lot 50x150 feet, east front, improved with an eleven room dwelling, for an indicated consideration of $24,000. Baird & Warner negotiated the sale.

Record was made of the sale by the estate of J. B. Sherman to the Busch Magnetic company of the property at the southeast corner of Michigan avenue and Thirty-seventh street, 60x150 feet, with residence improvements, for an indicated consideration of $22,500.

Discusses Tax Amendment.

Stoughton Cooley, associate editor of The Public, answered the question, "Is the pending tax amendment a good one?" at the weekly luncheon of the Cook county real estate board in the Hotel Sherman yesterday by declaring that there are three reasons why the amendment should not pass.

"First, it is too limited in its scope to permit of tax changes that will give substantial relief from the present muddle," he said; "second, its scope is broad enough to permit the legislature to do grave mischief; and, third, no amendment to the constitution giving the legislature such power should be adopted until the initiative and referendum have been put in the hands of the voters to hold the legislature in check."

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday opened steady, but closed 5@10c lower on receipts of 14,000 head. Other branches of the live stock market, with the exception of calves, showed little change in values. Calves sold 50c lower. The general trade was quiet, with fresh receipts of only moderate proportions.

Hogs met with a fair demand from eastern shippers and speculators and the bulk of the offerings cleared on a steady basis. Packers did not act as though in urgent need of supplies, however, and sellers who refused to sell to them at reduced prices had to carry their offerings over unsold. About 6,000 hogs were left at the finish. Best offerings made $10.00 and the bulk sold at $9.80@9.95.

Sheep and Lambs Steady.

Calves met with a fair inquiry, but receipts of 7,000 head exceeded pressing requirements and the market had a weak finish. Prime vealers topped at $10.25, while the bulk of the good killers sold at $9.75@10.00. Steers were in limited supply and moderate demand at steady prices. Cows and heifers were unchanged.

Little change was made in prices of sheep and lambs. Receipts were posted at 12,500 head. Shorn wethers sold at $8.00 and shorn lambs at $9.90. Colorado woolskins sold up to $11.65, and springers reached $16.00@18.00.

Does the Business Man Prefer to be Flattered —or Reasoned With?

Some motor truck salesmen have always had a great deal to say about the impression made on the business man when the staff engineer, the sales manager and the higher officials of a truck concern visit him to plot out his transportation system and sell him the equipment.

There are doubtless, in every community, men who are impressed by the treating of a homely, practical subject in the terms of abstract technicality coupled with the language of large affairs.

But we seldom see this type of buyer in daily life, and we prefer to believe that when it comes to a hand to hand fight with extravagance and waste—this element of personal salesmanship drops to the ground.

The far-seeing engineer is likely to find himself ahead of the times—until the facts get around—then he finds that the thing he has achieved is just anticipating enlightened public opinion.

Big business had been using Riker Trucks when the war broke out.

The record of the Riker Truck in nineteen months of war not only proved that big business was right in selecting the Riker Truck—but that A. L. Riker, in the design of his truck and selection of materials, had provided for every unforeseen strain hard service could impose on a motor truck.

The engine has a longer stroke than any other three-ton truck built. It has a small bore. This means higher efficiency—less consumption of fuel and oil.

The frame is special pressed steel design. The material chrome nickel steel, heat treated, with a tensile strength approximately 140,000 pounds. It costs four times as much as the structural steel ordinarily, but it is four times as strong and it reduces repair bills.

Any business man who feels himself rather at a loss in considering motor trucks and their engineering features should come to our Branch House in this city, and see how common-sense and high regard for quality have solved the truck problems of the American business world.

NEWS OF THE FINANCIAL WORLD

Prospects in the oil fields of Pennsylvania are not regarded as good as three months ago, in spite of the high price of crude oil, because of the steady advance of drilling materials. The increased cost is about $236 a well. Operators say there is no relief in sight, since deliveries to be made six months hence are at the increased prices. The small operators will be affected most.

An official of the United Cigar Stores company says the outlook in the realty field is such that the company proposes a resumption of opening new stores. Not much in this line was done in the last two years, but the time is now regarded opportune for going ahead.

The New York banks are reported to be reducing industrials as collateral with each revision of their loans. It is asserted this is by way of a general understanding to put war stocks on a basis where they will not menace the market when definite signs of peace come.

Reorganization managers of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad announce that the assents received total 98 per cent of the refunding 4 per cent bonds and about 94 per cent of the general lien 5 per cent bonds. This does not apply to bonds held in France.

Crude rubber continues to decline in price. High grade plantation is quoted at 80 cents a pound and Para rubber at 72 cents. The present market is about 10 cents a pound below the high price of March and about 25 cents below the high price of last fall.

Earnings of the Grant Motor corporation for March are reported to have been $46,181 net, and the total number of cars shipped 641. Total shipments during January and February were 1,418 cars, compared with 805 cars in the same period in 1915.

Directors of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company declared they expected 50 per cent stock dividend in the form of preferred shares bearing $6 per annum.

The Pennsylvania Gasoline company announces it has closed contracts for 200,000 cubic feet daily production of gas, which is expected to average two and one-half gallons of gasoline for each 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

The department of agriculture at Washington estimates the beet sugar crop of 1915 at 874,220 short tons, or 152,180 tons more than 1914. The farm value of the beets was $36,919,000, compared with $3,438,000 in 1914.

It was announced that 31 cents a pound was paid for two cars of electrolytic copper for spot delivery. May delivery was quoted at 30½c, and a sale of lake copper for June and July shipment was made at 30½c.

Wall street has begun discussing the possibility of an increase in the dividend on Steel common. The directors meet next week to take action. It does not appear there is much behind the gossip.

Interests in the Driggs-Seabury Ordnance company decline to discuss rumors of a pending offer for purchase of control of the company. They say no offer has been made they would consider.

March production of the Nipissing mines shows an estimated value of $169,999 with a profit of $105,541, compared with the production of $171,956 in February and a profit of $104,604.

National City bank interests are reported to have unloaded heavily speculative lines. It is not suggested that the crowd is ready again to go into the market.

It is rumored that negotiations are on for a merger of four or five of the smaller tire companies. Their gross business is estimated at around $6,000,000 a year. The Goodrich people officially denied they had any interest in the proposed merger.

Heavy foreign liquidation is held to explain why Steel common has not advanced in proportion to the large increase in its sales and net earnings.

BEARISH VIEWS ON ARMS SALES LAID TO MORGAN

Doubt has arisen in Wall street as to the importance which should be attached to assertions that war orders may be expected to fall off. The suggestion that England and France are now able to furnish their own munitions came from the buying department of Morgan & Co. After thinking it over, the Wall Street Journal decided to make some inquiries and issued yesterday the following as the result:

"A canvass of the men engaged in the munitions industry here reveals the fact that a majority of them put little faith in statements that there will be no more buying of war material here. There are some who say they do not believe there will be much buying of complete shells, but that England is almost certain to purchase fuses and other supplies, parts which she is unable to make in sufficient quantities within her own borders, and they admit that there are important inquiries now pending for such supplies.

"Others, however, and they are in the majority, assert that bids have been asked on finished shells in large quantities, one inquiry in the market being as large as any previously placed, according to the head of one munition company.

War Stocks Are Irregular.

"An official of a concern which is now working on a big shell order suggests that Mr. Stettinius, being a purchasing agent, is naturally disinclined to give sellers the impression that he has a heavy volume of business to give out."

Meantime the war order stocks were irregular. Crucible Steel sold off from an opening at 86¾ to a close at 85⅝. The trading was rather heavy. Baldwin Locomotive dropped from 97¼ to 93½, the low and close. Studebaker fell from 139, Tuesday's close, to 137⅞, the final quotation. Distillers Securities, which opened at 46 and sold down to 45⅝, closed at 47, the high price of the day.

Apart from the war stocks there was also irregularity, with Reading closing 1⅝ points above the opening. United States Steel common advanced at the close to 83, the closing price of the previous day. The tone to the market in the final hour was generally better.

Amster Views on Rock Island.

"Referring to rumors of a new move to bring out another plan for a voluntary reorganization of the Rock Island Railway company that will give the stockholders common stock at par, I wish to say that the plan was proposed some months ago by a leading banking firm; in fact, it was printed and presented to some of the bondholders' committees. My chief objection then, as it is now, is that while it may be perfectly convenient for some stockholders, it would prove a great hardship to the majority to be forced to buy 33 per cent new common stock at $100 a share which is selling in the market below $20.

"My aim always has been to give the stockholders for their new money a security that would have a market value somewhere near par. That is what our plan offers. Not even the rich stockholders have ground for complaint. They will get a security for their new cash that is reasonably certain to command at once a market near the subscription price, and which promises a high income rate and holds out opportunities for large profits if the property is prosperous.

Sees Benefit to Company.

"Neither does the plan adversely affect the company, because the income of the new securities will be contingent and not a fixed charge. Moreover, everything points clearly that with this new money the company can be put in a position to earn several times the required annual income of the new issue, which requirement is only one-half of the amount the company was called on to pay during the last ten years in annual dividends to the holding company in order to sustain its securities.

"I wish to say, however, that if the stockholders do not come forward quickly and vigorously to the support of the plan our commitee has proposed, I will not act the dog in the manger, and will gladly cooperate and support any other fair reorganization plan rather than retard or impede the future progress and prosperity that is now facing our property with any kind of a fair financial rehabilitation."

Industrial Stock Changes.

At current prices industrial stocks show considerable decline compared with the high prices made in 1915 and 1916, and not a great deal of net gain over quotations made on the opening of the stock exchange in 1915. The following table shows the low prices recorded last Friday and the high quotations scored in the last half of last year:

WOOL.

LONDON, April 18.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 7,900 bales. The demand was strong and prices were firm. Merinos advanced from 5 to 10 per cent. Russian buyers paid 3s 2½d for the best grades of scoureds.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Cotton goods markets were quiet but firm today. Men's wear was in demand with buyers hesitating to pay the high prices asked for duplicate deliveries. Carpets and rugs advanced again.

LOW MARKS ARE REACHED.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Selling of special stocks, more particularly the shares comprehending the war group, was resumed in moderate but steady fashion today, some of those issues recording lowest quotations for the current decline.

The doubtful status of the European and Mexican problems contributed measurably to this trend, but other events of the past few days accelerated the movement.

Chief among these were the other intimations conveyed by representatives of large purchasing interests to the effect that England and France now seem able to meet their requirements for arms and ammunition without outside assistance. Other causes which made the immediate future of the war shares somewhat uncertain also have been advanced.

Copper Shares Firm.

That this condition does not apply with much, if any, force to copper and kindred products was evidenced by the comparative firmness of the shares of such companies. Most of the metals stocks held their ground with a quotation of 31 cents per pound for "spot" copper. United States Steel ruled a mere fraction over yesterday's minimum, and Bethlehem Steel, which was far less active, scored a net loss of 18½. Steel and some of the other leaders were at lowest levels just at the close, when announcement was made of another 10 per cent advance in wages by the Steel corporation, because of the "continuance of prosperous conditions."

The heavy tone of the industrials and equipments in the last hour was largely offset by a fresh outburst of activity in Mercantile Marine, both the common and preferred advancing to best quotations of the day, with a similar advance in United Fruit.

Coal Road Shares Active.

There was a fair inquiry for shares of the coal roads, led by Reading, whose maximum advance was 1¾, with 2 points for Norfolk and Western and 1 for Erie first preferred. Franc, marks, and rubles hardened further, with no appreciable change in sterling. Heavy dealings in Anglo-French 5s at their recent minimum made for irregularity in other bonds.

United States coupon 4s declined ¼ and Panama registered 3s ½ per cent on call.

WHEN a man makes a will creating a trust, he obviously intends that the trust shall be carried out in strict accordance with his expressed desire.

WHEN a man dies he leaves no one but his trustee whose duty it is to see that his wishes are carried out whether the beneficiaries like it or not.

WHEN an individual is made trustee he is subjected to arguments and importunities to modify the expressed will of the creator of the trust, to benefit in some way some one or more of the beneficiaries. The importunities are difficult for the individual trustee to resist, particularly if he is connected with the family.

WHEN a man creates a trust which he wishes carried out according to his plans, he will be best served by a corporate trustee. It dares not do otherwise, lest other men creating trusts refuse to trust even a corporate trustee.

A TRUST fund may be created by deed instead of will and the creator may reserve the income to himself for life and may also reserve the right to control the investment of the fund and to revoke the trust if occasion should require.

THIS company will as carefully serve the small estate as the large one.

WHEAT FUTURES SHOW STRENGTH; JULY IN UPTURN

New Crop Months Gain on the May—Corn Leads Rally in Coarse Grains.

The feature of the wheat trade yesterday was the stronger tone in the July. At the close July wheat was only about ⅛c discount under the May, and the demand appeared to be largely for the deferred months, while there was scattered selling of the May. Resting prices were ⅛@⅝c up. The commission house buying was good on the breaks, and the northwest markets were conspicuously strong, which helped the market here. Some of the local speculators were credited with selling at Chicago and buying at Minneapolis.

The crop news was about the same as it has been recently, bad reports coming in from the soft wheat states, while Kansas and Nebraska conditions are promising. Seeding is progressing rapidly in some sections northwest, and with favorable weather the crop will be put in without difficulty in cur northwest.

Canadian Outlook Dubious.

In Canada conditions are less favorable than in this country. The shortage in the labor supply in the dominion is a big factor, coupled with the late season and small amount of fall plowing done. Cables were easy, unchanged to 3d off, and the news from the other side was a little bearish as to supplies, which are liberal at present, with reserves being built up rapidly. Weather in Argentina is unfavorable. Argentine freight rates have advanced to 150 shillings per ton, about the highest rate so far, and equivalent to about 97c per bushel for wheat.

This would indicate that North American wheat is still relatively cheap, compared to the Argentine grain. The submarine operations are causing uneasiness abroad also, and the question of ocean tonnage is still of prime importance.

Weather Mainly Seasonable.

Weather conditions were seasonable, as a rule. Foreign crop reports were mixed, favorable advices being received in regard to the crop outlook in southern Russia. World's stocks decreased 1,137,000 bu for the week, compared to a loss of 7,019,000 bu a year ago. Receipts were 169 cars. Primary receipts for the day were 980,000 bu, compared to 420,000 bu a year ago. In the northwest receipts were 263 cars against 148 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 715 cars, compared to 251 cars a year ago.

Kansas City reported increased offerings from the country and Duluth reported free selling of May wheat by the country with indications for an increased run as soon as room is made for the grain. Rates from Superior points to Buffalo for wheat were raised to 6c and from Chicago 3 1-3c to Buffalo.

Cash Demand for Corn Fair.

Corn showed considerable strength. The May led the advance, closing ⅜c higher, while the July was ¼@⅜c higher and the September ⅛c up. Cash prices were steady to a little higher and there was a fair demand, sales being 100,000 bu. Omaha reported a little corn sold and Kansas City reported Baltimore in the market and also said there were increased offerings from the country. Armour and Wagner were good buyers. Early there was quite a little selling by cash houses, which checked the advance.

Receipts were 66 cars here, with primary receipts 779,000 bu, compared to 518,000 bu a year ago. Clearances were small at 34,000 bu. Liverpool was ½@1d up. Local shippers said export bids indicated there would be a good business, providing cars were available.

Oats Firm at Close.

Oats were firm, closing unchanged to ⅜@½c higher, July shorts being free buyers. Selling was quite heavy early, with a better demand developing after corn firmed up. Receipts were moderate at 102 cars, but primary receipts were 698,000 bu, against 580,000 bu a year ago. Cash sales were 200,000 bu here, including 50,000 bu for export, and the seaboard reported 600,000 bu for export. Shipments out of Chicago continue liberal.

The hog products market was moderately active. The commission house demand was fair and offerings were not heavy. Receipts of hogs were 15,000, with 28,000 for today estimated. Western receipts were 102,500, compared to 75,000 a year ago. The export demand for lard and meats is said to be fair, with the domestic trade quiet. Hog prices were steady to a shade lower. Liverpool prices were unchanged, except for a decline of 1s in shoulders. Receipts of products were 37 cars, and shipments were 137 cars.

Rye and Barley Steady.

Rye was steady, with No. 2 selling at 97½c and No. 4 90c. Receipts were 4 cars.

Barley ruled steady. Malting was quoted 68@77c, with sales at 68@74½c; feed was quotable 60@66c and sold 62@66c, and screenings were quoted 45@61c with sales at 49½@60c. Receipts 14 cars.

Timothy seed held without change. Cash lots, $4.50@8.00 nominal. Clover seed was unchanged, with cash lots $8.50@16.75 nominal.

Duluth flax closed 1@1¼c higher. Cash on track, $2.10@2.11; May, $2.10, and July $2.11⅜. Receipts 4 cars. Minneapolis was 1c higher, with cash on track $2.11@2.15. Receipts were 14 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅝@⅞c higher. May $1.88, and July $1.89½. Receipts 18 cars.

COFFEE AND SUGAR.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Talk of easier ocean freight rates and reports that Brazil was offering coffee at slightly lower prices in the cost and freight market seemed chiefly responsible for scattering liquidation in futures here today. The market opened dull at unchanged prices, but broke quite sharply during the middle of the morning, with July selling off to 8.08c, September to 8.20c, and December to 8.34c, or 8 to 14 points net lower. Slight rallies followed on covering, with the market closing at a net decline of 4 to 8 points. Sales, 35,500 bags, including switches. April, 8.00c; May, 8.03c; June, 8.08c; July, 8.14c; August, 8.19c; Septembmer, 8.24c; October, 8.27c; November, 8.31c; December, 8.35c; January, 8.41c; February, 8.47c; March, 8.54c. Spot: Dull. Rio 7s, 9⅝c; Santos 4s, 10½c. It was reported that one shipper was offering Santos 4s here at 10.25c cost and freight, and that Rio 7s were offered at 9.30c, based on London credits. The official cable reported no change in the Rio market and an advance of 100 reis at Santos. Santos cleared 45,000 bags for New York. Brazilian port receipts, 21,000 bags; Jundiahy, 9,000 bags. SUGAR—Raw: Nominally unchanged at 5c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 6.02c for centrifugal and 5.25c for molasses. Refined: Firm with one refiner advancing list prices to the basis of 7.30c for fine granulated, while others advanced to 7.25c. Futures: May, 5.08@5.13c; closing 5.12c; July, 5.13@5.19c; closing 5.18c; September, 5.14@5.21c; closing 5.20c; December, 4.70@4.73c; closing 4.73c.

CHICAGO, April 18.—SUGAR—Following prices were quoted by wholesale dealers per 100 lbs: Cut loaf, H. & E., $8.80; powdered, standard, $7.65; standard cane, granulated, $7.55; beet granulated, $7.45; extra C, $7.25; canary, $6.85.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE

No. 2 red winter wheat was a little firmer relative to the future yesterday. The best price was 6c over the May. In general there was a little better call for wheat but some of the low grades were hard to sell. The outside markets were not changed much relatively, but there was an easier tone at Minneapolis, with premiums a shade easier. Omaha reported the sale of 50,000 bu wheat to exporters, who were said to be bidding for more. Local exporters with a few exceptions said there was little inquiry, and the majority expressed the opinion that the Manitoba wheat would be taken almost exclusively for the present. Seaboard reports indicated some business in wheat. Sales for export reported the previous day were upward of 2,000,000 bu, including Manitobas, the Hudson Bay company taking 1,750,000 bu.

Traders are paying more attention to the crop reports in regard to the soft wheat states, but the buying is now going into the July mainly, the new crop month gaining sharply on the May. At one time there was only ⅛c difference yesterday, compared to 2c a day or so ago. John Barrett had a message from Catlin of St. Louis saying reports indicated Illinois would not raise more than 15,000,000 bu. Advices from Frankfort, Ind., in one of the best wheat sections of Indiana, said that about half of the wheat would be plowed up. Missouri reports were mixed. Taking the state as a whole the reports are unfavorable. Kansas, Oklahoma, and Nebraska continue to show a fine promise and this is offsetting to a large extent the admitted losses east of the Mississippi.

The scarcity of cars continues to operate as a check on cash grain trade. Dealers here reported a slow demand for corn east, but said export business could be worked if cars were obtainable. With the uncertainty connected with the shipping situation the risk was regarded as too great to warrant making sales. Omaha reported a good general demand, and both Kansas City and Omaha reported a little export business. Kansas City also reported a moderate increase in corn offerings from the country. Local sample prices were unchanged and shipping sales were 100,000 bu. Baltimore was reported bidding for corn in the southwest. Local sales of oats were 200,000 bu, including 50,000 bu for export, and the seaboard worked 600,000 bu.

Lake freights were higher yesterday, being quoted 3 1-3c to Buffalo from Chicago and 6c from Lake Superior ports. The lake rates are now higher than the all rail rates to Buffalo. The steamer Nye with 212,000 bu corn cleared yesterday from Chicago, the first cargo of the season shipped. It was reported the Straits of Mackinac were open, but there is no free passage as yet into Lake Superior.

Seeding operations northwest are being watched closely. In some sections there have been heavy rains recently, which has delayed seeding, especially in North Dakota. McCaull of Minneapolis wired S. P. Arnot that their reports indicated 80 per cent of the wheat in South Dakota would be sown this week and that the acreage was expected to be about 10 per cent under a year ago. In parts of Canada seeding has started, but the scarcity of labor is still a big factor, affording ample foundation for fears of a much smaller acreage than last year. With favorable weather northwest seeding operations will be rushed.

Directors of the board of trade at the usual weekly meeting last night voted that business be suspended on Good Friday, April 21. Nearly all exchanges in the country will be closed on that day. William Turner, Donald Edwards, Homer H. Palmer, George E. Cathcart, Thomas F. Barrett, and David O'Connor were elected to membership. It was announced that the first half of the dues for 1916 will be called for on Wednesday, April 26. The rules committee presented an amendment, as requested by a petition, to place traders on a brokerage basis. Action on this request was postponed by the directors until next week.

Tonnage for wheat at Indian ports is scarce, but arrivals of wheat at ports are increasing. The clearances for the week to the United Kingdom were estimated at 72,000 bu.

May wheat sold at a discount under July in every market in the country with the exception of Chicago.

Gulf Sulphur Company.

H. H. H., Milwaukee, Wis.—The Gulf Sulphur company has a tract of land near the property of the Union Sulphur company in Louisiana and is selling lots. The promoters say the company has made no test borings. It appears, however, that the Union Sulphur company has made test borings not only in its own property but in all the land thereabouts, and has demonstrated to its own satisfaction that the sulphur deposit is confined to an area of about 160 acres, all of which it owns. This statement, made by residents of the town of Sulphur, seems to leave small hope that the Gulf company can find sulphur on its property. Of course the Union is not communicative officially. It is a close corporation, saving outstanding only 2,000 shares of stock of $100 par. A recent bid of $9,000 a share failed to bring out any stock. Until the Gulf company really bores wells and finds sulphur there can be no good reason to expect any profits at all from its operations, much less such profits as the Union makes.

Brief Answers.

T. R., Yankton, S. D.—The Massachusetts Protective association of Worcester, Mass., began business in 1895 on an assessment basis and became an incorporated accident and health company in 1913. It has $100,000 capital and a good surplus. Losses have been high, but expenses are moderate and operations have been profitable. The company insures Massachusetts only.

F. R.—A real estate syndicate is a more or less speculative business venture. A stockholder participates in the profits or losses. Such stock is not ordinarily a conservative savings investment.

C. W. De M.—Stock of the United Railway Mail Equipment company is purely speculative at present. It has no quotable market value and therefore could have no value as collateral.

BOSTON STOCK TRANSACTIONS

BOSTON, Mass., April 18.—[Special.]—Business on the local board today consisted mostly in traders evening up contracts over tomorrow's local holiday. As a rule stocks were strong. Features were United Fruit up 1⅛. Tamarack 2⅝, Allouez 1¼, and United States Smelting ⅞. New York was a buyer of the latter in this market, and it rose sharply in the late dealings. New Haven was up a point in spite of the news of the Rhode Island wreck. Call money ruled at 3 per cent. Time loans, short dates, 3@3¼ per cent; time loans, six months, 3@3½ per cent; time loans, year 4@4½ per cent.

TO POORLY PAID BUT AMBITIOUS MEN.
This advertisement is written by the largest organization of its kind in America, spending over $150,000 a year in national advertising.

This leading place has been attained by developing ambitious men to win a real position in the commercial world. We have taken dissatisfied but willing men from behind the counter, from offices, and from other positions where their hands were tied and have shown them, trained them, worked with them, and developed them into successful producers.

We want more such men—men who can look a day's work in the eye and go to it, helped by our successful instruction and hearty co-operation. Many such men who started in a small way are now filling important positions in Chicago and other sales centers in the United States.

Here is a real opportunity for every ambitious man—not the man who merely thinks he's ambitious, but the man who is truly sincere and whose ambition is founded on a willingness to work hard for the real opportunity that he knows is ahead.

If you are such a man we need you. Write for interview to K M 168, Tribune, or telephone Harrison 706 for a confidential appointment.

We are making extensive improvements in this building, and it will pay you to look over the space we have to rent. The service of the building is efficient in every respect and it will be the policy of the management to give entire satisfaction to every tenant.

The large windows and the fact that the maximum depth of space is only 28 feet make the offices light and well ventilated, and they will be decorated in white enamel or in any manner desired.

The occupancy will be carefully restricted to the highest grade of tenants. We now have many of the best known firms in ladies' lines.

There are many reasons why you should live in an established suburban home neighborhood, where children show the benefit from it in various ways from the start.

Living in an apartment hardly can be compared to it, and then that rent you are paying is often sufficient to pay for a home.

If the care of a garden is a pleasure to one, as the children's healthy growth is an object worth considering, there is no reason left why to live in a suburban bungalow is not the real thing.
